ASK FREE HAND FOR PRESIDENT IN WORLD ARMY

Draft Bill to Let Him Use Troops

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—The state department today laid before senators a draft of legislation giving the President a free hand to order use of a limited number of American troops to help the world security council keep the peace.

The measure was presented by Undersecretary Acheson at a meeting of members of the senate foreign relations committee. Persons familiar with it said it would:

1. Designate the American delegate, with the rank of ambassador, as the President's agent on the security council.

Delegate Could Act

2. Permit the delegate to vote, at the direction of the President and without further check by congress, for the use of American troops allocated to the council.

3. Require the President to report to congress the actions taken by his delegate on the council after the vote had been taken there.

4. Provide that congress must approve either by a joint resolution or by treaty the agreement on the size and makeup of United States forces to be assigned to the council.

Stettinius to Be Named

President Truman has said he will appoint Edward R. Stettinius Jr., former secretary of state, as his delegate on the council. The legislation would give Stettinius a salary of $20,000 a year.

His confirmation by the senate would be required, as would that of an assistant-alternate, to be paid $12,000 a year.

The President would be permitted to appoint a different set of five American delegates to the allied nations general assembly for each of its yearly meetings. Their nominations also would have to be confirmed by the senate.

Full Authority Included

The draft submitted by Acheson in effect would turn over to the President complete authority to cast this country's vote for or against use of force by the security council to keep the peace.

If a qualified majority of the council decided to use force, the American troops and equipment would be employed with those of other nations. It takes approval by the United States, Great Britain, Russia, China, France, and two other council members to move in this direction.

There would be no limitation on where the American troops could be used, if the administration has its way.

Favors Rule by Congress

This point was said to have been raised by Sen. La Follette [Prog., Wis.] at the meeting of foreign relations committee men. La Follette has made it clear he wants congress, not the President, to approve any additions to the original force.

Acheson was said to have promised to attempt to redraft the original language to meet this objection.

Office Taken Over by Judge of High Court

BULLETIN

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 30 [Tuesday]—(AP)—Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Jose Linhares was officially inducted as president of Brazil early today at a ceremony at the war ministry, succeeding Getulio Vargas, who resigned.

Getulio Vargas.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 30 [Tuesday] (AP)—The resignation of Getulio Vargas as president of Brazil was announced early today with Supreme Court Judge Jose Linhares assuming the presidency.

Gen. Pedro Aurelio Goes Monteiro announced the resignation of Vargas. Goes Monteiro resigned late yesterday as minister of war but early today he announced he had reconsidered at the request of army officers and had resumed his post.

The minister of war said Vargas had resigned "in order to avoid greater unrest from political motives."

Vargas Cabinet Meets

Finance Minister Souza Costa said Vargas would formally turn over his office today to Linhares.

The entire cabinet, with the exception of Justice Minister Agamenon Magalhaes, held a night meeting at the presidential residence, Costa said. He added that the Vargas-appointed interventors of Brazil's states probably would resign and deliver the state governments to a regional court of presiding justices.

Selection of Linhares as successor to Vargas was regarded as a stopgap arrangement in line with the provisions of the 1937 constitution which state that in the event of the president's death or removal he shall be succeeded by the head of the supreme court.

Vargas, who came to power in Brazil in 1930, himself is not a candidate for the presidency.

The opposition candidate for president is Gen. Eduardo Gomes. The other candidate, who reportedly has the support of Vargas, is Gen. Eurico Gaspar Dutra.

Aided by Police Chief

An official announcement from the office of the chief of police which said Linhares had assumed the presidency said that Joao Alberto Lins de Barros, who yesterday was ousted as chief of the federal police by Benjamin Vargas, younger brother of Getulio Vargas, was assisting Linhares. The announcement said De Barros had reassumed his federal police post.

Shortly after it was first reported Vargas had resigned, army tanks were seen entering the grounds of

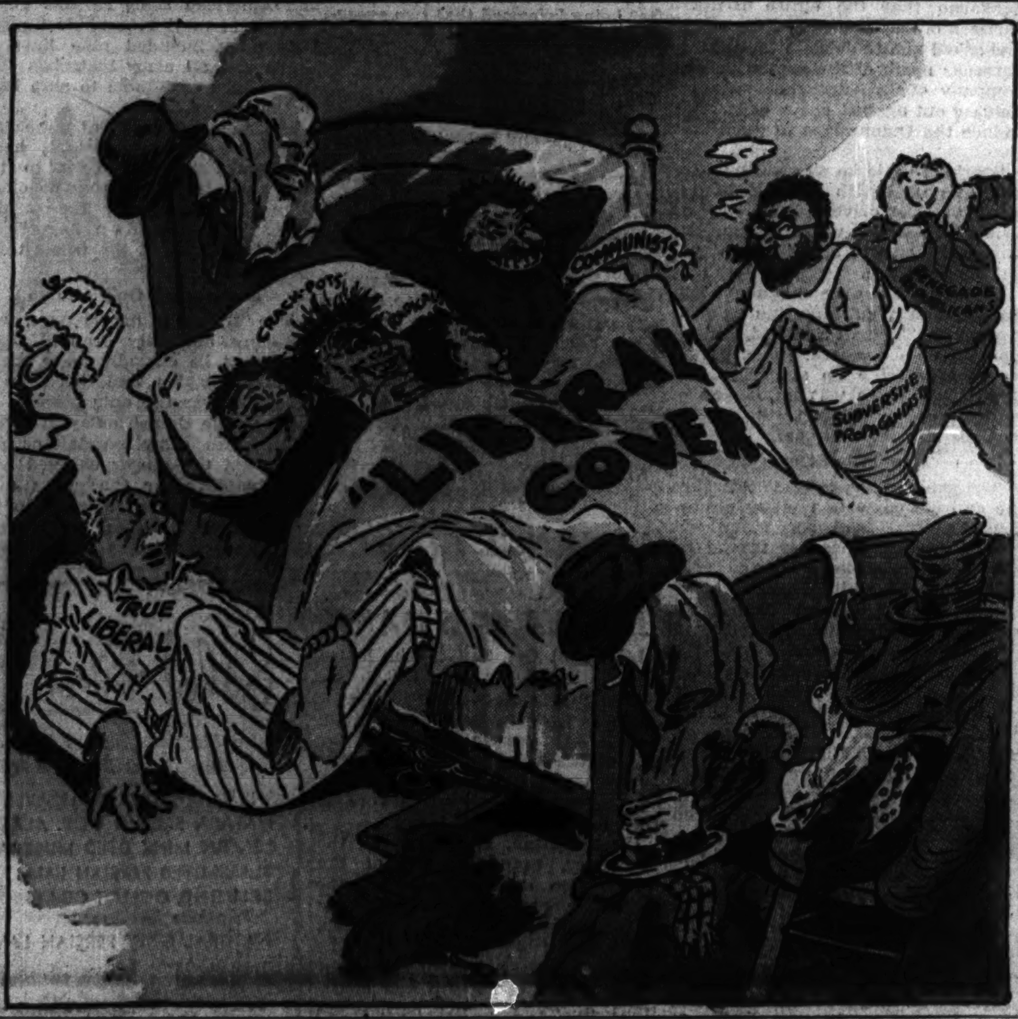
THE BEDFELLOWS ARE BECOMING A BIT CROWDED



2 BOYS MENACE WIFE OF JUDGE

N. Shore Youths Seized; One Shot by Police

Two 15 year old boys, one of them on crutches, his right leg in a plaster cast, yesterday attempted to rob Mrs. Faye Edelman, wife of Municipal Judge Leon Edelman, in the judge's automobile at California and Arthur avs., but she escaped by leaping from the car.

Mrs. Leon Edelman

A few minutes later Rogers Park police arrested one of the boys, Joseph Peterson of 639 Cumnor rd., Kenilworth, hobbling on his crutches near the scene of the attempted holdup.

His companion, Rayford Lemley Jr., of 173 De Windt rd., Winnetka, was shot in the right foot later when he broke away from Winnetka police, who tried to arrest him at his home. He was captured later three blocks south of his home and removed to Evanston hospital.

Both Boys Confess, Police Say

Police said both boys admitted attempting to hold up Mrs. Edelman, and that Peterson admitted stealing a station wagon in Winnetka earlier in the day. The boys parked it near the scene of the holdup before they met Mrs. Edelman. It was recovered by police.

Mrs. Edelman said the boys thumbed a ride at California and Peterson avs. while she was on the way to a luncheon engagement. She continued:

"At Arthur av. one of them told me, 'Put up your hands; I'm going to count three.' I looked around and I saw they had guns. Of course, I knew they were toy pistols. [Mrs. Edelman did not learn until later that the revolvers were real.]

Mrs. Edelman Leaps from Car

"I said, 'You really mean business, don't you?' and at the next corner, Albion av., where some friends were waiting for me, I stopped the car and jumped out."

The boys jumped out, too, and Lemley began to run with Peterson's crutches under his arm. When Peterson shouted Lemley threw the crutches down and continued his flight.

"Chase them," Mrs. Edelman's friends told her.

"I can't," she said. "I've got new stockings on." Then she telephoned police.

The Peterson youth, crippled by poliomyelitis in infancy, is the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson. Peterson is vice president of the Svenska Amerikanaren Tribunen, 208 N. Wells st. The boy's leg is in a cast as the result of a corrective operation performed last July.

Young Lemley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Lemley. His father is an attorney with offices at 134 N. La Salle st.

Both boys are pupils of New Trier High school, altho Peterson, because of his condition, receives his instruction at home from a tutor supplied by the school.

Kenilworth police said the two boys were sent to the Juvenile home last March after their theft of an automobile in Winnetka on March 13. Police said they also admitted robbing a gasoline station and a real estate office in Winnetka and a filling station in Kenilworth about that time.

Report GIs Stranded in Jungle as Ship Hauls Cargo to Dutch

BY PHILIP DODD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29—A reported diversion of an American ship from carrying soldiers home from the Pacific to carrying frate for Dutch authorities was branded "inexcusable, unpardonable, even criminal" by Sen. George [D., Ga.] today.

George, whose senate speeches usually are delivered calmly and without heat, was angry today and his voice shook as he read a letter from a soldier in New Guinea reporting the diversion of a ship from its tasks of carrying troops.

Ship's Orders Changed

"It's very quiet here," the soldier wrote, "except for one thing—the sound of the boom pulleys loading frate on a Liberty ship nearby. That sound strikes loneliness and despair into my heart much greater than the jungle birds or the air raid sirens when we were the advance base in New Guinea.

"That boat was supposed to take a lot of men out of the jungle, but the orders were changed against the skipper's will. It is now loading supplies and equipment which we reportedly sold to the Dutch government at the rate of 5 cents on the dollar.

"The boat will deliver this merchandise to Dutch authorities in Java and in the meantime we men continue to rot in this jungle, we are rotting mentally, spiritually, and physically. . . ."

Wife and 2 Children

George, who declined to reveal the name of the writer, said the soldier was "a man of intelligence, culture, courage, and stamina" who has a wife and two children and has been in the Pacific for more than three years.

George later told reporters he might report the incident to the war department and ask for a report.

U. S. Sells Naval Base

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—The navy today said its base at Hollandia, in Dutch East New Guinea, has been sold to the Netherlands East Indies government for $6,830,000.

Also involved in the transaction were a number of quonset huts at Espiritu Santo and supplies from the naval hospital at Sydney. Naval officers told reporters the transaction was the first cash sale in the navy's surplus disposal program in the Pacific.

The officers declined to estimate the total original cost of the properties sold, but said it undoubtedly was much greater than the amount realized from the sale.

15 WACs Left on Dock on Way Home by Air

ROME, Oct. 29—Fifteen WACs who were left on a dock at Naples when the troopship Wakefield sailed Wednesday were on their way home by air today. The plight of the WACs evoked a GI protest because the transport also carried 26 Italian wives of service men. The army explained that the WACs were "supernumeraries" who had been warned in advance that they might not find space on the Wakefield.

NAVY DIVERTS SUPPLY SHIPS FROM AUCKLAND

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Oct. 29—The United States navy today announced that 11 ships due to load refrigerated cargo at Auckland in the next few weeks have been diverted and that 26,000 tons of foodstuffs intended for the South Pacific command must remain in store.

The order, believed to have come from Adm. Nimitz's headquarters, was taken by observers to mean the navy has lost patience with Auckland dock workers' consistent pressure for higher pay and altered working conditions, which they emphasized last week by staging a "go slow" campaign.

The supply ships have been diverted to Australia, it is believed. New Zealand is left with between three and four million dollars' worth of produce for which there is no present market.

House Group to Probe U. S. Intelligence System

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—Chairman May [D., Ky.] of the house military committee announced today that a subcommittee headed by himself will investigate the United States intelligence and counter-intelligence system.

DEALERS CAN SELL WITHOUT RESTRICTIONS

Asked to Consider Hardship Cases

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29—New post-war automobiles will not be rationed, Price Administrator Bowles and Chairman Krug of the war production board announced today.

The government's decision has been awaited since shortly after the surrender of Germany when the WPB authorized the manufacture of civilian cars. It had been believed generally that the first post-war cars would be rationed on a priority basis to the most essential users.

Bowles said that the OPA regulation governing the sale of new cars to essential users was being revoked immediately. Rationing of 1942 automobiles, the last model made before the war, was ended last July 18, but the OPA kept on the books the priority regulation which restricted purchasers to essential workers such as doctors, health and safety officials and war workers.

Certificates Useless

All certificates and records used in the war time car rationing program and still in the hands of dealers and consumers are now "useless" and may be disposed of, Bowles announced.

Krug and Bowles said in their joint statement that with new car production started and with almost 24 million cars on the road, "there is no longer danger of a general breakdown of the automotive transportation system." They added that as new production picks up, newer and better used automobiles also will become increasingly available.

The decision not to ration post-war cars or use a priority system means that they may be purchased on a first-come-first-serve basis.

Bowles, however, said: "We ask that dealers everywhere give special consideration to unusual hardship cases."

Halted in February, 1942

WPB and OPA officials said that current strikes in the automotive industry have delayed new car production, but were unable to estimate how far output is behind schedule or when new cars will reach the public in volume.

Manufacture of civilian passenger cars was halted Feb. 1, 1942, and the government froze for rationing the nation's entire supply of 530,000 new cars in manufacturers' and dealers' hands.

The government has not announced a pricing formula for post-war automobiles.

INDUSTRY SURPRISED

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 29 [Special]—The auto industry here was taken by surprise by the government's announcement that new cars will not be rationed and spokesmen in interviews expressed astonishment that this step should have preceded the setting of prices.

George Romney, manager of the Automobile Manufacturers' association, said the automobile companies plan to make no recommendations to dealers and place no restrictions on them in regard to their disposition of new cars allotted to them. Dealers, Romney said, will, in accordance with present plans, receive new cars on a basis of their pre-war sales.

Fred Davis, director of sales and advertising for the Ford Motor company, said the cancelation of the expected rationing "will make no difference to us for the time being because we haven't a price. We can't sell cars anyway."

Felix Bruner, a spokesman for the General Motors corporation, said the industry had expected rationing to be ended for new cars about the first of next year.

Hawk Attacks Squadron of 35 Pigeons; Two Hurt

New Orleans, La., Oct. 29 (AP)—A hawk and 35 pigeons tangled in an aerial dogfight today. There were two casualties. The pigeons, carriers belonging to the New Orleans Times-Picayune and States, were taking their daily exercise when the hawk dived on the squadron and broke up the formation. One pigeon received an injured leg, another a hurt wing.

Douglas Field Voted Site for City's Airport

BY ROBERT HOWARD

By unanimous vote, Mayor Kelly's airport selection board recommended yesterday that Chicago's principal airport be located on the Douglas field site northwest of the city.

The big terminal to be built there for transcontinental and transoceanic planes will be superior in every way to the Idlewild airport being built by the city of New York, Chairman Merrill C. Meigs of the board said. It will be capable of handling 360 plane arrivals and departures an hour.

The board's formal recommendation is expected to be signed and sent to Mayor Kelly in two weeks. Further studies then will be made of Chicago's need for supplementary landing fields.

Estimated Cost 40 Millions

The Douglas airport will cost about 40 million dollars, it was estimated by Ralph H. Burke, park district engineer and member of the board. That compares with a 91 million dollar estimate for the Idlewild airport, on which New York is staking its hopes for future domination of air traffic.

Members of the Chicago board considered only locations that could have facilities better than Idlewild. The final decision for the Douglas site came after Burke reported that an island airport on Lake Michigan would cost from 80 to 120 million dollars, depending on design.

The Douglas field is in an accessible suburban region near Park Ridge. The north boundary of the airport will be a relocated Higgins rd., which is to be connected with the northwest super-highway to provide nonstop traffic to the downtown business district. Irving Park rd. probably will be moved southward for the southern boundary. On the east, LaGrange [Mannheim] rd. will be moved over to the Soo Line tracks.

The western boundary will be the Chicago and North Western frate tracks extending northward from the Proviso yards. Whether those tracks must be moved westward, to permit future expansion, is one of the details which the board left to a committee of aviation engineers.

The present Douglas airport, at the northeast corner of the site, was constructed during the war for flight testing of giant cargo planes manufactured in a factory now abandoned.

On the 5,235 acre Douglas site, without relocating the railroad tracks, it will be possible to construct a terminal with 12 tangential runways, in the form of a giant pinwheel around the central administrative and loading center. Air lines engineers favor the tangential design, but David L. Behncke, president of the Air Lines Pilots association, told the board again yesterday that he favors parallel runways.

Hope for Favorable U. S. Terms

Burke's 40 million dollar cost figure included an item of more than 5 millions to purchase land and remove a comparatively few surrounding obstructions. City officials hope that the present Douglas airport property can be obtained from the government for a nominal sum.

The other 35 millions would be needed for the terminal, 60 loading gates, and the runways, eight of which would be 6,150 feet long and four of 7,700 feet. Some of the shorter runways could be extended in the future, and those paralleling the railroads could be 17,000 feet long should the need arise.

REDS ADVISE: DON'T LET A-BOMB AFFECT U. S. FOREIGN POLICY

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight that if the atomic bomb should influence the foreign policy of the United States "there can be no lasting peace."

In the first authoritative soviet comment on President Truman's Navy day speech Radio Commentator Anatoli Osipov asserted that soviet foreign policy for 28 years "has been a fight against fascism and aggression." Cautioning that aggressive nations must be prevented from menacing world peace, Osipov said:

"We hear cynical statements that the atomic bomb should influence the foreign policy of the United States. . . . Obviously you can't have lasting peace with a policy like that."

In another Moscow broadcast Jerzy Borejsza was quoted as saying the atomic bomb, like poison gas, would be outlawed.

WIDOW TELLS HOW JAPS SLEW HUSBAND, SONS

Yamashita Hears of More Atrocities

BY ROBERT CROMIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 30 [Tuesday]—A weeping matron whose husband and three sons were kidnaped and murdered by Japanese troops was the first witness in today's resumption of the trial of Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, Jap commander of the Philippines, accused of condoning atrocities.

She is Justa Guido, widow of Lt. Col. Justo Guido. Under the gentle questioning of Maj. Glicerio Opinion, Filipino member of the prosecution, she gave a clear picture of the invasion of her house at dinner time last Feb. 6 and the seizure of her husband and sons who were led away and slain.

"I am the widow of Lt. Col. Guido," she said. "Well, my husband is dead and my three sons. No, he was never a collaborator. He was helping the underground."

Take Money and Gems

She told of her house being surrounded and then entered by Japs. She was forced to open a safe from which the Japs took 5,000 pesos [$2,500] and all her jewels.

"I save only this ring on my finger by turning it, this ring which I inherit from my grandfather," she added. She said the Japs then took away her husband and three sons, one of whom they routed from a sick bed. "They took my little son," she said simply. "I told them he is only 12, and he doesn't know how to tell a lie. He says, 'You are mistaken, mother, I am 14.'" When her men were led away, Mrs. Guido said she fainted.

Two days later, she said, more Japs came and she, her two daughters, and an 8 year old son took refuge under the porch while the house was machine gunned.

Finds 20 Bodies

The only explanation for the Jap action was that during a search of the house they had found the uniform used by Lt. Col. Guido before demobilization from the Philippine army.

She was followed on the stand by Juan Gonzalez, a Filipino whom Mrs. Guido hired to dig up the bodies of her dead.

Yamashita listented intently as Gonzalez told of finding 20 civilian bodies in a common grave, adding, "I could have found more if I dig." But he put the bodies of the four Guidos into a box and went away, leaving the anonymous ones behind.

On cross-examination, Capt. Milton Sandberg, defense counsel, attempted to establish that during the fighting in Manila battle casualties, were often picked up from the streets and buried in a common pit.

Another Widow Heard

Angela Lopez-Valdes, widow of Lt. Col. Alejo Valdes, garbed in black, as was Mrs. Guido, was the next witness. The prosecution's Maj. Opinion's questions were translated into Spanish for her benefit. She answered in Spanish.

Senora Lopez-Valdes, whose late husband also was demobilized from the Filipino army, told how Japs, led by naval officers, searched her house on Feb. 7 and found uniforms. The Japs took the uniforms into the street and burned them, throwing the colonel's sword into the fire. Next morning the Japs returned.

Maj. Opinion began heckling the interpreter and giving fuller interpretations of his own. A defense objection to this was sustained, after which Opinion angrily requested a new interpreter, which the court allowed. A plump Filipino girl then entered as a substitute.

Saves Daughter from Rape

During the second search the Japs found two small radio receiving sets which the witness said they mistook for transmitters. They threw the sets at Col. Valdes—who before the war was a noted Spanish poet—then tied and led away Valdes, his son Ramon, and a brother-in-law, Ernesto Murillo, the latter still wearing pajamas. Before leaving, the Japs looted the house of many things, including canned goods.

The day after, another Jap came back and at pistol point ordered the remainder of the family upstairs with the exception of a 15 year old daughter. Senora Valdes paused on the stairs when she saw her daughter being dragged toward an inner room. The daughter was crying, so the mother ran down and found the Jap was about to rape the girl.

The mother grabbed the girl and told the Jap to kill them both. The bold gesture worked. The Jap, obviously nervous, left, with the girl unharmed.

Kill 10 of One Family

At yesterday's late session Juan P. Luan, a Filipino educator, told with horror how Jap troops killed his wife, two daughters, and seven other members of his family.

Juan gave further testimony on the infamous "Red Cross atrocity" in which at least 53 unarmed, inoffensive men, men, and children, including nine German Jewish refugees, were shot or bayoneted to death while sheltering in the supposed security of the Philippines Red Cross building, which was being used only as a refuge and temporary hospital when the murders occurred last Feb. 10.

Kill All in Building

Juan, whose home was near-by, had gone there with members of his family but left with several others to prepare a meal when they heard shots and screaming.

"My first reaction was that the Japs were killing the German refugees," he said, "because I remember that a Japanese captain I was acquainted with used to tell me, 'We are going to exterminate all white people in the orient, including those of mixed blood.'

"Then, however, one of our maids came from the building. She was pale, very much afraid, and could hardly talk. Then she began crying and told us the Japs killed everybody in the building, including my wife, two daughters, a daughter-in-law and six grandchildren. One of my children was only 10 days old.

Finds Only Two Bodies

"I attempted to return that evening but the rest of my children prevented me, and the following day the shelling was too intense and fires were all around. So it was not until the day after that I went with my son-in-law, whose wife was killed. We went to a room where we thought the family was. All we were able to find, however, was the body of one of my daughters and her 10 day old baby."

Before he was able to return the building was fired and burned, allegedly by the Japanese.

Buries Two Infants

Juan buried the body of the infant and the 10 month old daughter of Corazon Noble, Filipino film star, in his back yard. The actress' daughter was fatally wounded during the same outrage.

Testimony of two other actual witnesses to the killings—Gliceria Andaya and Florita Loveriza—also was given. They are Red Cross nurses, and told how the Japanese, whom they believed were naval personnel, entered and began shooting and bayoneting without mercy.

Miss Andaya was in a hospital for months with a wound in the left breast. She said after she was stabbed she saw one Jap deliberately shoot a child of 3 in the mouth. She remained in the building four nights and four days until it was finally fired. Then, despite weakness, she clutched a pillow to her breast to staunch the flow of blood and crept out to die, but found aid. She testified she wore a Red Cross armband and a Red Cross cap.

Miss Loveriza, who hid and escaped, told a similar tale. She saw 10 persons killed.

Finds Husband Slain

When testimony ended in the Red Cross case the prosecution called Mrs. Flora Mabagos, 22, whose husband was killed by the Japanese elsewhere in Manila last January.

"When I went to the Dypac lumber yard, where some one told me my husband was," she said, "I saw him with his hands tied behind his back. There were 10 others also tied up. Two Jap sentries were near-by. The next time I saw my husband was in a funeral parlor, where he was taken after my father recovered his body from the river." Mabagos was an unarmed civilian.

The prosecution was forbidden to give testimony in cases mentioned in the supplementary bill of particulars, which the defense has had only since last Friday. Maj. Gen. R. B. Reynolds, president of the trial commission, had ruled that no incidents in the supplementary bill can be presented until after completion of the original bill, in order to give the defense time to prepare its case on 59 new charges contained in the supplementary bill. The prosecution had misunderstood the ruling and was prepared to bring witnesses in the second half of the bill.

Thruout the day the defense interposed a large number of objections, ranging from the commission's permission to the prosecution to admit hearsay evidence to allegation by the defense that the trial commission itself was not a legally constituted body.

The defense indicated that if the decision goes against Gen. Yamashita it will endeavor to take the case to the United States Supreme court for review.

JAPS' TORTURE OF 12 WOMEN IN JAVA CAMP TOLD

Suffer Because Dozen Eggs Were Smuggled In

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

SEMARANG, Java, Oct. 28 [Delayed]—Last April the Jap commander of a concentration camp here for 3,000 women and children, mostly Dutch, posted an order that no food was to be brought into the camp. Any attempt to smuggle food thru the double wire fence, he said, would be met with severe punishment.

After three years of near starvation, of being beaten and slapped, of watching their children die from diseases unchecked by medicine, of being clapped into solitary cells, of being worked in the fields until they dropped—the women wondered what new crime against womanhood the Jap commander had thought up.

A few days later he posted a new notice. It said 12 eggs had been smuggled into the camp.

One Woman from Hospital

The commander ordered the guards to pick 12 women at random—that would be one woman for each egg—and bring them into a small yard in the center of the camp. One of the 12 that the guards chose was a middle aged woman in the hospital so sick with dysentery she could not walk. So the guards carried her.

All the women and children in the camp were called into the square to watch. The 12 women were made to kneel side by side. A bamboo pole 3 inches in diameter was placed inside their bent knees. Bonds were run between thigh and ankle to prevent the women from rising. Their hands were tied behind them.

And there they knelt, the bamboo pressing into their flesh. Every time one of the women made the slightest movement she ground the bamboo into the legs of the others. One woman began to cry. A guard beat her until she stopped. The hot tropical sun shone mercilessly. One woman fainted. A guard beat her. The sting of the rod revived her.

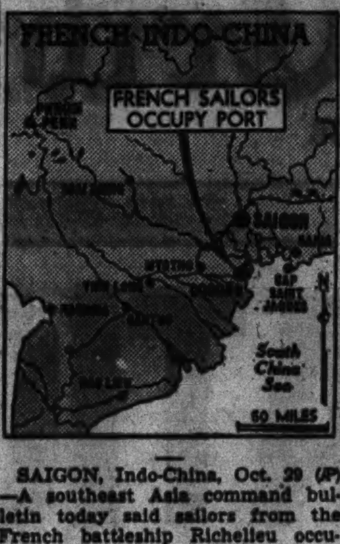
Lecture by Commander

After hour hours the Jap commander gave a lecture. "Let that be a lesson," he said. He ordered the bonds and bamboo removed. "Arise," he said. The women tried to rise to their feet. But the muscles of their legs would not work. The women fell flat. The others picked them up and started to carry them to the camp's hospital. The Jap stopped them. The hospital, he said, was not for criminals. So, the women carried the 12 off to their bunks.

But the lesson was not yet over. The Jap thought maybe the camp might forget the punishment for trying to get extra food. Next morning he ordered the women back into the yard. The 12 had to be carried. He had them laid in the sun. All day, until dusk, they remained in the sun. And the next day, and the next—for 10 days.

In the weeks that followed, one by one 11 of the 12 women regained their ability to walk. The 12th is still paralyzed. Doctors say she may never walk again.

Frenchmen Land



SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 29 (AP)—A southeast Asia command bulletin today said sailors from the French battleship Richelieu occupied Cocong, port city south of Saigon.

The bulletin said that the sailors, who entered Cocong yesterday, were supported by guns from the French corvette Gazelle. Sharp encounters with Annamites were reported elsewhere in the Cocong region.

Friction developed between the Chinese and the British-French forces. Chinese here prepared to protest to Maj. Gen. D. Gracey, allied ground commander, against depredations they said were perpetrated against Chinese residents of Saigon by Indian troops. A grenade tossing incident was reported in Cholon, the Chinese sector which makes up about half of Saigon. There also was a serious fire in the Chinese section which destroyed a number of homes despite efforts of Indian troops to control it.

SOEKARNO RISKS BULLETS; WINS INDONESE TRUCE

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

SOERABAJA, Java, Oct. 29—A 24 hour attack by Indonesians on British India troops here ended at dusk today after a peace meeting between Indonesian President Soekarno and Brig. W. F. Mallaby, British commander. British casualties were heavy. Reports so far say 13 British Indians were killed and 40 wounded. Indonesian casualties were not revealed.

Soekarno was in Batavia when the fighting, caused by British demands that the Indonesians surrender their arms, broke out yesterday. It became so serious during the night that the British headquarters in Batavia asked the Nationalist leader to intervene.

Saying, "They must be crazy!" Soekarno boarded an R. A. F. plane accompanied by the Indonesian vice president, Mohammed Hatta, and flew to Soerabaja. On the way the plane was hit by machine gun fire and one member of the crew was injured.

Braves Indonese Fire

At Soerabaja battalion headquarters Lt. Col. A. K. Crookshank, commanding the garrison, explained to Soekarno that the entire British garrison of 1,600 men was threatened and asked him to drive to the Darno barracks north of the city, where a company of British engineers was holding out against heavy odds, and induce the Indonesians to cease firing.

Soerkarno said he was willing. He set out in a British truck, standing alongside the driver. Proudly carrying his red and white Indonesian ensign, he headed straight into the thick of the fire.

The truck had gone only about 200 yards when a machine gun opened fire on it. Then an armored vehicle opened fire but missed. The armored car finally came up alongside the truck, and there was an exchange of greetings between the Indonesians and their leaders.

Mob Fills Streets

The vehicle then escorted Soerkarno and his party to the Indonesian headquarters where, more than three hours later, the leaders agreed to the truce and Soekarno started back.

At 4 p. m. white flags fluttered from a building upstreet from headquarters and shouts of "Soekarno is coming," were heard.

Brig. Mallaby ordered all shooting to cease. The street was filled by a mob which poured from buildings like a flood. Thru the running, shouting men, Mallaby strode with a few staff officers to meet Soekarno and restore peace.

A few stray shots at the Union Jack flying over brigade headquarters threatened to rekindle the battle despite efforts of British and Indonesian officers to quiet the mob.

Shelve War Time Law

Mallaby and Soekarno went to former government house for the conference and then to the Indonesian radio transmitter to broadcast a plea for peace. At the conference Mallaby and Soekarno agreed to three points, immediate cessation of fire; all armed troops to leave the streets except ambulance parties evacuating the wounded, and shelving of British martial law proclamations until the meeting between Soekarno and Maj. Gen. D. C. Hawthorne, allied commander in Java, who is flying here tomorrow.

The peace meeting was a fantastic ending to a fantastic 24 hours. Like excited children, Indonesian youths, cheering themselves hoarse with the conviction that they had won the war, swarmed on British headquarters and clamored to haul down the Union Jack. Others demanded that the British surrender their arms. But flags still fly and the British still have their arms.

Two Japanese armored cars rode thru the mob, their Indonesian crews keeping their guns trained on headquarters entrance.

MRS. ROOSEVELT CANCELS A VISIT OVER RACE ISSUE

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has canceled her engagement to address the Young Democrats of Georgia on Dec. 3 after being informed that two executive members of the organization resigned in disapproval of her racial views. She announced the cancelation in a telegram to Gov. Arnall today.

Earl Wingo and Robert N. Fellows said on Friday that they resigned because Mrs. Roosevelt had been invited as speaker and added: "Our ideas are not in harmony with the speaker, who, from press reports, favors racial social equality."

Mrs. Roosevelt wired Gov. Arnall: "It is much wiser for me to cancel my coming as I do not want to cause any embarrassment." Gov. Arnall wired a reply which said: "It is a source of regret and embarrassment to me and your other Georgia friends that two members of the Young Democrats so far forgot themselves, proprieties, and southern hospitality as to be guilty of discourtesy and disrespect."

ADVANCE BILL TO NATIONALIZE ENGLAND'S BANK

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The house of commons, by a vote of 348 to 153, passed on second reading tonight a bill to nationalize the Bank of England. The measure, providing for one of the chief objectives sought by the new Labor government, must be passed a third time before it goes to the house of lords.

Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, urged passage of the measure in order to advance the Labor government's five year plan of full employment and production. "The Bank of England with its financial powers must be brought under public ownership and operations of other banks harmonized with industrial needs," Dalton said. He asserted that the government does not intend "any day to day interference" with the ordinary work of the bank.

BRITISH DELAY FORCES BURNING OF U. S. SUPPLIES

BY ALFRED WAGG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

RANGOON, Burma, Oct. 29—The American army is destroying jeeps by running over them with bulldozers, and burning blankets and other army surplus goods, while the Burma government and army people here are lamenting destruction of the property as criminal since the country so badly needs all sorts of supplies for its recovery.

Burma Governor Reginald Dorman-Smith said he wants the surplus goods, and British army officers also told me that they needed them badly. The real reason for burning everything from airplanes to soapboxes is a misunderstanding.

Meanwhile, an anti-American whispering campaign has been started, with all Rangoon condemning destruction of vital materials.

United States Offer Unheeded

Three months ago Walter Schleiter, director of the American army and navy liquidation commission, approached Adm. Mountbatten's southeast Asia command at Kandy, Ceylon. Schleiter was referred to the Burma government, and he wrote offering both lend-lease goods, which were to be returned by the British, and American army surplus goods for sale at most reasonable figures. This offer included pipe lines to China and all army materials that would be unprofitable to ship back to the United States.

These approaches went unheeded, except that Mountbatten's headquarters issued directives to the 12th army in Burma that no offers were to be made for the surplus stores since London negotiators were trying to get the whole thing for nothing.

Destruction Only Course

The Burma government, also awaiting authority from London, could not be custodian any longer of their surplus, and therefore destruction was the only possible answer to the British delay in acting.

American army regulations provide that the officer charged with responsibility for the goods must first offer them as salvage to the commission, or sign an affidavit that he has destroyed the goods under the abandoning provision of army regulations.

This provision is that all goods, trucks, and machinery, and whatever cannot be profitably shipped back to the United States must burn. Since the American government has decided that American troops shall be out of the India-Burma theater before the end of February, American supplies must be disposed of.

TURKEY SHOWS OFF ARMED MIGHT ON 22D ANNIVERSARY

ANKARA, Turkey, Oct. 29 (AP)—Turkey's modernly equipped army paraded its power in a military pageant today as President Ismet Inonu said the country's solid national structure "will disappoint the hopes of those abroad who would not wish good for our country."

Mechanized troops, cavalry, tanks, artillery, and a small air force passed in review during the celebration of the 22d anniversary of the republic.

Inonu said there were "uneasiness and difficulties" concerning internal policies, but the "patriotism and good sense of our people are strong enough to distinguish between the cheating games and the voices of welfare."

BERLIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—The allied kommandantur announced today the dismissal of Dr. Edmund Noortwyck, head of the Berlin finance and tax department, because inquiry disclosed he was a former officer in the Nazi party's motor corps. Noortwyck was appointed when the Russians ruled Berlin.

MAJ. TISDELLE TELLS HORRORS OF A JAP PRISON

Hunger, Thirst Among 8,600 Described

This is the third instalment of "Men Who Wouldn't Die," based on a diary kept by the author, aide-de-camp of Maj. Gen. Edward P. King, commander of the American army on Bataan. This instalment includes hitherto unpublished facts and figures on Camp O'Donnell, where American prisoners were taken after the "Death March" from Bataan.

BY MAJ. A. C. TISDELLE
as told to Carl Wiegman

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

The story of the "Death March" from Bataan to Camp O'Donnell in April, 1942, is familiar to all Americans and needs no repetition, but certain entries in my diary during this period contain pertinent facts and figures for the trials of Japanese war criminals.

On the evening of April 13 about 2,000 of us prisoners were herded into a field outside Camp O'Donnell and all of us were searched. Those who happened to have any Japanese money were taken away, and never were seen again. Among them was Col. Ralph Hirsch of Gen. King's artillery staff. A Japanese guard had permitted him to buy food at San Fernando and the change was given to him in Jap currency. The Japs erroneously assumed the money had been taken from the body of one of their soldiers.

Commander Gives Speech

After the search, we were called to attention [many men could hardly stand up] and Capt. Tsuneyoshi, the camp commander, made a long winded speech to us thru an interpreter. Boiled down to its essentials, the speech ran like this:

"You are now captives of the imperial Japanese army. The United States is a decadent nation and Japan is going to whip the United States even if it takes 100 years. We will be enemies forever. Any prisoner who tries to escape will be executed. All of you would already be dead if it were not for the great beneficence of his imperial majesty. You owe your lives to him."

With these comforting words we were permitted to enter the camp and were assigned to quarters by our own officers. Gen. King, as the senior officer, was in command of the interior administration. As his aide de camp, I was placed in his barracks, a 20x20 foot bamboo shack, along with Brig. Gen. Arnold J. Funk, Col. Everett Williams, Col. Victor Collier, Maj. Wade Cothran, and Capt. Sheldon.

A Senseless Jap Act

The Japs now did one of those things that simply make no sense. We were hungry and thirsty; hundreds of us were desperately sick—and a Japanese staff officer drove up in a truck loaded, not with food, not with medical supplies, but with foot lockers and barracks bags from our former Bataan headquarters.

My locker was among them, but Gen. King's was missing. In my locker was one of the general's uniforms, which an orderly evidently had placed there by mistake. I also found six shirts and five pairs of pants. These I gave to officers who needed them.

Next day [April 14] 1,400 more prisoners arrived, bringing the camp's total to 3,400. In the entire camp there were only three water spigots and these worked only part of the time because the pump kept breaking down. Hundreds of men stood in line for five or six hours waiting to fill their canteens. The tongues of some men were so swollen they could not close their mouths.

More Prisoners Arrive

Every now and then the Japs would shut off our water while they drew some for bathing and washing clothes. We didn't have enough water to wash away the filth in the hospital.

On the 15th about 1,000 more prisoners arrived. Gen. King conferred with the senior medical officers and prepared a petition to the Jap commander, asking permission for our mechanic to repair the gasoline engine that was supposed to run the pump. He also made a list of medical supplies and surgical instruments we had left on Bataan, told where they could be found, and asked that they be brought to us. The petition was turned over to the camp interpreter, but nothing ever came of it.

On the 17th 1,200 more prisoners arrived. Deaths were running 22 a day and nearly every one had malaria or dysentery. On the 19th representatives of the Filipino Red Cross arrived at the camp gate with a truckload of medical supplies and food. They were refused admission by the Jap commander and the precious supplies were taken back to Manila.

Men Crazed by Hunger

By this time an ugly situation was developing in camp. Our men were so crazed by hunger, thirst, and illness that they started stealing from each other; even robbing the bodies of the dead. Gen. King did his best to restore discipline. He was not permitted to address the men at large meetings, but he went about the camp every day, talking to small groups, trying to restore the soldiers' self-respect.

"You must not feel badly about the surrender," he said. "You fought gallantly and did not surrender. I surrendered. I surrendered you. I want every one of you, regardless of rank, to conduct himself in relation to other men, so as many as possible will have a chance to get home."

On the 20th a Japanese colonel inspected the camp and called on Gen. King. The colonel was extremely courteous, explaining that conditions in the camp would be improved when the Japanese army "is not so busy." Rations would be improved within three days, he said. This was an example of the conversational eyewash frequently handed us by the Japs. The rations were not improved.

Twenty Dying Every Day

By the 27th of April we had 8,600 prisoners in the camp. There were 800 men in the hospital and deaths were still running more than 20 a day. Bodies of the dead were placed in pits 4 feet deep outside the compound. We erected stakes over the graves and carefully prepared a map showing the location of each grave.

On the 28th, the birthday of the emperor, the Japs installed a new engine on the water pump. Our rations at this time were 300 grams [10½ ounces] of rice daily per man; 400 grams for hospital patients. Occasionally we had camotes, a kind of sweet potato, and soup made of the bulbular roots of a plant that grew wild in ditches along the rice paddies. Occasionally we had a little salt for the soup.

We could see patches of the sky thru the grass roofs of our shacks and the thought of the approaching rainy season worried us. Col. Shreve and Maj. Gay organized repair parties to patch roofs.

Lantern for Hospital

When the expected downpour of rain came on May 4, Capt. Tsuneyoshi called at Gen. King's quarters at 11 p. m., and politely asked if the roof leaked. It was the silliest question I ever heard. The captain left us a package of cigarets, then went to the camp hospital. Seeing for the first time that the hospital had no lights of any kind, he generously left his lantern there. These gestures cheered us enormously and we thought there might be some improvement in conditions. We thought wrong.

To prevent spread of disease, our medical officers ordered that all men dip their mess kits into boiling water before receiving rations. This was done until May 5, when we ran out of wood to heat the water.

The Japs informed us on May 9 that Corregidor had fallen. We knew it was inevitable and therefore were not distressed. We couldn't have been made any more distressed any way.

One Steer for Camp Soup

That day the Japs brought us two Brahma steers to butcher. Our men were so weak that one of the steers escaped and the Japs would not permit them to pursue it. The remaining steer provided enough meat to flavor the soup for the camp—8,600 men.

At this time there was no excuse for the food shortage because warehouses in Manila were loaded with food. Either the Jap command was unbelievably incompetent or it was deliberately trying to mistreat us to degrade the white man in the eyes of the Filipinos. If the Japs were trying to degrade us, this was a boomerang. The Filipinos enshrined us as martyrs.

Gen. King, with 10 other generals and 119 colonels, was taken from the camp on May 10 and moved to Tarlac. Before he left, Gen. King walked along every street of the camp, talking to as many men as possible. He told them again that the surrender was his fault, not theirs, and begged them to take care of each other.

As he approached each group, men who were so ill they could hardly stand would struggle to their feet, come to attention, and try to salute him. He hastened to tell them to sit down, and when he walked away from them the tears were streaming down his face.

Nonswimmers Save Woman in Lagoon

Heroism Revealed

The heroism of two Chicago Park district laborers, neither of whom could swim, but who rescued an aged women who attempted to drown herself in the Washington Park lagoon last Saturday, was disclosed yesterday.

"The men are Charles Murray, 844 W. 51st pl., and John Rushala, 4554 S. Francisco av., who were cleaning sewer basins when they saw Mrs. Helen Britton, 70, of 6434 Cottage Grove av., struggling in the water. They waded into the water up to their necks and when they were unable to reach her, a third laborer, Edward Wolfer, 5215 S. Laflin av., brought a 16 foot sewer spoon with which they reached the woman and pulled her to safety.

At Woodlawn hospital where she is recovering from shock and exposure, Mrs. Britton said that she had attempted to take her life "because of conditions at home."

KENNEY BOOSTS BONDS, UNIFIED MILITARY RULE

Hard hitting Gen. Kenney, commander of the air arm of Gen. MacArthur's victorious forces in the western Pacific, delivered a blow yesterday in behalf of Chicago's Victory loan campaign, and used the occasion to make a plea for a merger of the nation's military, naval, and air forces within one department of the government.

Speaking at a luncheon of campaign leaders in the Hotel Sherman, Gen. Kenney departed from his prepared address to tell how well the unified command system worked in the campaigns directed by Gen. MacArthur.

"When Gen. MacArthur made a decision it was carried out separately or jointly, as the needs of the operation required," he said. "There was no need for conferences or boards of arbitration."

Opens Loan Drive

The four star general, whose air forces were credited with destroying 11,900 Jap aircraft and 1,700,000 tons of enemy shipping, formally opened the Victory loan campaign in a speech from a platform erected at State and Adams sts.

He referred to the Victory loan's purpose of helping to pay for continued national preparedness, and explained that America's policy of expending machines instead of men was costly, in terms of money.

While Gen. Kenney was speaking, airplanes wheeled over the city, dropping 5 million leaflets advertising the Victory loan campaign. Some of the leaflets dropped on the crowd assembled on State st.

Speedy Iowa County

During the day Holger Lindholm of Audubon, Ia., arrived in Chicago by airplane from Des Moines and dumped $330,000 in checks and E bond stubs on a desk in the Federal Reserve bank. He said 300 Audubon county solicitors had exceeded their $280,000 quota in a week's drive in advance of the campaign's formal opening, and expressed belief that the county was the first in the nation to go over the top.

BRITAIN'S LABOR QUITS GIFTS TO WAR WINNERS

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Britain's Labor government, in the midst of sweeping economic and industrial changes, announced today a decision to break a centuries old tradition and abandon the practice of voting large monetary gifts to victorious military chiefs.

Prime Minister Attlee told commons the custom was no longer "in accordance with the spirit of the times or the character of the war." All worked for victory, he added, and it would not be right to single out a few for cash grants.

Wellington, hero of Waterloo, got a castle and $2,800,000. After World War I. Earl Beatty, naval commander, got $400,000. Field Marshal Haig, British commander in chief in France, received a similar amount.

READY TO BEGIN TRIBUNE TOWER ANNEX PROJECT

Work on the addition to the Tribune Tower and W-G-N building at Illinois and St. Clair sts. is to be begun immediately after the wrecking of the old structure on the site, it was announced yesterday by the R. C. Wieboldt company, general contractors. The building is to be eight stories.

Wrecking and general excavating was awarded to the Speedway Wrecking company, which will use the largest type of equipment available to expedite the work.

The contractors said wrecking of the old building will start this week. Excavation for the new structure [approximately 15,000 cubic yards of soil] will start immediately after the wrecking.

Foundations for new presses will be built after several floors in the new building are in place and the space is enclosed.

PETRILLO CUTS OFF PROGRAMS TO STUDENTS

Cleveland, O., Oct. 29 (AP)—A recent order by James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, today halted the piping of network radio programs by special line from station WGAR to frequency modulation station WBOE of the Cleveland school board.

"Station WGAR today advised FM station WBOE of the public schools that its balanced radio service to WBOE had been disrupted by Petrillo's action," Carl George, assistant manager of WGAR announced.

Petrillo last week banned duplication of musical programs on standard stations to FM outlets unless a station employs twice as many performers as needed for only the standard broadcast.

Senate Votes to Set Up Arctic Weather Station

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—The senate passed and sent to the house today a bill providing for establishment of arctic weather reporting stations. Introduced by Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] it directs that the chief of the weather bureau shall establish such stations in cooperation with meteorological services of foreign governments. The number of stations is not specified.

PRIVATE SLUM CLEARANCE WITH CITY AID URGED

The movement in the city council to let the Chicago housing authority spend the entire 5 million dollar slum clearance bonds for tax exempt projects caused expressions of disappointment yesterday among sponsors of a plan to encourage the rebuilding of a near northwest side neighborhood with private capital.

Already chartered as the Near Northwest Redevelopment council, not for profit, the property owners had hoped to obtain a share of the bonds to erect a community of homes for families of modest means, said the council's president, United States District Judge Walter J. La Buy. The area selected for improvement is bounded by Grand and Chicago avs., and Ashland and Milwaukee avs.

"All we expected from the city bonds was 1 million dollars or so," Judge La Buy said. "Part of that would have been returned for use on other similar jobs. Property in the area we have selected has deteriorated so that the land value is about $25 a foot. The buildings are worth as much or more. No builder could afford to buy and clear such property and add a new building that could be sold or rented within the means of the residents.

"That is where we hoped for help from the city. We thought that was the purpose of the bond issue. If the city bought this property and cleared it at a cost, say, of $50 a front foot, it could be sold to builders for $30. The city would not only recover some of the cost but would gain desirable new housing that would pay taxes."

180 German Prisoners Sail for Home from U. S.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 29 [Special]—One hundred and eighty German prisoners of war sailed from here today for their homeland aboard an American ship. The men were from the army school center at Fort Getty and Fort Kearney, Rhode Island, where they have been trained to occupy minor administration posts under the American military government in Germany.

CHINA REDS CUT 100 MILE GAP IN RAIL 'LIFE LINE'

Bar Passage of Chiang's Troops to Peiping

CHUNGKING, Oct. 29 (AP)—Communist troops have cut 100 miles of the Peiping-Hankow railway—life line for government forces hastening toward North China's undeclared civil war zone—dispatches reported today.

The Communists struck south of Peiping, cutting rails, blowing up bridges, destroying stations and burning railway stock on the railway northward from the Red-held town of Tzehsien.

Despite temporary loss of the railroad, semi-official dispatches said central government troops were moving northward out of Peiping along the railway to Manchuria's Mukden to take "defensive positions" along the great wall.

Independent reports said the Communists also had destroyed tracks and bridges along the railway from Pukow, which links Nanking in east-central China with Tientsin, southeast of Peiping. The Peiping-Hankow and Pukow-Tientsin railways are needed by the central government to get troops into North China to replace United States marines in the Peiping-Tientsin zone.

Fighting in Shantung

Other Chungking dispatches reported the fighting was rising in fury in the seaboard province of Shantung with its strategic ports, and westward thru the rich province of Shansi and on into Suiyuan province of Inner Mongolia.

Gen. Yen Hsi-shan, governor of Shansi, arriving in Chungking was quoted by the Chinese Press as saying government forces suffered 15,000 casualties in heavy fighting around Changtze, strategic city in the southeast corner of his province. He admitted Communists had seized Changtze but said their casualties were severe.

Persistent but wholly unconfirmed rumors said the Russians had turned over some captured Japanese war equipment in Manchuria to the Chinese Communists.

More government troops were pouring into Wuhu, on the Yangtze about 50 miles southwest of Nanking, where an additional 60,000 Japanese have been disarmed.

U. S. Marines Alerted

TIENTSIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—United States marines were alerted briefly today after reports spread that a clash between central government and communist troops was impending. The usual liberty was denied and Americans were told to stay off the streets until mid-morning, when the alert was lifted.

Nationalist troops, now here in strength, have disarmed about 1,500 officers and men of the 3d advanced army, a Chinese irregular outfit. At least 200 irregular officers were arrested.

Nationalist troops here are expected to disarm communist and puppet troops scattered thru the surrounding area shortly.

The first load of Japanese troops has been started toward Japan aboard slow moving amphibious craft such as LST's.

Soviet troops are expected to be withdrawn entirely from northeast China by the end of November, according to unofficial reports.

YANKS COMPLAIN ELIGIBLE MEN DON'T GO HOME

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 29 (AP)—Enlisted men of the 757th engineer parts supply company complained today in a long statement addressed to House Speaker Rayburn that men eligible to go home were not being sent, and that "congress has been as much a dope as the American public" concerning the war department's redeployment policy.

The statement said all three home deployment policies—the point system, return by units and release of men over 35—had been badly administered, and that high-point men were still here while low-pointers were going home with their units.

PRICES ZOOM AS U.S. MARINES HIT CHINA MARKETS

Ricksha Coolies Make Month's Pay in Day

BY HAROLD SMITH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TOKYO, Oct. 29—Wherever and whenever United States troops appear in China prices zoom and money exchange does a swift nose dive.

This was observed in the areas of Peiping, Tientsin, and Shanghai, all recently occupied by American soldiers and marines, and visited by this writer. Within hours after our landing, money quotations dropped as much as 25 per cent and shopping prices went into an upward spiral.

Our troops are highly paid compared with the Chinese, and on their long journey across storeless Pacific islands have accumulated big rolls that burn their pockets.

Inveterate Bargainers

Chinese peddlers are inveterate bargainers and almost invariably begin by asking double or more than what they expect to get. The average newcoming GI would rather pay than haggle. The initial asking prices are jacked up and the rat race is on.

Ricksha coolies who once were glad to get the equivalent of $5 or $6 a month already are crestfallen if soldiers or marines pay them less than $5 or so for a half day's services. Restaurants, which at the outset provided excellent meals at low prices, now are in the race. Merchandise in stores sells for many times the prices charged less than a month ago.

Foreigners in China—whites who remained there thruout the Jap occupation—are dismayed. They say their flabby purses can't stand the prices our boys are teaching the tradespeople to charge. Most of such critics, however, are business people themselves and gouging as feverishly as the native merchants. These criticisms don't stir our fellows deeply.

Marines Not Impressed

One marine in Tientsin summed up the general attitude after a White Russian had bawled him out for overpaying a ricksha coolie.

"Why should we play your game?" the marine said. "You guys came here of your own free will. Why expect us to be miserly just to protect the interests of you guys who've been underpaying for so many years?"

"But don't you know you're losing face with the Chinese by paying what they ask?" the White Russian insisted. "These guys are laughing at you."

"Okay, let 'em laugh!" the marine said. "We're laughing, too. We're still getting stuff for less than it would cost at home. We'll be gone in a few weeks or months, and the local storekeepers' dream will end in deflation. Then who'll lose face?"

Steps are being taken to halt price rises. Some stores and restaurants have already been put out of bounds to troops. Moreover, Chinese merchants are being compelled by circumstances to adopt something of our one price buying technique.

RED ARMY ASKS AID OF U. S., BRITAIN IN SEIZING DESERTERS

BERLIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Red army has asked American and British forces to help round up its deserters, who have become a plague on the countryside in many instances, an American military government officer said today.

The officer said the Russians have "a pretty terrific" rate of desertion. He said the deserters and renegade Russians who fought with Germany are responsible for a large part of the offenses charged against the soviet army.

American investigators ascribed the Russian desertion problem to the Red army's loose record system, and the fact that many Russians find conditions in western Europe more attractive than at home and "just take off to get into our zones and try to stay there." Declaring "these foot loose elements are a headache to all sides," the officer said "we are grabbing all we can lay hands on here in Berlin and turning them over to Russian security officers."

BULGARS CENSOR U. S. AND BRITISH WRITERS' NEWS

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 29 [Reuters]—American and British newspaper correspondents in Bulgaria today were asked to submit their messages concerning allied armies or relations between the allies to Foreign Minister Petko Stainov before dispatch.

Menahem Fayonov, secretary general of the ministry of information, said correspondents would continue to have full liberty from censorship when reporting Bulgarian internal affairs. Asked wether the allied control commission had protested to the Bulgarian government about any American or British correspondent's dispatches, Fayonov said: "No, but conversations have taken place."

The allied control commission in Bulgaria has a soviet president, Gen. Sergei Biryuzov. The reason for the new limitation on correspondents' freedom is generally believed to result from the transmission abroad of reports in circulation in Sofia about Red army troop movements toward the Turkish frontier. These provoked a sharp denial from the Tass, soviet news agency.

CHINESE REDS TO DEFY CHIANG IN MANCHURIA

BY JOSEPH HEARST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

HULUTAO, Manchuria, Oct. 29—Lt. Col. Chang Ming-feng of the Chinese Communist army sat on the cold concrete floor of a room devoid of furniture today and said that if Nationalist troops try to move into Manchuria before a full accord is reached between Kuomintang [Nationalist] and Communist leaders it will be "too bad" for peace and unity.

If Mao Tse-tung, Communist leader, reaches an agreement with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek which the Communist 4th route army does not relish, the army will abide by the decision, said Chang. If Chiang attacks in Manchuria, the people will rise to resist him, he added.

Chang apparently is the political commissar for the Hulutao area. Altho his superior, Col. Liu Shih-ping, regimental commander of a garrison of 2,280 men, was present, Chang did all the talking. He reiterated regrets that the American flag was fired on last week and appeared cordial, altho a small party from the U. S. S. Catoctin, flagship of Vice Adm. Daniel E. Barbey's 7th amphibious force, was not permitted to go into town where troops appeared busy digging trenches, erecting barricades, and working on gun emplacements.

Russians Are Reticent

The interview was conducted in a first floor room of a two story, tower-like structure on the pier. Curious soldiers continually poked their heads inside the door to listen to the flow of Chinese between Chang and the marine officer interpreter, Capt. Colin E. Twedell of Seattle, Wash. There were no lights in the room and in the closing minutes of the interview a flashlight was needed.

Chang answered questions readily but it was not the same with two Russian Red army senior lieutenants who met correspondents on the second floor of the same building. They were from a Russian force quartered a few miles from Hulutao.

When asked if Chinese troops, such as these in Hulutao, would take over when the Russians leave Manchuria, one answered in effect: "Why do you say soviet armies will be withdrawn from Manchuria?" Then he said he would ask some questions.

Skeptical About U. S. Presence

Until the session ended with a toast to the "motherland, Stalin, Truman and America" with a cup of vodka, he asked about the Jap surrender in southern China and demanded to know why Vice Adm. Barbey had come to Hulutao harbor without advance notice. He appeared skeptical when told such notice had been started thru the usual channels and asserted, "We have radio facilities in Mukden and Russians in America who could have sent the message."

Chang seemed to make a sincere effort to answer all questions. Asked if he believed our landing of marines at Tsingtao and other north China ports constituted meddling in China's internal affairs, he said our actions had "not been in accord with the fitness of things and have had an effect not helpful to the Communists."

REPORT CANADA, U.S. TO CONTINUE DEFENSE BOARD

May Place A-Bomb in Its Scope

BY ROBERT YOUNG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29—The United States-Canada permanent joint board on defense, which was established on Aug. 18, 1940, and worked actively thruout the war on the mutual defense of the two countries, is slated to continue in full force even tho the war has ended, it was learned today.

Recent public discussions of the atomic bomb and counter weapons by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the board's Canadian section, have resulted in reports that future legislation might bring the atomic bomb within the scope of the board's operations.

Handles Mutual Problems

The joint defense board was created as the result of an agreement between the late President Roosevelt and Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada. The stated purpose of the board was to undertake studies relating to land, sea, and air problems, including personnel and materials, in connection with the defense of the United States and Canada. During the war, the board handled all mutual military problems involved in protecting the northern half of the western hemisphere.

One of its most recent major jobs was the preparation of recommendations for the disposal of defense facilities built in Canada by the United States, including the Alcan highway, the Canol oil pipe line project and a chain of air fields.

La Guardia Heads Board

The chairman of the United States section of the board is Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York. Other members are Vice Adm. David W. Bagley, representing the navy; Maj. Gen. Guy V. Henry, for the army; Col. Charles H. Deerwester, for the army air forces, and Commodore Thomas P. Jeter, representing naval aviation. Secretary of the board is John D. Hickerson of the state department.

Members of the Canadian section, besides Gen. McNaughton, are Air Vice Marshall W. A. Curtis, Vice Adm. G. C. Jones, and Maj. Gen. M. A. Pope. The secretary is R. M. MacDonnell.

WANTS U. S. TO GET ISLAND BASES FOR BILLIONS IN GIFTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29—Rep. Gearhart [R., Cal.] proposed today that the United States use billions of dollars now scheduled for "gift loans" abroad to acquire Atlantic and Pacific island bases for our future defense.

The congressman in a series of resolutions offered in the house called upon the President to start negotiations for the purchase of defense bases in the Atlantic, Pacific, and Caribbean seas from France, Great Britain, and other nations, and to seek inclusion of Greenland and Iceland as part of the United States.

Gearhart told the house that current negotiations by the administration contemplate lending billions of dollars to bolster the economies of Britain, France, Russia, and others, and so "why not make the transactions one for purchase and sale of real estate at the very outset. Why not acquire these strategic islands, islands of small value to the sellers but of the greatest importance to the defense of America?"

Collaborators Obtain Leniency in Malaya

SINGAPORE, Oct. 29 [Reuters]—The British military administration policy toward Malay collaborators is lenient, Brig. H. C. Willan, deputy chief civil affairs officer of the Malay peninsula, said tonight. Announcing the setting up of special courts in Malaya for the trial of collaborators, Willan said: "Collaborationist ring leaders will be punished, but trivial offenders will not be proceeded against."

TRUMAN HALTS TRIPS TO TACKLE MANY PROBLEMS

Acts to Snap Off Curbs of Roosevelt

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29—Canceling all of his scheduled out of town trips for the next five weeks, President Truman today plunged into a whirl of official business the like of which the White House has not known since he took office.

The move was widely interpreted as signalizing the emergence of a new Truman, who, aroused by unfavorable public reaction to his pleasure jaunts and hesitant handling of national affairs, is determined to buckle down to business and, casting off the mantle of Roosevelt, be President in his own right.

The new program was announced by the White House hard on the heels of the publication of The Chicago Tribune dispatch this morning stating that the President "is being so criticized in mail for failing to buckle down to his job that he is about to cancel trips projected for the next month."

A Varied Schedule

The Presidential schedule embraced trips to Raleigh and Statesville, N. C., next Friday for an address by Mr. Truman to an adjourned session of the North Carolina legislature; to Atlanta the next day for the Georgia U-Georgia Tech football game; to Warm Springs, Ga., on Sunday for a visit to the Warm Springs Foundation and week end relaxation at the late Mr. Roosevelt's "Little White House"; to Liberty, Mo., on Nov. 15 to receive a degree from William Jewell college; to an aviation show at Oklahoma City and an artillery demonstration at Fort Sill, Okla., later in the week. Then, on Dec. 5 the President had planned to go to Waco, Tex., to receive a degree from Baylor university.

Eben Ayers, acting press secretary, said that all of these engagements are canceled. He stated that the cancelations were due to the pressure of public business.

The President put in a busy day, starting it with a pleasurable 15 minutes in which he glanced over telegrams congratulating him on his foreign policy speech Saturday in which he did shake loose the Roosevelt mantle in the matter of deals the late President made at Tehran and Yalta. Some think the emergence of the new Truman dates from that speech.

He Is "Clicking"

"The President is clicking," Rep. Cox [D., Ga.] told the house a few hours later. "The speech did not come one minute too soon, for millions were beginning to wonder if the appeasement of Russia would ever stop—if we were going to continue to help her loot and enslave the rest of the world. It should put some iron in the blood of his anemic and colorless state department."

The President received a report on preparations for the meeting here tomorrow of the ten power conference on Japanese occupation policies. Then with advisers, secretaries, and stenographers in attendance, Mr. Truman tackled the speech he will make on the radio tomorrow night, announcing his program for regulation of wages and prices. For three weeks he has been cogitating how to raise wages substantially without compensatory price advances that would push the the spiral of inflation. The speech will be broadcast from 9 to 9:30 p. m. [Chicago time]. W-G-N will be among the stations carrying it.

The President discussed his wage-price plan and also the forthcoming labor-management conference on a strike prevention system with Benjamin Fairless, president of United States Steel, and with William Green, president of the AFL.

Tobin Declines Invitation

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 29 (AP)—Daniel J. Tobin, president of the AFL Teamsters' union, has turned down an invitation from President Truman to confer with him in Washington tomorrow morning because, Tobin said in a message to the White House, threatened work stoppages prevent him from reaching Washington until Nov. 4.

EXPECT ATTLEE TO VISIT TRUMAN ON A-BOMB'S USE

British Hear He May Push Loan Plea, Too

BY E. R. NODERER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 29—Prime Minister Attlee is expected to announce in commons tomorrow that he will fly to Washington, D. C., soon for talks with President Truman on American-British relations. The trip was decided on at a meeting of the British cabinet tonight, political sources reported. An invitation is said to have come from Mr. Truman in advance of his recent speech outlining American foreign policy.

While Attlee is expected to discuss primarily the guardianship of atomic bomb secrets, other problems are likely to be considered.

Palestine Issue May Rise

Among them are British attempts to obtain a huge dollar loan, relations with Russia, the breakdown of the council of foreign ministers and its effect on the international situation, and Palestine and its Jewish immigration.

There are reports in some quarters that Ernest Bevin, foreign minister, may accompany Attlee to Washington, and that Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada may join in the talks.

Some British newspapers, still critical of Mr. Truman's secrecy on the atomic bomb, gave prominence to a warning by the Moscow radio tonight that the bomb could not be made the basis of international relations.

Britain to Begin Research

Attlee told commons today that the British government would set up an atomic research and experimental station near Didcot, Berkshire. The ministry of supply will supervise the research.

Attlee said the government would bear the cost of research, and when a member of parliament suggested this might involve $120,000,000 to $160,000,000 he replied he had been fully informed.

TALKS ON JAPAN TO OPEN TODAY; REDS HOLD OUT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—Plans were completed today for the first meeting of the allied far eastern advisory commission tomorrow without notice Russia would participate.

The major function of the commission is to advise on policies for control of Japan.

There was still time for Russia to declare itself in and designate its Washington charge d'affaires, Nikolai V. Novikov, as Russian representative.

American officials, however, assumed that Moscow was standing on its contention that a four country [United States, Russia, Britain, and China] control council, with actual administrative powers, be established in Tokyo before creation of the advisory commission in Washington.

U.S. ORDERS JAP TRUSTS TO BARE PROFITS OF WAR

TOKYO, Oct. 30 [Tuesday]—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur, pursuing his policy of smashing Japan's Zaibatsu [monopoly owning families] has ordered them to disclose their financial and manufacturing records during the war years 1935 to 1944. The new order demanded exhaustive reports from the 15 top Zaibatsu.

Key individuals, including foreign shareholders, also must be named.

The directive ordered submission of lists of all foreign nationals owning any shares in these companies between 1935 and 1944 and the annual lists of major customers in addition to details on capitalization, balance sheets, property holdings, investments, bank deposits, loans, and major stockholders.

"Big Five" Named

Companies specifically named included the "big five" Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumitomo, Yasuda, and Okura—and Kawasaki, Nissan, Asano holding, Fuji Industrial [formerly Nakajima aircraft], Shibusawa, Nippon Nitrogenous Fertilizer, Furukawa, Nomura, Riken, and Nisso.

Japan's first formal effort to alter an allied directive failed, it was learned from a MacArthur spokesman, when Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida in a personal interview with the allied commander was unable to obtain a change in orders for diplomatic isolation of Nippon.

Spurns Envoy Request

Yoshida visited MacArthur yesterday and formally requested withdrawal of a directive for the recall of all Japanese diplomats abroad and closing of all diplomatic and consular establishments. The directive was issued in Washington, the papers said MacArthur replied, as a result of consultations among the United States, Britain, Russia, and China.

Yomiuri Hochi said the allies made no reply when the Japanese government protested a similar allied order immediately after the surrender on the grounds that it was inconsistent with the Potsdam declaration.

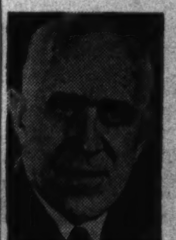
Demand Ex-Official

The Japanese government has been instructed to turn over to American occupation officers Genki Abe, home minister in Premier Suzuki's last war cabinet. Abe was instrumental in formation of the "thought police."

He is expected to be turned over to intelligence officers and placed in Omori prison, where numerous other former high officials, held for trial as suspected war criminals, are held.

ATOM DEFENSE SEEN IN BREAKUP OF LARGE CITIES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—A suggestion that in this atomic age America may have to break up its big cities and scatter them over the landscape was laid before senators today.



Dr. William F. Ogburn

"If an agreement not to use the bomb fails, then there is another way out, namely, to scatter the urban population," Dr. William F. Ogburn, a sociologist of the University of Chicago, asserted.

Ogburn and other social scientists testified in support of a proposed national research foundation backed with federal funds. They asked particularly that the social sciences—sociology, psychology and the like—be aided as well as physical sciences.

Ogburn told a joint senate military commerce subcommittee holding hearings on the research proposal that "it would not be a bad idea to have social scientists work in finding out all about how our urban population from very large cities might be dispersed, slowly or rapidly, to greater or lesser degree further into the interior."

He said that to wait until atomic war breaks out, would be too late. To decentralize big cities in peace time would be a stupendous job, Ogburn conceded, "but if we do not scatter them they may be destroyed with a few bombs."

U.S. Is Breaking Up Its Army Too Fast, Says Gen. Marshall

New York, Oct. 29 (AP) — Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, said tonight that demobilization in the United States has become "disintegration not only of the armed forces but apparently of all conception of world responsibility."

In a speech delivered before the New York Herald Tribune Forum, Marshall said "It is certain that the military establishment cannot hope to insure the safety of the United States very much longer at the present rate of demobilization unless some permanent peace time program is established and at an early date."

"World Responsibility"

He added:

"For the moment, in a widespread emotional crisis of the American people, demobilization has become, in effect, disintegration not only of the armed forces but apparently of all conception of world responsibility and what it demands of us."

"If we are to nourish the infant united nations organization and thus establish some possibility of a future decent world order," Marshall said, "definite measures must be taken immediately to determine at least the basic principles for our post-war military policy. I have never felt so certain of anything in my life."

Gen. Marshall said that "Just a few months ago the world was completely convinced of the strength and courage of the United States. Now they see us falling back into our familiar peace time habits. We must somehow get it clear in our thinking that the fulfilment of our responsibilities is not some vague mumbo jumbo. It requires positive active effort and sacrifice, and above all it is a continuing process."

Citing slashes in military appropriations at the close of World War I., the chief of staff said:

"It was argued then and it will soon be argued again that the nation's economy cannot stand such military expenditures. Is not that absurd if you consider that the country's economy can better stand expenditures for national security than it can stand defeat or even a victory with a consequent debt of more than three hundred billions?"

Gen. Marshall said that the year that France fell we spent five and a half billions on tobacco and alcoholic products—"about three times the sum we devoted to our precarious national security, even in that most critical hour of world history."

"As late as 1937," the general declared, "we might have convinced the axis gangsters of the complete futility of their preparations by simply matching our 'cigaret money'—using the term figuratively — with expenditures on our national security. I sincerely believe that if we had given our security its proper attention to axis nations would not have started the war."

Demand of Philippines

Philippine President Osmena in a forum speech asked for 20 years of free trade between the islands and the United States.

"We are asking for 20 years of quota-limited free trade with the United States on the basis of the 1940 level—and not a strangulating graduated tax on such trade," he said. "We are asking for fair treatment on war damages, providing just compensation to those who suffered when the war came to Philippine soil protected by American sovereignty."

BRITAIN'S RADIO TRIMS TRUMAN SELF-RULE TALK

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Oct. 29—The British Broadcasting corporation in its home service program, it was noted today, omitted one passage from President Truman's statement of American foreign policy.

Point No. 4 of the speech expressed belief that all peoples prepared for self-government should be allowed to choose their own form of government. The part omitted read, "This is true in Europe, in Asia, and in Africa as well as in the western hemisphere," which could have applied to India, Burma, Malaya, etc.

It was officially explained that the omission was "part of the general scaling down of the whole speech so as to fit it in the time allotted for the news bulletin," and that since "President Truman used the words 'all peoples,' the paragraph was considered redundant."

43 JAP WARSHIPS' HULKS FOUND AT KURE SEA BASE

TOKYO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Sixth army troops occupying Japan's naval base of Kure on the Inland sea reported today they found a scene of ruin dwarfing that of Pearl Harbor.

Forty-three warships, including the battleships Ise, Haruna, and Hyhuga, five aircraft carriers, and six cruisers, were battered into hulks by the air strikes of the United States 3d fleet.

They found 106 ships of all descriptions still serviceable, but not one was a capital ship.

REVEALS LAVAL WROTE APOLOGY FOR HIS ERRORS

PARIS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Pierre Laval raced with death to complete a documentary apology for the "errors of judgment" which led him to dishonor, a reliable source disclosed today.

In 1940, when the collaborationist government was formed after France's collapse, "I was unaware of how far the savagery of the [nazi] regime could go," Laval admitted in a paper written in his cell shortly before his execution on Oct. 15.

"If the Germans had invented the atomic bomb first and won the war I would be treated as a man entitled to his country's recognition. I prefer not to have been that man," the former Vichy chief of state wrote.

CHANDLER OFF TO TAKE OVER BASEBALL POST

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—Sen. Chandler [D., Ky.] said goodby to the senate today to take on full time the job of baseball commissioner which club owners voted him last April 24.

But the Kentuckian told the colleagues with whom he has served since 1939 that he isn't foreclosing the possibility that he some day may be one of them again.

"At least for the present," he declared, "This is my last day in the senate." He hastened to add, however, that he thought no man of 47 ought to say that he never intends to return to public office.

Tells Obligation to Game

As for baseball, Chandler hung up this slogan:

"My highest obligation to baseball is to keep it honest, clean, and fair, and that is what I propose to do."

Chandler told reporters later he was mailing his resignation today to Gov. Simeon S. Willis of Kentucky. The vacancy is expected to become official Thursday.

Willis, a Republican, will appoint Chandler's successor. Or the governor may wait until he has completed two full years in office, resign and be appointed to the senate by the lieutenant governor. If Willis resigns before Dec. 7, when the two years are up, a special election will be necessary to fill the governorship.

In any event, Chandler seemed likely to be succeeded by a Republican, raising that party's strength in the senate to 40, as compared with 55 Democrats and one Progressive.

Gives Senate Advice

Chandler ended his swan song with this advice to the senate:

"Fortify Alaska. If we ever have another war, it will come from that direction.

"Keep MacArthur in Japan until the peace is definitely won."

KILL JOBS ONCE HELD NECESSARY FOR GERMAN LIFE

Millions Are Thrown Out of Work

BY LARRY RUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 29—If one made a list of the leading industries in a big American city, computing the numbers employed and their payroll, and other shops dependent on that, and then imagined these industries removed or destroyed, a fair picture might be obtained of what has gone on thruout Germany.

Germany was one of the most highly industrialized nations in the world. It has been stressed over and over again that Germany must have a substantial volume of exports, and food from abroad. A large number of Germans, it is argued, must find industrial employment or they will starve.

The Morgenthau plan for de-industrialization already has literally thrown millions out of productive jobs, and there is still no sign of any concerted plan to reëstablish the essential peace time industry vital to German existence.

Bremen Industry Example

For example, the population of the Bremen enclave before the war was dependent for its livelihood mainly on shipping and fishing. The sailors left their families there. The shipbuilding industry not only employed numerous workers directly, but indirectly gave jobs to thousands of others making equipment from electrical appliances to tableware.

Russia already has asked for, and, as far as anyone knows, is getting the famous Deschimag Weser shipyards.

The mere closing down of these yards in peace time would be sufficient to produce a major economic crisis in the enclave. But no one knows yet where those skilled workers—riveters, electricians, engineers, architects, carpenters, and other craftsmen—will be absorbed in the new economy.

What is happening in Bremen is happening all over the country. The destruction of the I. G. Farben plants alone would have proved a major economic disaster to Germany before the war. What it means now, with the country reduced to a complete state of chaos by occupation and dismemberment, no one knows.

The Germans who now may be called gainfully employed, producing coal, steel, and other items, are mostly on the burgomeisters' payrolls, for their production is absorbed in serving or maintaining the armies of occupation. They are being paid in marks, which already are inflated to an unknown value.

One of the highest American authorities on finance in Berlin said, "We don't know how many marks the Russians have printed, and we sometimes doubt if they know themselves."

See Competitor Removed

Another American officer said that he had seen two hundred mark bills printed from plates which were handed to the army by the United States treasury, all the bills bearing the same serial number.

The de-industrialization policy for Germany was decided on years ago as an effective method of preventing the Germans from rearming for another war. But the invention of the atomic bomb has revolutionized modern welfare, and there is the thought in many minds that the ruthless carrying out of this program has other purposes than to destroy German war industry.

At one time it was appreciated that by destroying German industry, one great competitor would be removed from world markets. Indeed, Germany herself might become a market of sorts for the very articles she used to make.

But faced with the prospect of complete German disaster, even the British tune has changed. The ruthless carrying out of the de-industrialization policy has evoked the comment that it "approximated closely to cutting off one's nose to spite one's face."

Mrs. Edna May Milkevitch Sutfin, 32, of 7227 Cottage Grove av., yesterday appeared before Judge Frank M. Padden in Superior court and volunteered to accept a reduction from $20 to $12.50 in support payments made by her former husband, Paul J. Milkevitch, 33, a trolley pilot. She told Judge Padden that she was making the unusual gesture to help Milkevitch "get back on his feet financially." She also said she would forget about $450 that Milkevitch was in arrears. The payments were ordered for Milkevitch's two children, Marie Ann, 11, and Paul Jr., 4, whose custody was awarded their mother when she won a divorce Nov. 28, 1944.

TWO NAZI CHIEFS NAME LAWYERS FOR WAR TRIAL

NUERNBERG, Germany, Oct. 29 (AP)—Two of the top ranking Nazi leaders charged with war crimes selected defense counsel today as the international war crimes tribunal met to outline procedure for the trial, scheduled to open Nov. 20.

Justice Geoffrey Lawrence, British judge for the trial, was selected permanent court chairman.

Justice Jackson, chief United States prosecutor, said there was no decision yet on whether the defendants would be arraigned on their indictments before the opening date. He said if death sentences are pronounced on those convicted the allied control council in Berlin would decide the manner of execution, either by hanging or shooting.

Franz von Papen, former ambassador, known as the "Sly Fox" of nazi diplomacy, chose a Dr. Kubuschot of Honnef-on-the-Rhine as his counsel, and Baldur von Schirach, Hitler's Youth leader, selected Fritz Sauter, prominent Munich lawyer.

AMG RESTORES GERMAN SOCIAL INSURANCE PLAN

BERLIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—The American military government tonight announced restoration of a broad program of social insurance in western Germany, following abolition of Nazi party and German army "free lists." The order reëstablished health insurance, workmen's compensation and pensions for widows, orphans and aged persons "insofar as German funds are available."

Capt. Denis A. Cooper, military government spokesman, said a previous order had eliminated free health insurance for Nazis and German military personnel, together with disability compensation and pensions for the latter. Persons in these categories still have health insurance, he said, but they must pay their own premiums.

The military government ordered medical and dental associations reorganized in pre-Hitler form.

U. S. FACES CARE OF TWO MILLION MORE GERMANS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 29—The prospective arrival in the United States zone of occupation of 2,000,000 Germans from Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Hungary has raised a number of problems, the most urgent of which concerns their food.

As the situation is now they can be fed only by reducing the present low caloric ration by more than 15 per cent or by importing at least 500,000 tons of food from the United States. Public health experts here say that the proposed lowering of the ration would give the average consumer in the American zone about 1,150 calories a day during the winter. That figure is too low to insure resistance to disease and greatly strengthens the probability of pestilence and civil disorder in a population then swollen to more than 20,000,000.

Even More to Feed?

There is a good chance that the United States zone may have more than an extra 2,000,000 mouths to feed. The other three occupying powers, which have agreed to divide up an estimated 12,000,000 Germans in three countries, already are balking at fixing the number each of their zones is to assimilate and are pleading that there is neither food nor shelter for them. If developments follow the usual pattern it will be the United States zone which will receive those extra hundreds of thousands which the other zones cannot accommodate.

Trouble already has arisen in completing the transfer of Germans from Austria to their old homes in the British and French zones. A reliable source said there are 53,000 Germans waiting at camps and aboard trains to enter the British and the French zones.

Russian Exchange Takes Time

The Russians are accepting Germans from Austria on a "man for man" basis. They transfer Germans expelled from Poland to the United States zone and accept Germans from Austria in return. This procedure takes time and there are still about 21,000 Germans backed up on each side of the line of demarcation between the two zones.

Germans seeking entrance into the British and French zones are not moving at all, this source said. The British and French, altho they agreed to a transfer in principal, are not attempting to implement it in practice, he said. As a result, Germans shiver on trains near the borders or sit in camps on the road to the British zone and close to the border of the French zone.

GERMAN BOARDS HELD KEY TO U. S. DENAZIFICATION

BERLIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—Long-range success or failure of the rigorous American denazification policies in western Germany was authoritatively described tonight as resting primarily with German review boards set up to "rectify errors and injustices."

These boards, authorized on Oct. 6, consist of three or more Germans of "moral and political integrity." They have the authority to hear appeals of individuals affected by law No. 8, which ordered all Nazi party members in business and industry reduced to common laborers.

The last clause in the law "gives discharged persons the right to appeal to the local office of the military government, with a claim that they were not actively engaged in any activities of the Nazi party or of its affiliated organizations," officers said. Hundreds of boards are reported to have been named in the American zone of occupation.

British Children Riot Over Chance to Buy Fireworks

LONDON, Oct. 29—A shop in Nottingham advertised a sale of fireworks for this morning. Children lined up in a rain for two hours and then rushed the doors and broke the windows. Police were called to disperse them and the sale was abandoned for the day.

VARGAS, BRAZIL'S PRESIDENT SINCE '34, QUITS OFFICE

High Court Justice Takes Over Post

Army troops with full equipment were stationed in front of the ministry of war. Armored cars with machine guns massed near the center of the city.

United States naval authorities ordered all American naval personnel from the streets.

Vargas seized power in Brazil in 1930 and became president four years later under a new constitution. His term as president was the longest in the nation's history.

In the years he headed Brazil he weathered three uprisings, declared a second republic, promulgated two constitutions, and established a tight, centrally controled government.

Short and Swarthy, Vargas was born April 19, 1883, in the village of Sao Borja, Rio Grande do Sul, on the Uruguay river.

In 1927 he became state president of Rio Grande do Sul, where he founded a model state bank. Three years later he led the armed uprising which placed him at the head of the hemisphere's largest nation and its estimated 44,000,000 people.

Abolished Political Parties

His first four years were as discretionary chief of a provisional goverment. Then came a new constitution, hailed as setting up Brazil's "second republic." In 1937, however, he scrapped congress on grounds that political bickering had impeded orderly government.

Then Vargas established the present government — estado novo, or new state. Political parties were abolished, elections were suspended, government control was centralized, and Vargas announced he would appoint all state governors.

The new constitution promulgated at this time never was submitted to a plebescite, since Vargas declared a state of emergency in 1938, following an uprising which reached the very gates of the presidential palace.

He announced last March that elections for president and a constituents assembly would be held early in December and that he would not be a candidate.

This launched the first open political activity in the country since 1937, when Vargas broke up a bitter presidential race in a bloodless army-backed coup.

'TRIED TO AVERT ELECTION'

BY STANLEY JOHNSTON

The downfall of President Getulio Vargas yesterday, after 14 years as virtual dictator of Brazil, apparently was due to his attempts to avoid holding promised presidential elections just as he had done once before.

I was in Brazil in September and early October when developments leading to the present upset were taking shape and attended the Oct. 3 meeting of the Constituinte movement which Vargas hoped would rally sufficient support of his intention to again postpone the long promised elections.

Vargas had promised to hold the elections on Dec. 2. At that time the people were to vote for a president and members of the senate and chamber of deputies. It would have been the first such election since 1931.

Backed by Council

The Constituinte plan was to oppose an election for president but to hold an election to name members of a legislative assembly. Advocates contended it was necessary to have such an assembly adopt a constitution before holding elections for president. This would have maintained Vargas in power for at least another year.

As these plans were at their height, heads of the army decided to take action. On Sept. 28, 17 generals, led by Gen. Valentine Benicio, commander of the important Rio de Janeiro garrison, requested Dr. Saopalo Doria, head of the electoral council, to convene a meeting of his group and decide whether it was necessary to first elect a legislative assembly or if they could hold the elections as originally planned. The council ruled that the elections could be held.

The generals then served notice on the minister of war that if the elections were not held as planned, the army would take over the country and hold them.

CHARGES NAVY HIDES HEROISM OF LINDBERGH

Editor Reports Many Feats Fighting the Japs

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29—[Special]—The navy department is "sitting on the lid" of one of the war's best stories in withholding recognition of the combat record of Charles A. Lindbergh, whose aerial feats against the Japs awed even our own flyers, according to Frank C. Waldrop, managing editor of the Washington Times-Herald.

Tho 43 years old and officially only a civilian test pilot, the famous flyer has been credited by returning veterans with downing five enemy planes and voluntarily going on perilous bombing raids, Waldrop said in a column in his paper.

Services Won't Talk

Both war and navy departments refuse to disclose anything about the activities in which Lindbergh distinguished himself both as a fighter pilot and as a bomber, the editor said.

He added that the navy department recently stated that "Lindbergh was never in the naval service and the department has no record of what he did in the war, except work as a civilian technician for the United Aircraft corp., of Hartford, Conn."

"Which statement," Waldrop commented, "is not even a clever way of lying with a twist of the technical truth."

Courage and Integrity

"Before Pearl Harbor, "Waldrop recalled, "Lindbergh was a member of America First and a critic of the Roosevelt foreign policy. It was the first political action he had ever undertaken and his performance in it was one of high courage and integrity in the face of poisonous abuse led and paced by the late F. D. Roosevelt.

"Mud was slung at Lindbergh by the barrel—with the barrel still on—but he never flinched and none of the mud ever stuck . . .

"During the political dogfighting in Washington before Pearl Harbor, Lindbergh was driven by Roosevelt, personally, to hand in his commission as a colonel of the army air forces reserve."

Silent—as Always

After Pearl Harbor, Waldrop recalled, Lindbergh disappeared from public view and it was only faintly noticed that he had gone somewhere as a technical adviser to the fighting forces. Lindbergh himself remains silent, "as always," and United Aircraft says only that he worked in both the Atlantic and Pacific, Waldrop said.

But "stories trickling back" credit him with knocking down five enemy planes, the editor declared, adding that this "of course was off the record because he was a civilian and 'noncombatant.'"

Tho pursuit flyers are considered overage at 28, the 43 year old Lindbergh would take off in a Corsair or other fighter plane and go out into enemy territory looking for a scrap, according to onlookers, Waldrop reported.

A Bombing Exploit

Lindy's most famous bomb run, the editor related, was when he took off on a Marshall Island runway with three times the normal bomb load. But he made it, "while hardened marine pilots watched from cover." The bombs jammed when he first tried to release them, Waldrop said, and when they did let go their great weight carried with them bomb racks and all wing bomb attachments.

Many of the bomb runs were made in the Marshall's area, where there was much flak. His fighter feats were in the Bougainville, New Britain, region, according to the reports, Waldrop said.

"It is time something is done to acknowledge Lindbergh's war record," the editor declared. "His rank should not only be restored but also a promotion granted for services rendered the public in wartime. Who has the courage in congress to demand it?"

BABY'S HEART OUTSIDE CHEST, BUT HE LIVES

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 29 (AP)—A six pound boy, born with his heart outside his chest wall, was still alive at a hospital tonight, 24 hours after his birth.

The baby was placed in an incubator immediately after birth. Because of the exposed nature of the heart, it was kept warm by a saline solution and was fed oxygen continuously. As soon as the child's condition will permit, an effort may be made to put the heart in its proper place, it was said.

Such births are called ectopic cordis. Medical authorities said they are rare. They said the fact that the baby has lived more than 12 hours also is considered extraordinary.

Arrested on information obtained by a government agent disguised as a printer, Frank Kendall, 48, of 7038 Eberhart av.; Julius [Limpy] Schultz, 47, of 2049 Cermak rd., and Miss Rose Wotcik, 35, also of 2049 Cermak rd., were charged yesterday with conspiring to counterfeit sugar ration coupons.

Asst. U. S. Atty. William J. McCormack, appearing before U. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, said Schultz served 44 months in a federal prison for counterfeiting and Kendall served a sentence for armed robbery. The two ex-convicts and Miss Wotcik pleaded not guilty and the case was continued to Nov. 16. Bonds were set at $7,500 each.

The three defendants were seized in a north side tavern after they gave the disguised agent photographic plates for printing sugar stamps and paid him $250. The transaction was witnessed by seven other agents, McCormack said.

ASSERTS BRITISH REGIME'S FATE RESTS IN STRIKE

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—A spokesman for 40,000 striking dock workers told the British Labor government today it must either "intervene or perish," as Britain's most serious port tie-up in 20 years entered its sixth week with no sign of settlement.

Frank Campbell, chairman of the Liverpool strike committee, exhorted strikers to hold out until their demands for a guaranteed $5 a day wage are met.

"We have fought for five weeks and we are prepared to fight to the bitter end," he said. "The government—whether it likes it or not—will intervene. They will be forced to intervene or perish."

The unauthorized strike, now affecting nearly every port in the country, reached a stalemate when the dockers refused to negotiate thru unions recognized by the government.

'WHY AM I STILL HELD?' AMERICAN TYLER KENT ASKS

BY GRAHAM MILLER

[By Wireless to the New York News and The Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Oct. 29—Tyler Kent, American citizen held for over five years in English jails for betrayal of official secrets to the enemy, today told me he had applied twice within the last fortnight for release under habeas corpus writs and that so far there had been no reply and no redress. His sentence expired on Oct. 4.

Kent, a code clerk in the American embassy in London, was sentenced in a British court on Oct. 28, 1940, on a secret conviction of larceny of an embassy document and of obtaining and communicating documents which might be of value to the enemy and prejudicial to the interests of the state.

It has been charged that in October, 1939, the courtesy of American codes was extended to Winston Churchill, then first lord of the admiralty. Thereafter there were many exchanges of messages between Churchill and President Roosevelt, many of them decoded by Kent.

"We Could Control World"

In one message Churchill was alleged to have said, "Were I to become prime minister we could control the world." Others concerned secret promises allegedly made before Pearl Harbor by the late President Roosevelt to Churchill that the United States would enter the war.

Kent today spoke as a man might who is learning to talk again after having been shellshocked or shipwrecked. He ran his fingers thru his short brown hair and his blue eyes flickered incessantly from the top of the wooden table in his cell to the impassive warder standing and jingling keys outside.

He was talking to the second person in five years who was not a warder, a detective, or a lawyer. He was ill at ease, bewildered to see a stranger, and afraid.

Protests Still Being Held

"I don't want to make a statement—that's the last thing I want to do until I'm out of here. If you quote me for something they don't like, God knows when I'll get out," he said.

"I've no complaints—I'm in no position to complain about the broad issues of my case, but there's one immediate issue that nothing's going to stop me from complaining about. My complaint is this:

"Why is it that altho my sentence expired on Oct. 4 I'm still being held in prison? I was told that I should be released and deported. I was promised that I should be out of here and aboard a ship due to sail on Oct. 11. That was canceled—I don't know why. Then I was told that a boat would be sailing on Oct. 19. That, too, was canceled and I'm still here."

Sees Strong Influences

The only other nonofficial Kent has seen in five years has been a young, dark haired girl, who has visited him at every opportunity and has written him every week. This girl, who was with Kent when he was arrested, told me Kent believes he received a heavy sentence and is being kept in prison now because strong influences in America wish him to be gagged. She showed me a letter from Kent's mother in Washington, D. C., which said, in part:

"There's a strong feeling here that the American government is putting pressure on the British to keep Tyler imprisoned as long as possible. Since [President] Roosevelt's death the kindly feeling towards Tyler has grown amongst people."

TRY TO KEEP GIs OUT OF ITALY'S BLACK MARKETS

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ROME, Oct. 29—Scenes such as these are being enacted every day in Rome:

"Do you have American dollars to sell?" a middle aged Italian furtively asks a soldier. "I will give you 300 lire for a dollar."

An Italian youth sidles up to an officer coming out of the American post exchange, points to the package the officer is carrying, and offer "2,500 lire for the shoes you just bought."

"Cigarets, cigarets," another Italian pleads to a GI. "Here are 300 lire for a pack of cigarets."

Face Court-Martial

Many shady bargainings like these have been engaged in by American soldiers and Italian civilians. And there will continue to be. But army authorities are doing all they can to eliminate this form of black marketing and the soldier who is caught faces a court-martial.

All American dollars are ordered to be turned into lire at the official rate. This does work a definite hardship as the dollar is certainly worth more than 100 lire [the published black market value is between 330 and 340] and the American has his buying power cut more than two-thirds.

Cigarets a Prime Item

Cigarets are the prime bartering item. The ration is a carton a week. Many Americans find this insufficient for their own needs. Light smokers and those who don't smoke at all dispose of their cigarets at the bumper price.

One type of deal in cigarets which the army can't stop, and even winks at, involves the direct trading for a civilian shop item. A merchant, for instance, displays a piece of jewelry for which he asks 6,000 lire. At the official exchange rate that is $60; the value is about a third of that.

The merchant, however, will take three cartons of cigarets for the jewelry. So, if the soldier has that quantity of cigarets available he will be getting for $1.50 [at the post exchange cigaret value] an item priced at $60 and worth $20.

STRIKE OF 13,000 HITS INDUSTRY ON WEST COAST

Milk Shortage Threat Looms in Bay Area

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 29 (AP)—The roaring clatter in San Francisco area industrial plants and shipyards was quited today as AFL and CIO machinist strikers began picketing nearly 180 companies in the first major industrial disturbance here since before the war.

About 13,000 machinists were out in the joint strike. Office workers reported at the affected plants but some were shut down.

One of the immediate results of the strike for a 30 per cent pay increase was the possibility of a milk shortage in the bay area. The shutdown at the American Can company plant stopped manufacture of the major portion of paper cartons in which about 50,000 gallons of San Francisco's daily 80,000 gallons of milk are delivered.

Other Firms Picketed

There was only one report of violence. AFL and CIO pickets staged two fist fights at the Graham Ship Repair company in Oakland.

Besides the shipyards and industrial plants, several other companies hiring machinists were picketed.

A Bethlehem Steel company spokesman said 33 navy and private ships were tied up by the strike in that company's yards here and in Alameda.

Troops Still Move

Movements of troop, hospital and supply ships were continuing.

Ed Dillon, San Francisco lodge 68 business agent, said 45 firms had agreed to the union's demands before the strike and two more signed up this morning. These shops were not struck.

The machinists want an increase from $1.28 an hour to $1.65 in basic journeymen's scale, with proportionate increases in other classifications.

2,000 LEAVE JOBS

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 29 (AP)—Approximately 2,000 employes at the Aluminum Ore company plant here walked off their jobs late today and threw a picket line around the plant.

Arthur Hanks, president of the AFL Aluminum Workers, local 18,780, said the workers objected to a demand for increased productivity which he said the company made in offering a 10 cent an hour wage increase.

At Little Rock, Ark., C. A. Learnard, manager of plants operated by the Aluminum Company of America in Arkansas, said the East St. Louis walkout had caused 350 workers at the Bauxite, Ark., mines to be laid off. Learnard said the men were dismissed because the East St. Louis plant would not receive any further shipments of raw ore.

The union had asked for a 30 per cent wage increase in the East St. Louis plant following resumption of a five-day week in place of six. Present wages run from 79 cents an hour to $1.13, Hanks said.

UNION CHARGES LOCKOUT

New Orleans, La., Oct. 29 (AP)—Approximately 2,000 workers stayed away today from their jobs at Higgins Industries, Inc., here, declaring they had been "locked out by the company's declaration of an open shop."

"This is not a strike," Jack Rawls, vice president of the New Orleans [AFL] Metal Trades council, asserted in a statement. "We've been locked out. We will not return until Higgins is ready to deal with proper union representatives."

Andrew J. Higgins, president of the firm which has built thousands of war craft, had returned from Washington, where he walked out on a hearing of the war labor board a few days ago. At the hearing in Washington Higgins said he would no longer deal with the unions under contracts which he said had expired and which the WLB had ordered continued temporarily pending negotiations on new contracts.

ASK STEEL STRIKE VOTE

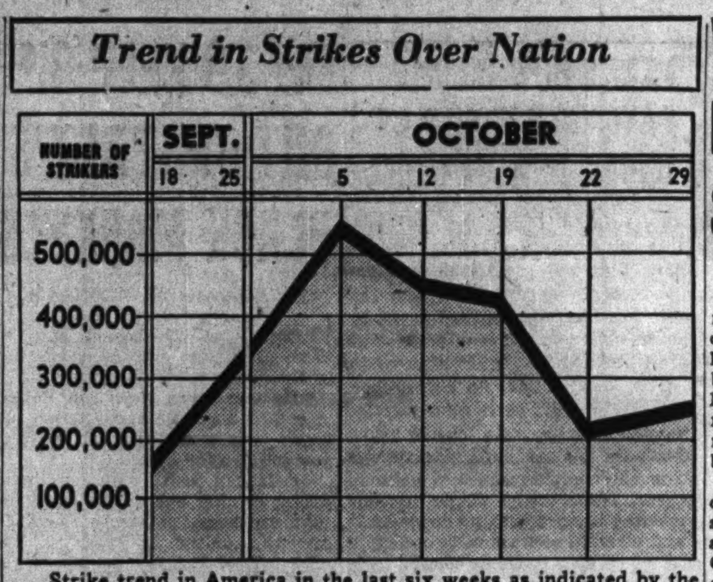
Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 29 (AP)—Bethlehem Steel company today rejected a demand of the CIO United Steel Workers of America for a $2 a day general wage increase, and the union asked for a strike vote thruout the industry.

Bethlehem, the second largest steel company, said the demand would cost the company fifty million dollars a year and could not be met without increased prices.

United States Steel corporation and subsidiaries, and two independents—Youngstown Sheet & Tube company and Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation—already had rejected the demands.

The steel workers filed notice in Washington with the national labor relations board of a dispute with 766 steel, iron ore and aluminum companies, involving 600,000 employes, and asked a strike vote Nov. 28.

The union's demand for a 25 cent an hour increase would mean an increase of 37½ cents an hour for all hours worked in excess of 40 hours a week, the company said.



Strike trend in America in the last six weeks as indicated by the number of men on strike each week.

STRIKE VOTE SOUGHT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—The Western Electric Employes' association today petitioned the national labor relations board for a strike vote at Western Electric plants in the Kearny, N. J., area.

An NLRB examiner previously described the association as a company dominated union. The group is affiliated with the National Federation of Telephone Workers, an independent union.

The request for a strike vote under the Smith-Connally war labor disputes act said that negotiations with the company over the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage increase had broken down.

A report by Trial Examiner Charles W. Whittemore, recommending dissolution of the association, has not been acted upon by the board.

BARGAINING AGENT NAMED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—The national labor relations board today announced certification of the AFL painters' unit as bargaining agent for set decorators at eight Hollywood movie studios. This was a strike issue for eight months.

The painters' unit and the AFL International Alliance of Stage Theatrical Employes started arguing last March over jurisdiction of 77 set decorators. This led to the strike, which was just settled last week.

ELECTRIC UNION TO FILE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 29 (AP)—The negotiating committee of the CIO Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union tonight authorized filing a strike vote petition which a union spokesman said would affect 102,000 workers in 34 Westinghouse Electric corporation plants in 25 cities.

The decision to go to the national labor relations board came as a swift reaction against the company's rejection earlier today of the union's demand for a $2 a day pay raise.

W. G. Marshall, Westinghouse vice president in charge of industrial relations, said the unions demand would cost the company 135 million dollars a year, and added:

"Westinghouse wages today are among the highest in the industry. It is impossible for the company to absorb a $2 a day increase without increasing prices to pay for it."

Matthews said the strike vote would affect employes in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Maryland, West Virginia, Michigan, Illinois, and California.

UAW EXPECTS FORD STRIKE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 29 (AP)—Preliminary balloting conducted by the union indicates Ford Motor company employes will approve strike action by a wide margin when they vote under government auspices Nov. 7, the CIO United Automobile Workers reported today.

Richard T. Leonard, national director of the union's Ford department, said more than 60 per cent of the company's workers have been polled, of whom 95 per cent voted for a strike. The remainder will cast union ballots before the National Labor Relations board vote, he added.

Leonard said negotiations with the Ford company, originally scheduled for early next month, have been moved back to Nov. 20.

5 MORE CENTERS REPORTED READY TO TIE UP WIRES

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 29 [Special]—The movement to silence the wires of the Western Union telegraph company for five hours Friday afternoon reportedly spread to five more centers today.

Robert Cartwright, chairman of the Detroit local of the AFL Commercial Telegraphers' union, which initiated the movement in a protest against an increase of 4 cents an hour in wages granted CTU members by the war labor board, said he had received "the good news" from Boston, Hartford, Conn., Washington, Green Bay, Wis., and a New York City local.

These cities were added to a list which already included Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Minneapolis, St. Louis, and Newark. The assurances from these locals, however, were limited to the predictions of officials that the members would vote this week to take part in the stoppage.

CONTINUE NEGOTIATIONS

Nine hundred members of the Western Union division, Chicago local No. 1 of the AFL Commercial Telegraphers' union, voted last night to continue their wage increase negotiations with the company until Nov. 15. If a favorable decision is not obtained by that date, the local agreed to conduct a poll on the proposition of a 5 hour strike on Nov. 23, said B. A. Moch, local president.

BARRETT TELLS AFL CONTROLS MUST BE LIFTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 29—Coöperation of industry, labor and the farmer and the removal of communism, racketeering, and government controls of labor will assure a quicker post-war prosperity, Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett, told the opening session of the 63d annual convention of the Illinois State Federation of Labor.

Speaking to the 1,200 delegates who represent 750,000 members of the American Federation of Labor in Illinois, Barrett advocated the immediate lifting of government controls over labor and industry and a return to the American free enterprise system.

"We can never maintain a free enterprise system in America if labor is shackled, nor can we do so if industry is shackled," the attorney general said.

He added: "When industry is permitted a reasonable increase in prices for increased costs then labor-industry strife will disappear."

The Most Rev. James A. Griffin, Roman Catholic bishop of Springfield, told the delegates that organized labor has been given a black eye by the presence in its ranks of "profiteering labor organizers, of graft tainted walking delegates or out-and-out racketeers."

VIRKUS CHARGES PARLEY IGNORES SMALL BUSINESS

BY GEORGE TAGGE

Exclusion of small business spokesmen will cause the nation to discount in advance the results of the labor-management conference called by President Truman to start next Monday in Washington, D. C., Chairman Frederick A. Virkus of the Illinois legislative commission on small business said yesterday.

Illinois was almost ignored in casting the performers in the big show which is being ballyhooed as an answer to the strike problem. Only one of the 36 delegates and alternates for management is an Illinoisan—John Holmes, president of Swift & Co.

New York has five delegates and alternates, Pennsylvania has five, Ohio has three, Connecticut and Michigan have two delegates each, Missouri and Washington have two delegates and alternates each, and the District of Columbia has three alternates.

Third in Volume of Goods

Altho given a conference ranking with nonindustrial states, Illinois has the third largest manufacturing volume in the country and leads in the variety of its products. Cook county alone has greater manufactures than any other county in the nation.

Names of a score of qualified spokesmen for management, including small business, were submitted by the Illinois Manufacturers' association to no avail. Opinion in some quarters is that these men are too outspoken for Washington preference.

As head of the state commission on small business, Virkus went to Washington several times recently to demand that direct representation be granted to employers of fewer than 1,000 persons, comprising 92 per cent of all business. Last week he spoke to Secretary of Commerce Wallace about it.

Hurls "Squeeze" Charge

"Wilful omission of any representative of small business means that 45 per cent of all wage earners and their 3,000,000 employers are being deliberately ignored," Virkus said. "Apparently the squeeze is to be put on small business by a combination of big business and big labor unions."

The organizers of the conference are Secretary Wallace, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, and the presidents of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, American Federation of Labor, National Association of Manufacturers, and United States Chamber of Commerce.

Strike stoppages in three major industries — automobile, electrical equipment, and farm machinery — would directly affect from 90,000 to 100,000 suppliers and countless thousands of dealers, Virkus said.

"How can lasting value be expected from a labor-management conference from which the majority of our business life is barred?" he said.

"Many members of the Conference of American Small Business Organizations already are discounting the meeting as another of those political affairs that can lead only to a Munich of appeasement in which the little fellow gets only crocodile tears."

De Witt Emery, president of the National Small Business Men's association, was reported to be equally exercised about the conference setup. He was on his way to Washington last night.

MURRAY BELIEVES BIG BUSINESS IS ON NATIONAL SITDOWN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 [Special]—Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, said today "big business" appeared to be on a national sitdown strike against labor and that every collective bargaining conference since VJ day to date has been a failure.

This was Murray's reply at a luncheon with newsmen and radio commentators to a question whether he believed the steel industry wanted a strike.

"There has not been," said Murray, "a collective bargaining conference anywhere since VJ-day that has not bogged down. Management does not indicate the slightest disposition to bargain, certainly not in steel." Murray also is president of the United Steel Workers.

Murray said a study made by economists of the office of war mobilization and reconversion showed that the liquid assets of business had increased 27 billion dollars since 1941. He said the downgrading of workers, the reduction in premium wage payments for overtime, and the reduction in excess profits taxes would mean a saving of 24 per cent to American industry.

Head Cold Sufferers Warned Against Hard Blowing

Serious Ear Infection May Result, Authorities Say

Medical authorities warn that hard blowing of the nose during a head-cold period not only aggravates nasal soreness but by a backing-up process may lead to serious ear infection. When nostrils are clogged, the application of a medicated nasal-unguent offers quicker and safer relief. Mentholatum snuffed back helps thin out thick mucus and makes breathing easier. DIVORCE POLICE FROM POLITICS, GUY REED URGES

Crime Commission Finds System Unsound

(This is the ninth of a series of articles in a survey of the Chicago police department, the things it does well, and the things it does poorly, its make-up and recommendations for its improvement.)

BY ORVILLE DWYER

Recent discussions of the police department have convinced the Chicago Crime commission, according to Guy E. Reed, its president, "that whatever there is of failure in the force is based on the unsound system under which it is required to operate."

"Our discussions," said Mr. Reed, "have led us to believe—as any one who studies the department must believe—that the first requisite is an absolute divorcement of politics from the administration of the force.

Political Control Opposed

"All vestige of political control, influence, or interference in the department must be removed. The removal of politics must be supplemented with the following:

"1. Proper selection of personnel.

"2. Proper training of personnel [recruit training, in-service training, etc.] for every member of the department.

"3. Rigid discipline founded on the principles that all promotions are based on merit without political consideration, and that disciplinary action is likewise based on neglect of duty, incompetence, inefficiency, and/or corruption, and that it must be rigid and certain."

Wickersham Findings Cited

The commission, in its considerations of the police, also heard frequently from its operating director, Virgil W. Peterson, who has been in constant touch with conditions on the force. Peterson, Reed said, pointed out that a report made June 26, 1931, by the national [Wickersham] commission on law observance and enforcement, was based on the most exhaustive survey of police departments thruout the country. This report gave several conclusions which still hold good for Chicago.

"The No. 1 conclusion of the Wickersham commission," Mr. Reed said, "was that 'the corrupting influence of politics should be removed from the police organization.' Some of the other conclusions and recommendations were:

"'The head of the department should be selected at large for competence, a leader, preferably a man of considerable police experience and removable from office only after preferment of charges and a public hearing.

Provisions Found in Effect

"'Salaries should permit decent living standards, housing should be adequate, eight hours of work, one day off weekly, annual vacation, fair sick leave with pay, just accident and death benefits when in the performance of duty, reasonable pension provisions on an actuarial basis.' I believe these provisions in Chicago are fairly good and equitable. The Wickersham commission continues:

"'Adequate training for recruits, officers, and those already on the roll is imperative.'

"The report calls for an efficient communications system, including teletype and radio. I am told that in Chicago this also is at least adequate and as modern as may be. The commission said records should be complete and adequate, but as simple as possible. They should be used to secure administrative control of investigations and of department units in the interest of efficiency.

1931 Report Recalled

"Not so long ago I talked with Bruce Smith, who made an exhaustive survey of the Chicago department and reported back in 1931. Many of the changes he suggested, as an expert who had studied police forces all over this country and the world, have never been put into effect.

"The Smith report went so far as to suggest that it was 'quite within the range of possibility that the shortest road to police rehabilitation would involve mustering out the entire personnel and substitution of a new force under new leadership and guided by new statutory arrangements.'

"That suggestion is probably too drastic. There is no reason to believe that if the proper efforts were made a real rehabilitation of the police department could not be accomplished. Some of the steps suggested by Smith certainly should be taken. A citizens' committee raised some $50,000 and spent it to make the Smith survey; it would probably be a good idea, finally, to get some good out of it."

Mr. Reed said he has had several talks with Mayor Kelly concerning the police department. He said the crime commission "is cognizant there are many fine men on the force and that they would do better work if allowed to."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Oct. 30—Columbian Exposition Ends

The daylight waned, the sunset gun boomed, and the flags came fluttering down. The World's Columbian exposition, which had provided so much joy and stimulation during the preceding six months, was closing in gloom and mourning in Chicago on Oct. 30, 1893.

The ceremonies planned for the fair's last day, which were to have included jubilant music, various types of festivity, and congratulatory speeches, were canceled hurriedly when, on Oct. 28, the mayor of Chicago, Carter H. Harrison, was murdered in his home by a demented office seeker.

The closing exercises which were substituted were sober and subdued. They included prayer, the music of a dirge, and resolutions of sympathy to be transmitted to Harrison's family.

Even without the assassination of the mayor, the fair's closing would have been a saddening ceremony despite all the plans of the directors for a joyous farewell. For this was to be the end of the enchanting white city which had arisen as if by magic on Chicago's outskirts and which had dazzled millions of Americans with a type of beauty they had never even imagined.

"We are turning our backs on the fairest dream of civilization," one speaker said, "and are consigning it to the dust. It is like the death of a dear friend. It is like bidding farewell to one's youth. It is like all those times in the life of a man when the thoughts of the present are choked with the emotions of the past."

Stenographer Reports Being Seized in Park

Mrs. Jean McGann, 27, of 3641 S. Hamilton av., a stenographer, told police yesterday a man seized her and dragged her into some bushes in McKinley park, near 37th and Leavitt sts., while she was on the way to work yesterday. When she screamed he fled, she said.

BURGLARS LOOT RESTAURANT

Burglars yesterday smashed the front window of Spector's restaurant at 1259 S. Wabash av., and stole cigars, cigarets, and other loot valued at $309 by the owner, Harry Leffman.

OVERTIME WAGE FRAUDS CHARGED TO PUBLISHERS

Criminal information charging Ziff-Davis Publishing company, 185 N. Wabash av., and four officials of the firm with failure to pay overtime wages and with falsification of time cards was filed yesterday before Judge Michael L. Igoe in federal District court. It was the first criminal action instituted in the Chicago district by the department of labor for failure to pay overtime. Assistant United States Atty. Raymond L. McClory said stenographers and clerks asserted they worked as much as 56 hours a week for 40 hours' pay.

Bailey Stanton, general counsel of the publishing company, last night termed the government's charges as "vicious and unwarranted." He said the officials were puzzled because inspectors of the wage and hour division of the department of labor last April gave the company "a clean bill of health."

TRUCK DRIVERS ROBBED OF $846

John Gleason, 5648 S. Sangamon st., and John Toporek, 2207 N. Damen av., delivery truck drivers, reported to police that a gunman robbed them of $846 last night while they were counting their receipts outside a cashier's office in the United Parcel Delivery service garage at 401 N. Ogden av.

CAPT. A. B. BARRY TO HEAD POLICE AT WOODLAWN

Capt. Andrew B. Barry, who resigned as supervising captain of the far south side police district, a post he had held for the last six years, was assigned by Commissioner Allman yesterday to command the Woodlawn station.

Capt. Barry said he requested a lighter command on the advice of his physicians. He told Commissioner Allman that his duties as supervising captain were taxing his health. In the Woodlawn district he replaces Capt. Edward J. Kelly, who is on a sick leave.

Commissioner Allman said the south side vacancy will be filled in a few days. Capt. Barry, formerly assigned to Mayor Kelly's office, is a three time winner of the $100 Tribune hero award.

MR. TRUMAN'S FOREIGN POLICY

There is less tinsel in Mr. Truman's prose than in Mr. Roosevelt's, but his ideas are no less fragile. Like Christmas tree ornaments, they are pretty but they won't stand much handling.

Mr. Truman said in his Navy day address [after the second war to end wars] that we must maintain a military establishment a dozen times as big as any we ever had before. We must do this, he explains, for four reasons, only one of which makes any kind of sense.

The first reason is to enforce peace on our defeated enemies, but they have already been disarmed, they are utterly helpless, and can be kept so with a few divisions as long as we or our allies choose to sit on the necks of the conquered.

The second reason is to fulfill our obligation under the San Francisco Charter, but anybody who has read the charter knows that each of the big nations is authorized to veto collective action against itself, and it follows inevitably that the league's military power can be used only against the little fellows. No huge military establishment is required for that.

The third reason is to protect Latin America. From whom? It would have to be a naval power, which means England. Does Mr. Truman think that England is likely to challenge us in the western hemisphere in the foreseeable future?

The fourth reason is to "provide for the common defense of the United States." This does make sense, and it would have made more if Mr. Truman had been more specific about the menace of invasion. It is true that the next aspirant for the role of world conqueror is likely to attack us first in the knowledge, based upon study of the last two wars, that he must knock us out quickly if he is to win; but the threat is not immediate. Russia hasn't the navy, the merchant marine, or the atomic bombs to undertake such a war now or for some years to come, and only Russia has the potential strength to challenge us.

The temptation is to go thru the speech, paragraph by paragraph, to expose its fallacies and frauds. Evidently Mr. Truman wants a gigantic military establishment to use in the first instance as a threat to curb Russian ambitions, and to have it ready for business in Europe or Asia or both, if the threat doesn't work. As usual, a program leading toward war is being advanced without consulting the American people about the matter. Mr. Truman spoke admiringly of Mr. Roosevelt, who maneuvered for war while pledging peace. Now Mr. Truman is playing the same devious game.

Mr. Truman at Potsdam consented to Stalin's aggressions, and now he says we can tolerate no aggression. "We shall refuse," he says, "to recognize any government imposed upon any nation by the force of any foreign power."

Mr. Truman has recognized the bolshevik government of Poland and has sent an ambassador to Warsaw. This was done, not by Mr. Roosevelt, but by Mr. Truman himself. What meaning, then, is to be attached to the statement that he isn't going to recognize such governments when he does recognize them? And, incidentally, what good is to be served by such nonrecognitions? We have tried that game for years, in Manchuria, Ethiopia, and elsewhere, without once getting to first base. The only nonrecognition that might be effective would be directed against the aggressor himself, not his victims. If Stalin needs loans from us, as apparently he does, he might think twice about the withdrawal of recognition from Russia, but he won't worry much about the action Mr. Truman threatens.

The address was concluded with a plea for continued coöperation among the major allies. It was a noble bit of exhortation, but suppose Mr. Stalin, Mr. Attlee, Mr. de Gaulle, and the rest have different ideas. What is Mr. Truman going to do then?

He makes a mistake in placing emphasis upon military power that he and everybody else knows he will be most reluctant to use in central Europe, and the American people will be even more reluctant to let him use. His bargaining position was strong without that. Every nation is panting for loans over here. Every nation needs food, ships, and American built machinery. The lender is always in a position to dictate to the borrower, particularly when there isn't any other lender in sight. Mr. Truman was in the happy position of a merchant in a seller's market. He need not even have raised his voice.

Unfortunately, he frittered away his opportunity. A brutal settlement has been so far advanced in Germany and central Europe generally that it will take statesmanship of a very high order and great skill in diplomacy to undo the evil. Mr. Truman has already consented to arrangements which all but guarantee abject misery to millions and political unrest for generations to come. No wonder he feels the need of tremendous armaments. He ought to know; he and his predecessor and their partners at Yalta and Potsdam created the need.

Somebody has told Mr. Truman that his diplomacy must have as its first aim the perfecting of machinery to enforce peace and as its second aim the maintenance of close coöperation with the allies. It is bad advice because it has permitted him to neglect something which is more important than either, namely, the terms of peace with Germany and Japan.

The one-worlders have sold him a bill of goods. There can be no lasting prosperity and no enduring peace in the world if the political and economic settlements are inherently unlivable, as the terms already agreed upon unquestionably are. No machinery can long keep the peace in these circumstances and no continuing coöperation among the allies is possible. Russian military, political, and economic aggression in middle Europe and the aggressions of the British, French, and Dutch in Asia are tearing the world of the one-worlders apart under their noses.

We are glad to see that Mr. Truman is determined to keep strategic islands and bases. They will be useful even if our foreign affairs are well conducted.

WHERE THE MONEY WILL GO

Hugh Dalton, who as chancellor of the exchequer in Great Britain's Labor government holds a post equivalent to that of our secretary of the treasury, has recommended to parliament a tax reduction program which would free two million low income earners from taxation and reduce the excess profits tax on business. The new rates will correspond fairly closely to those which congress has under consideration here, but it must be remembered that the British, with their central government, put most of their taxes in one basket and don't have to support a multiplicity of state and local governments to the extent that American taxpayers do.

Mr. Dalton told parliament that he has gone slow on tax reductions, intimating that he is waiting to see how Ambassador Halifax and John Maynard Keynes get along with their negotiations at Washington for a 5 billion dollar loan or gift to Britain. Presumably, if those noble lords take home the bacon, the British taxpayer can expect further relief at the expense of his suffering counterpart in this country.

The British say that they have to have gifts—they don't want even to pay interest on loans—from this country if they are to survive. What they mean is that we have to go on supporting them if they are to survive in the style to which they have become accustomed. That is apparent in the expenditures which they are projecting.

While they are asking for money they are getting ready to spend money to build a navy in competition with ours, and to build a merchant fleet in competition with ours, for which they would like us to give them 1,000 ships. They want money to make loans to their colonies in order to preserve empire preference, which means that the colonies would continue to buy British exports and refuse to buy our exports. They want money to assist the Dutch in reconquering Indonesia. They want money to suppress the movements for independence in India and Burma. They want money to give Englishmen Mr. Beveridge's cradle-to-the-grave security—at the expense of American taxpayers.

There is little doubt what the American people think about these presumptuous requests which are presented as demands. The Inquiring Camera Girl got a fair cross section of middle west opinion, at least, the other day when she found only one of the six men she interviewed in favor of the loan, and several of the others were outraged at the threats of a trade war with which the British have emphasized their requests.

That doesn't mean, however, that the British drive in Washington won't be successful. American public opinion and the interests of the American people are likely to be overridden because the state department and the executive department in general are Anglophiles, who consider it their duty to milk the United States for the benefit of "the mother country," and our congressmen haven't gumption enough to stand up for their constituents.

VOTING FOR STRIKES

The employes of General Motors have voted overwhelmingly for a strike. The question was put to them in the following form: "Do you wish to permit an interruption of war production in war time as a result of this dispute?" They said they did.

Obviously the question makes no sense. War production has ceased and these are no longer war times except in a narrowly legalistic sense. The employes of General Motors and of all the other companies where votes have been taken in recent months, have been asked a question which clearly implies that the only good reason for not striking is the necessity of maintaining production in war time. The question itself is an encouragement to strike, now that the war is over.

As a matter of fact, there is no warrant in law for any of these strike votes and the national labor relations board ought to stop wasting the taxpayers' money on them. Section 8 [a] of the war labor disputes act outlines a course of procedure to be followed "in order that the President may be apprised of labor disputes which threaten seriously to interrupt war production and in order that employes may have an opportunity to express themselves, free from restraint or coercion, as to whether they will permit such interruptions in war time."

The statute is plainly dead so far as strike votes are concerned. It expired on the day of the Japanese surrender. There are no more "labor disputes which threaten seriously to interrupt war production." The holding of the elections cannot be justified on the ground that they avoid strikes because they don't. Every recent strike vote has resulted in favor of the walkout.

Why continue this farce? It wastes a lot of money and accomplishes no useful purpose. The probability is that the Smith-Connally law will be repealed or amended before long, but there is no need to wait for that. All the labor board need do is read the act and having read it, throw the petitions for strike votes in the wastebasket for lack of authority to act on them.

The army flying hero, Maj. Gen. LeMay, doesn't want a seat in the senate in these squabbling reconversion days. Probably feels he's been up in the air long enough.—Los Angeles Times.

WATERFRONT MYSTERY

The seacoast of Bohemia, famous for several centuries among the eyebrow-lifters and boner-hunters of the literary world, may be found in its original marine beauty in Shakespeare's "The Winter's Tale," now on exhibition in Chicago. This rugged stretch of shoreline is as popular among bookish humorists as the Swiss navy among wisecrackers on the lower levels of culture. It became slightly outmoded with the discovery of Shangri-La, but we would not have been surprised to find it on an American airplane carrier in the recent hostilities.

* * *

Shakespeare hadn't turned over in his grave more than once, we suspect, before the alleged error became a matter of public comment. In 1618 Ben Jonson, an intellectual browbeater of the first rank, spoke derisively about it to William Drummond, called "of Hawthornden," a Scottish poet, who jotted the remark in his diary: "Shakespeare wanted [lacked] art and sometimes sense, for in one of his plays he brought in a number of men, saying they had suffered shipwreck in Bohemia, where there is no sea near by 100 miles."

* * *

Shakespeare found the Bohemian waterfront in the writing of a better scholar—Robert Greene, from whose fiction he borrowed the plot of "The Winter's Tale." Greene had boasted that he held degrees from two universities, and Shakespeare believed that he was sound in matters of geography.

* * *

Master of arts Greene is, at the moment, this column's favorite character in the underworld of literature, altho he never robbed a church like Villon, or wrote for Hollywood like Oscar Wilde. Therefore we take pleasure in announcing that he was right about Bohemia's temporary possession of a seacoast. By the same token, Shakespeare did not err, and several centuries of light humor should be jettisoned.

* * *

In the middle of the 13th century Bohemia had a king named Premysl Ottakar II. who reigned over a large portion of the present Austria, defeated the king of Hungary in a battle as memorable as last Saturday's victory of Northwestern over Purdue, and extended his sway to that corner of the Adriatic coast where the cities of Trieste, Fiume, and Pola are modern bones of contention.

I, TOO, WILL BEND

I may not like your God, my friend,
But when you kneel I, too, will bend,
If but to bow to that Great One
You credit for the good you've done.

I may not feel your worship true
Has brought about the good in you;
But good there is, and this I know
Because your deeds have told me so.

The man-made differences are weak,
They are not of the God I seek;
But you are part of God, my friend,
And when you kneel I, too, will bend.

Bells for Harvest Time

"Let's mix the wheat with the sound of bells," he said. "But you can't do that!" "Yes, you can. If you are harvesting wheat, and the bells are ringing, the sound will mix with the wheat. You cannot stop it, you know."

Let's ring the temple bells, for it is harvest time, and we shall see the golden sheaves of wheat and the baskets of golden grain quiver to the vibrations of the bells of the temple, and we shall mix the bells with the wheat.

We shall cut down the grain that is mature and ripe, but we shall drop seeds upon the ground, and when spring comes around again it will bring forth wheat, and the story will be told again.

In harvest time let us not be sorrowful. Some one has passed who enjoyed his life, now ended but started again in another place, in another time, in a different way, but each the same.

Let the temple bells ring over the fields of wheat, and let their tinkling sounds mix with the wheat, for it is always harvest time somewhere in the world. Roy Engel

ROAD OF DREAMS

There was a road I used to know—
A bridge, a singing stream;
With meadows rolling past a hill
To skies that held a dream;
And low, green willows caught the gold
That summer sunsets bring,
Where all the soft, sweet winds of dusk
Lingered to sing.

But yesterday I went that way,
With seeking eyes, and slow—
Friends said it was the same old road
I knew in long ago;
But, O, the sunset skies were gray;
The wind sighed overhead—
I looked across an empty hill;
The fields—the dream—were dead.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if a stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

C. H. H. asks: "Can you tell me if a soldier who still is in service, but expects to be released in a couple of months can apply for a civil service job? How does he go about filing the application?"

If you desire to apply for a federal civil service job write to the federal civil service commissioner or the postmaster in the town in which you desire to work. These officials will tell you what jobs are open or will be open and will supply application forms for the examination. If you seek a state job write to the state or city civil service commissioner in the city where you seek employment.

R. L. writes: "My brother just has been discharged from the army. How long does he have to decide whether he wants to take advantage of the college education provision of the GI bill? If he takes a job now and later decides he would rather go to college, can he quit his job and still be eligible for the college education?"

Your brother has two years from date of discharge or two years from the date of termination of the war, whichever is later. The date of termination of the war will be that date on which either the President or congress declares the war to be at end. This may not be until some time in 1946 or 1947. If he goes to work now he may quit at any time to go to college.

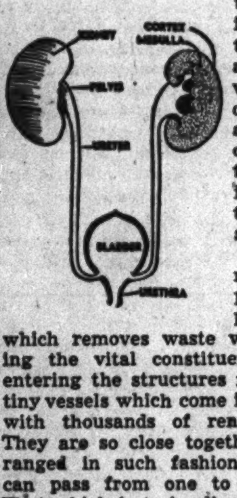
WHAT IS KIDNEY TROUBLE?

The physician has learned, when he is consulted about "kidney trouble," that this term embraces any abnormality of the urinary system. Since there are a host of conditions anywhere along the tract, including the bladder and urethra, which are capable of altering the outflow, a thoro study is needed to locate the source.



The kidneys comprise a complex filter which removes waste without losing the vital constituents. Blood entering the structures reaches the tiny vessels which come into contact with thousands of renal tubules. They are so close together and arranged in such fashion that fluid can pass from one to the other. That which is to be discarded stays in the kidneys but the essential chemicals leave thru the veins to rejoin the circulation. Ultimately the useless products proceed into larger channels and finally arrive in the funnel-shaped area at the central edge of the organs. They are now ready to be sent to the bladder.

From this we can see that the excretory glands consist in general of two parts: the filtering process and the passageways necessary to carry off the debris. Should the "separation centers" become infected the outcome is nephritis, or Bright's disease. In this disorder, the terminal blood vessels are involved and swelling may be so marked that little liquid can seep thru the barriers. In consequence, the tissues pick up fluid, causing puffiness in various parts of the body.

After the malady has subsided the organs may be damaged permanently. Fortunately, this is not the rule. But if the condition exists, material that should be eliminated may collect in the blood with ensuing lassitude, headache, failing vision, high blood pressure, or edema. The chief evidence can be detected in the urine. These patients, altho excreting large amounts, eliminate scarcely any normal waste matter. Albumin, red blood cells, and casts are usually present.

Bacteria also can assail the bladder. As a rule, there is an increased desire to urinate, associated with burning and pain in the lower abdomen. The excreted fluid contains pus cells and, if infection is severe, red corpuscles are often observed. But the microbes may not stop here, for they are prone to wander. Should they attack the ureters and travel upward we are faced with pyelitis.

Symptoms vary, depending upon the extent of the disease. In some cases the patient is acutely ill with high fever, chills, rapid pulse, and prostration. The region of the affected kidney may be extremely tender to the touch. These victims void frequently and the discharge is loaded with pus cells. Others complain of backache.

Infections in this part of the renal tract ordinarily are eradicated by the use of antiseptics. The sulfonamides and penicillin are useful but fail when the causative germ is resistant to these preparations. Here, other methods must be tried. Acidification by means of ammonium chloride or sodium acid phosphate may be successful. Mandelic acid also has proved effective.

Since relapses are not uncommon, particularly during fevers from other illness, it is always wise to have a specimen analyzed from time to time. By keeping up general resistance and clearing up foci of infection, return engagements will be discouraged.

BLOOD TRACE

Mrs. E. writes: Each morning, my young son's pillow slip shows a tinge of blood. Where could this come from? He seems well.

Assuming that there are no external blemishes, a search for bleeding points in the ears, nose, and throat should be made.

TIME

R. B. writes: After an eye hemorrhage, is there anything that will hasten the absorption of blood?

REPLY

After bleeding has stopped, heat may improve the circulation and help to carry off the pigment. In most cases it is better to let nature take its course.

It Couldn't Happen Here.

Around the British war office in London they are telling what they say is the best story of the war:

A young lieutenant was promoted to captain, and by error the date in the London Gazette appeared as April 1, 1041, rather than 1941. That night, during a few pleasant hours at the mess, his fellow officers persuaded him to apply for back allowances and pay. The application was made out on the correct official form, quoting the necessary paragraphs of the King's Regulations, and all adjourned to bed.

Next morning the young officer realized with horror what he had done and was filled with trepidation as to the outcome. A court martial?

Weeks later the reply came:

"Your application for allowances dating back to April 1, 1041, has been found to be in order under paragraph — of King's Regulations, and your account accordingly has been credited with the sum of £39,999.

"You appear, however, to have overlooked paragraph — of King's Regulations, under which a commanding officer is personally responsible for any guns or horses lost in action owing to his negligence.

"The following paragraphs lay it down that if the commanding officer is killed, his responsibility devolves upon the surviving officer next in seniority.

"Your letter proves conclusively that you are the sole survivor of the Battle of Hastings [1066 A. D.], where 20,000 horses of an estimated value of £2 each were lost by negligence.

"The responsibility for payment of £40,000, therefore, falls upon you. I have accordingly adjusted your account to the extent of a net debit of £1."

[Incidental intelligence from our London spy:]

Churchill reportedly was asked by a friend in parliament why he had declined George VI.'s offer to make him a Knight of the Order of the Garter. With mock solemnity the ex-prime minister is said to have replied: "How could I accept the Garter from my monarch when his people had given me the boot?"

In a recent examination a British school girl settled the difference between a king and a president by writing: "A king is the son of his father, but a president isn't."

An American soldier, charged 35 shillings [$7] for a melon in a West End store, paid with two £1 notes and walked away without his change. The girl cashier called after him, "But, sir, you've left five shillings [$1] behind." "Forget it, kid," he replied. "I stepped on a grape."

Only brave men are prepared to lay down precise rules about the way women must wear their hats, but their lordships at the British admiralty apparently feel they measure up to this standard. They recently issued an order to members of the WRENS [Women's Royal Navy Service] that "Blue caps are to be worn fairly well forward and are not to be tilted at an angle of more than 15 degrees either to the left or the right. On occasions of ceremony, the tilt of the cap should invariably be to the right."

This Changing World

Emeline O. D., thumbing thru a 1935 diary, found a pretty commentary on customs long forgotten. A lady down her way [Champaign] was awakened morning after morning by the peck-peck-peck of a woodpecker on a telephone pole near her home. She complained to the telephone company. Nothing gained. She complained to her alderman, demanding removal of the bird or pole or both. Nothing gained. Finally she cornered her landlord. "You do something about that woodpecker, or I'll move out!" she threatened. He did. He shinnied up the telephone pole and nailed a piece of tin over the hole.

OPA AND THE HOUSING SHORTAGE

Chicago, Oct. 27—I was very much interested in the editorial of Oct. 24 entitled "OPA and the Veterans." This editorial contained facts which cannot be controverted.

The OPA has long since outlived any usefulness which its sponsors claimed for it. We have from 40 to 60, or more, persons call at our office daily seeking a place to live, an apartment furnished or unfurnished, a room, a house, anything, any place, where they can house themselves and their children. In more than 35 years of our experience in property management, this is the worst crisis and most serious condition that we have been confronted with.

Immediately after the close of the first World war we started erecting apartment buildings and continued to do so for many years. It is impossible now for any person to construct any apartment buildings under present conditions, high prices of labor and material, and low rent ceilings fixed by the OPA. The owner could not obtain sufficient income to pay the cost of maintenance, taxes, interest on the mortgage, and repairs, to say nothing of any return on the invested capital which he would be obliged to put in the building, and this does not take into consideration any profit for his taking the risk of this undertaking. We cannot see any hope for any relief until OPA rent control is abolished and the law of supply and demand permitted to control.

Chicago, Oct. 22—Here is part of a letter I received from a soldier stationed in England who had just read of the strike in New York:

"I am so mad about those longshoremen striking at home I can hardly think of anything else. I guess they have delayed the shipping of troops back to the United States by better than a month or maybe more, but what do they care whether we ever get home? They have been working all thru the war and have made enough dough to be sitting on easy street. What do they care when we get home and have to start from scratch? I see red every time I think about it. I guess I shouldn't kick too hard, for there are plenty of boys that are a lot worse off than I am, but I still think it's rotten."

Half the time the chow is so bad it's impossible to eat so we practically live on coffee and cigarets, for fear of getting dysentery. Rumors are getting worse and worse because nothing is done to remedy these things. When rumors start to all sound against you, you realize that every guy is so far in the dumps that they can't even think of a good rumor. And that's really bad."

BOONDOGGLING AFTER THE DRAFT

Chicago, Oct. 24—As an 18 year old facing prompt induction into military service, I think I can speak with a certain degree of objectivity concerning the President's recommendation that congress establish unprecedented peace time military training. Since I am about to enter the army regardless of what congress does about this matter, I have no axe to grind, but I do know what the young men who will be affected are thinking.

They realize that at their stage of life a year means an awful lot, and the majority feel that the army cannot teach them enough to occupy them 24 hours a day for 365 days. Veterans say that the basic training recommended by the President can be given in six weeks. Why take a year? If congress is determined to enact military training, why throw away the taxpayers' money to train men for a year when the same results can be achieved in six weeks?

U. S. PROPOSES 'RESERVE' WAR PLANTS IN CITY

Dodge and Buick Engine Shops on List

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29—Plans of the federal government to retain as a peace time reserve several midwestern aircraft engine plants, including the Dodge plant in Chicago, the Buick plant in Melrose Park, Ill. and the Studebaker plant in South Bend, Ind., were given to a senate military affairs subcommittee today.

The proposal included government retention of six airplane engine plants and 10 airframe plants in the interior of the country. They would be kept in standby condition, rented out or operated by the government as part of a plan for the annual production of at least 3,000 military planes. They would be prepared to increase production to war time levels in emergencies.

Indianapolis Plant Included

In addition to the Dodge, Buick, and Studebaker plants, other engine plants which would be part of the reserve program would be the Allison plant at Indianapolis, Ind., and plants at Lockland, O., and Kansas City, Mo. All are owned by the Defense Plant corporation.

Airframe plants — those making aircraft without engines or other operating equipment—which would be in the proposed reserve are at Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex.; Kansas City and Wichita, Kas.; Omaha, Neb.; Tulsa, Okla.; Columbus, O.; Louisville, Ky.; St. Louis, Mo., and Marietta, Ga.

The plant reserve proposal was part of a report made to the subcommittee by the interdepartmental air coördinating committee, headed by Assistant State Secretary Clayton, and composed of the assistant secretaries of air, of war, and navy, the commerce department, and the civil aeronautics board.

Removal Called Essential

Removal of military aircraft production from the militarily vulnerable east and west coasts is essential, the subcommittee was told at a hearing today at which the air coordinating committee plan was unveiled.

George Baker, a state department aid, who, as an army colonel had helped prepare the report, said the aircraft industry must know what is expected of it and that it was up to congress to decide whether the government should order dispersal of military aircraft production. He said it would cost the government between 15 and 20 million dollars to aid west and east coast airplane companies to transfer military production inland.

Baker said the committee had studied the dispersion problem only from the military viewpoint and that congress would have to decide its labor, social, and economic effects.

Further Research Urged

Recommendations of the coördinating committee, given to the senate committee by Assistant War Secretary Lovett, included:

1. Army and navy research and development must not stop with experimental air power weapons. Such weapons must be ready for large scale production.

2. Government policy must be to make surplus aircraft plants available to the aircraft industry on favorable terms "which give recognition to the present low level of production."

3. The army, navy, and other government agencies and industry must make comprehensive preparations for industrial mobilization in the event of war—the army and navy alone could use between 5 and 10 million dollars a year to organize for aircraft production.

4. The war and navy departments should maintain a reserve of 65,000 machine tools.

5. A "highly efficient" intelligence service is required to give the nation advance warning of the possibility of an aggressive attack on this country.

Plans for Douglas Airport

DOUGLAS FIELD VOTED SITE OF CITY'S AIRPORT

Cost of Project Put at 40 Millions

lion dollar bond issue for airport expansion. Some aid has been voted by the state, and federal grants are anticipated.

Landing Fees from Air Lines

City officials said the air lines probably would pay eventually for the Douglas site in landing fees and service charges. They would erect their own hangars, 1,647 acres being available for rental to them. Motorists would reach the terminal area via a tunnel from the northwest super-highway, which must be constructed to eliminate post-war traffic jams.

Chicago airport, at 63d st. and Cicero av., is expected to be outgrown in five years, but would be retained as a frate and air express terminal.

Big Air Increase Expected

Chicago airport uses a pair of parallel runways for its present business, which is 22 to 24 movements an hour on the scheduled peak and up to 40 movements an hour in abnormal conditions. The Chicago field is used by 258 planes a day, some of which continue their flights after short stops, but at present from 50 to 60 planes are often parked on the field at the same time.

An anticipated increase in the number of planes is responsible for the selection of the Douglas site, because it can be expanded if necessary.

BELSEN PRISONERS HIT BACK? GUARDS LAUGH AT THE IDEA

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 29 [Reuters]—Laughter swept thru the dock in Lueneburg courthouse today as 23 year old Frieda Walter, one of the Belsen accused, admitted hitting concentration camp internees.

"No one ever hit you back?" the prosecutor asked? "They would never have dared to," the prisoner replied, and at this rejoinder laughter came from the remaining 44 defendants, all accused of atrocities against concentration camp internees.

While the trial entered its seventh week today, German Social Democrats and Communists deplored its slowness. In Hamburg industrial districts signs have been posted reading: "Death to the Belsen men" and "Hasten justice."

'MERCY' SLAYER OF WIFE FACES MURDER CHARGE

Reading, Pa., Oct. 29 (AP)—John Pattas, 41, steel worker, was charged with murder today in the "mercy" killing of his wife.

Pattas was quoted by Detective Lt. Albert Hoffman as saying he fired a bullet into the head of his wife, Helene, 40, because he "couldn't stand to see her suffer" from cancer.

Mrs. Pattas was shot 10 days ago and died yesterday without regaining consciousness.

Hoffman said he learned M. Barnard Hoffman, widely known Berks county criminal lawyer, would be Pattas' counsel. Pattas is in Berks county jail awaiting an inquest scheduled for Wednesday.

REDS' STRENGTH WORRYING LABOR PARTY IN BRITAIN

BY E. R. NODERER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 29—The gathering strength of the radical minority within the Labor party is causing concern among leaders of the Attlee government, according to Garry Allighan, Labor M. P. for Gravesend, Kent.

Writing in the Conservative Daily Mail, Allighan, whose articles are supposed to represent the Labor point of view, stated: "Quite a substratum of neocommunism is revealed when the soil of the parliamentary Labor party is turned up. There are half a dozen Marxists in the government—at least three in the cabinet—and a score on the back benches.

Owe Success to Reds

"More than 100 Labor members of parliament admit that they owe much of their electoral success to active coöperation with the Communist party which is now closely identifying itself with the government by fighting municipal elections on a purely Labor party policy."

Allighan, one of a number of British newspaper men elected at the recent poll, went on to say that in some boroughs there exists a working arrangement between the Reds and Laborites which will result in Communist-Labor coalitions in some borough councils.

Red May Lead Union

Pointing out that the Reds also are infiltrating into the British trade unions, Allighan says that Bert Papworth, a communist bus conductor, probably will be the next general secretary of the powerful Transport and General Workers' union, of which Foreign Minister Bevin formerly was leader.

In a drive to increase coal production the government has appointed as national director Arthur Horner, a prominent communist "who has great influence" with the miners, Allighan asserted. Since last year communists have been permitted to become officers in trade councils affiliated with the Trades Union congress, with the result that a number now fill key posts, according to Allighan.

As a result of communist help in the last general election a number of big unions have resolved to support the Communist party's application for affiliation with the Labor party at next year's annual Labor party conference.

"This swing-over to a more sympathetic attitude to the communists is reflected in parliament, but is discouraged by leaders who see nothing but disaster to the Labor party from communist association," Allighan asserted.

DOUBLE BURIAL SLAYING LINKED TO DOPE TRADE

Girl Has $3,200 in Bills in Her Brassiere

WIS.
Milwaukee
Lake Michigan
ILLINOIS
MO.
KENTUCKY

Site of burial

Rockport, Ind., Oct. 29 [Special]—Identification of the bodies of a man and an attractive young woman—the latter with $3,200 hidden in her brassiere—found in a shallow wheat field grave near here, tonight linked the double shooting to the East St. Louis, Ill., underworld and possibly a dope ring.

Thru fingerprints furnished by the FBI, the victims were identified as George E. Tyson, 33, and Ethel Sparks, 22, both of East St. Louis.

Tyson had been hunted in connection with the shooting and wounding of Joe Callahan, 28, at Madison, Ill., last July 16, and with the murder, a week later, of Miss Thelma Walton, 22, also known as Kathryn Morrison, a waitress, who was a witness to the Callahan shooting.

Story of Mayor

Mayor Steve Maeras of Madison had said he received information, in connection with his investigation into the two earlier shootings, that Miss Walton formerly had worked for a narcotics ring. Police reported that Callahan also had been suspected of engaging in the illegal traffic of drugs.

The bodies of Tyson and Miss Sparks, the latter said to be his girl friend, were found yesterday afternoon by John Spaetti, a farmer, in a wheat field on his farm seven miles west of here. Investigating when his attention was attracted by a bare spot in the growing winter wheat, the farmer dug into the freshly turned earth and came upon Tyson's body only a foot below the surface.

Miss Sparks' body was below Tyson's in the grave, which was only four feet deep. Police said the slayers apparently hauled away the dirt which the bodies displaced, indicating the use of a truck, for no surplus earth was found near-by.

Rope Around Neck

Both victims were fully clothed, including topcoats. Tyson had been shot three times—in the head, heart, and abdomen. Miss Sparks had been shot once in the head and strangled with a rope that was still around her neck. Both had been beaten about the head.

Presence of the money in the brassiere of the slightly built brunette was not discovered until last night when an autopsy was being made. The hoard was comprised of 27 bills of $100 denomination and one $500 bill.

Both Tyson and the man he was accused of shooting—Callahan—were East St. Louis iron workers known to the police of that city. Altho Callahan was reported to have quarreled with Tyson, supposedly over the traffic in narcotics, he refused to disclose the reason for the shooting, insisting it was merely "some labor trouble."

The Girl's Story

Callahan and Miss Walton were together, sitting in a car in front of a tavern in Madison, when Callahan was shot. The waitress later told police that two men drove up beside their car; that she was slugged; and when she recovered consciousness Callahan was lying in the street, a bullet in his chest.

Altho it was not made public at the time, Mayor Maeras later disclosed that Miss Walton had identified Tyson as one of the gunmen. She was quoted by other waitresses as saying during the following week as worriedly predicting she "had a feeling something was going to happen."

Exactly a week after Callahan was shot an unknown gunman killed Miss Walton with a shotgun blast fired thru a window of the tavern where she worked, the same Madison place in front of which the previous shooting occurred.

PUPILS STRIKE AGAIN IN GARY SCHOOL FIGHT

White pupils in the Froebel grade and high school in Gary skipped classes again yesterday in a renewal of their differences with school authorities over Negro enrollment in the school.

Leonard Levenda, 17, strike leader, estimated that about 800 of the school's 1,100 white pupils were out, but Richard A. Nuzum, principal, asserted that the absentee figure was considerably lower.

It was the second strike in a month, but differed from the first in that it was aimed mainly at Principal Nuzum. He is charged with showing partiality toward Negroes. Nearly 500 parents and teachers met in Spanish hall and applauded John Jadrnak, chairman of the parents' committee of 13, when he said the parents should support the children's strike until the issues are settled.

GIRL FOR WHOM BOY WAS SLAIN ELUDES COURT

Dorothy [Betty] Albrecht, 15, of 1837 S. Loomis st., the girl whom Charles Dryden, 14, of 2919 Quinn st., defended with his life in a fight June 30 with John [Jinks] Taubery, 17, of 1456 W. 18th st., disappeared from her home Sunday, it was disclosed yesterday in Criminal court when Taubery appeared for trial on a murder charge.

Asst. State's Atty. William Brumlik said Dorothy was to be the state's principal witness, and Judge Leonard Reid ordered police sent to her home when her absence from the courtroom was discovered.

Runs Away from Trial

Her mother told police that the girl left a note in which she said she was "running away." "I don't want any more to do with the court case," Dorothy wrote.

State's Atty. Tuohy ordered a complete investigation into the facts of Dorothy's absence, and asked the court for a capias for her arrest.

Killed in Sister's Home

The trial of Taubery, indicted on charges of murder and assault with intent to kill, was continued to Nov. 13.

Dryden was fatally stabbed in the home of his sister, Mrs. Catherine Brudnicki, at 3150 S. Green st., where Dorothy was employed to care for Mrs. Brudnicki's three children. Dorothy, at the time, said Taubery entered the house and attempted to assault her, and Dryden rushed to her defense.

FINED $1,000 ON PRICE CHARGE

Barney Richter, owner of Richter's Farmer Market at 2477 N. Clark st., was fined $1,000 yesterday by Judge Michael Feinberg in Circuit court for violating an injunction issued May 10 that forbade him to violate price ceilings on meat.

HEADLESS CHICK KEEPS ON LIVING; GAINS WEIGHT!

Fruita, Colo., Oct. 29 (AP)—Mike, 5 month old white Wyandotte cockerel, has gained a pound since its head was cut off 49 days ago. L. A. Olson, Mike's owner, said the chicken weighed 3½ pounds the morning it was beheaded and now tips the scale at 4½ pounds.

Scientists who examined the bird said the reason for its continued existence, despite the loss of its head, was because the basal portion of the brain remained connected to the spinal cord and the throat and windpipe were left intact.

Mike is fed small amounts of food several times daily. The fowl is given liquids with an eye dropper and corn is dropped into its open throat. Mike's toenails even are kept taped to prevent it from scratching its neck, where the ax wound has healed over. Mike moves about, flaps its wings when prodded, and sometimes attempts to crow.

TRY TO SETTLE WIFE'S SUIT FOR BALM OF $300,000

Hearing of a $300,000 alienation of affections suit brought by Mrs. Olive Means Daily, 45, of Oil City, Pa., against Mrs. Marian Lammers Parker, 42, of 77 E. Cedar st., was continued to Nov. 13 yesterday by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in federal District court. He was informed by counsel for Mrs. Daily that a settlement was being negotiated. Atty. Urban A. Lavery told the court that the settlement "is acceptable to Mrs. Daily in principle, but its completion requires an exchange of certain papers and documents." Mrs. Daily was the only principal in court. She has charged Mrs. Parker with stealing the affections of her husband, Wilfred Daily, 49, a salesman of dehydrated foods.

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

THIS, we reasoned, is no time to offer folks a car that stops with artful face-lifting.

It has been nearly four years since our last new Buick was built—it wouldn't be shooting square now to give you less than our honor-bright best.

So we overhauled our whole factory to advantage it with the latest in war-developed machines and processes.

We set ourselves precisions that in some cases exceed those of aircraft engine production.

We scoured the country for the stoutest metals anyone can buy today.

And we eagle-eyed every one of this Buick's 12,000 parts to see if it could be bettered in any way, big or little.

The result is that through every stunning inch of this bright new honey runs solid, dependable Buick character, honest and uncompromised.

It's in swift clean lines. In seats that are three-persons wide. In stout, time-defying frames and underpinning. Above all — in the lift and life of a Fireball straight-eight that's even livelier than in 1942.

The cars your Buick dealer will have are big. They're beautiful. They're Buicks.

DEPUTY SEIZED IN SHAKEDOWN OF CAFE OWNER

Sought $1,500 as an OPA Investigator, FBI Told

Deputy Sheriff Victor Grimm, 31, of 6022 S. Knox av., was charged before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday with illegally accepting money from a Lyons business man while impersonating an office of price administration investigator.

Victor Grimm

Federal bureau of investigation agents led by George R. McSwain, head of the Chicago bureau, arrested Grimm in a trap set for him Saturday when he called on Fred Hovadik, owner of Fred's Place, a restaurant and tourist camp at 8744 Ogden av., Lyons, to collect $1,100. Hovadik said he previously had paid Grimm $400.

Threatens Prison

McSwain said Grimm visited Hovadik last Friday and found him slaughtering pigs without an OPA permit. The deputy, who was not in uniform, flashed a badge, McSwain said, and told Hovadik: "This will cost you two to five years in prison."

Grimm then offered to "forget the whole thing" for $1,500, McSwain said. Hovadik paid him $400 on account and immediately notified the FBI. Agents were waiting when Grimm returned the next day.

Pleads Not Guilty

Grimm pleaded not guilty before Commissioner Walker and was granted a continuance to Thursday on his plea that he did not have an attorney. His bond was set at $1,500.

Sheriff Mulcahy said Grimm was suspended when he was arrested.

Chief William L. McCarthy of the county highway police said Grimm was assigned to the Bedford Park station, on the midnight to 8 a. m. shift, and had been an "exemplary" patrolman since his appointment Jan. 15. He was a pipefitter in Argo before he became a deputy sheriff.

MAKERS OF FILM FIND SPOTS ON IT AND BLAME ATOM

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 29 [Special]—About a month after the explosion of the first atomic bomb in New Mexico in July, the Eastman Kodak company here began noticing spots on film, Thomas Hargrave, president, told a reporter today.

Hargrave said he could not definitely attribute the film spotting to the atomic explosion, but "we have a definite suspicion that the atomic explosion caused the trouble." He said the trouble has now been cleared up and that no definite results were noticed from the two later explosions in Japan.

Dr. Chauncey G. Suits, chief research scientist for the General Electric company in Schenectady, N. Y., previously had said there are indications radioactive effects of the atomic explosions have been felt around the world. These results are not expected to be harmful to humans at points distant from the spot of the explosion, he said, but apparently have been carried thru the stratosphere.

MILK DEALERS MEET TODAY IN JOB CONFERENCE

Chicago milk dealers will meet today to discuss ways of absorbing returning service men without dislocating present employes, Paul Potter, secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, said yesterday. The dealers hope to find a method of handling the returning men which will be acceptable to the milk wagon driver's union and still not make it necessary to return to everyday milk deliveries to homes. The union has announced its intention of resuming daily deliveries and left the starting date up to its executive board. Thursday, when office of defense transportation bans cease, daily deliveries will be started to restaurants and hotels which now get milk six days a week.

DISCLOSE M. I. T. ANALYZER DOES 3 JOBS AT ONCE

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 29 (AP)—A new type of differential analyzer, a 100 ton calculating machine, was unveiled today before a group of scientists, engineers, and army and navy officers at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Designed for solution of scientific and industrial engineering problems, the electro-mechanical giant was assigned three years ago to war projects, including the computing of range tables for United States navy guns.

The machine was built to accommodate three complex problems simultaneously. The differential analyzer contains approximately 2,000 electronic tubes, several thousand relays, about 150 motors, and nearly 200 miles of wire. The original analyzer was designed by Dr. Vannevar Bush, president of the Carnegie institution of Washington.

The Joliet city council, headed by Mayor Arthur Janke, will meet today with officials of the National City Bus lines in an effort to end the strike of 95 bus drivers and mechanics which began last Saturday. The company operates 42 buses serving Joliet, Lockport, and Rockdale.

The strikers, members of local 228, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes [AFL], promised Mayor Janke that they would return to work at once if their hourly pay scales are increased from 88 cents to $1 for drivers and from 95 cents to $1.10 for mechanics, plus added vacation rights.

E. Roy Fitzgerald, president, and E. C. Houghton, director of operations of the bus lines, will meet with the council.

A promise to transmute them into Deanna Durbins and Betty Huttons with only 76 hours of theatrical instruction blew up into just a batch of promissory notes to pay for the course, a group of 19 post-high school age girls charged in a suit filed yesterday in Superior court.

The suit, which seeks recovery of sums ranging from $160 to $247, was directed against officials of Talent Scouts and Broadcast Productions, Inc., formerly of 423 S. Wabash av., formerly known as Paramount Talent Scouts, Inc., and against the Citizens Loan corporation of 53 E. Jackson blvd., which allegedly worked with the firm to get the girls' signatures on the notes and wage assignments.

Cite Promotional Literature

The suit charged that in promotional literature mailed the girls, they were "recommended" as having special talents and should become models or entertainers earning big money after 76 hours of coaching.

The discoverer of Deanna Durbin, the suit alleged, was represented as connected with the organization. The suit, filed by Atty. Theodore W. Miller, said this was not true.

"Only" Blanket Inducement

Miss Adah Brown, one of the defendants, said she spoke for herself and the other 18 when she said:

"I was informed that only girls with talent were acceptable and those selected were destined for stage and radio careers. I became disillusioned when I discovered this was only a blanket inducement. I discovered also that this starlet organization was more interested in getting signatures on notes and wage assignments."

Promised Radio Jobs

If the girls had trouble paying for their lessons, the bill alleged, the school promised to get them radio bit jobs at $1 an hour.

Attached to the complaint was a copy of a persuasive letter sent out by the company. On the letterhead is a sketch of Sherlock Holmes gazing thru a magnifying glass at a set of footprints which lead to a pretty girl happily singing thru a microphone.

Mary Everitt Is Engaged to Lt. Warfield

BY JUDITH CASS

WHEN Lt. Lyman Ware Warfield arrived at home 10 days ago on terminal leave from the army air forces, his first mission was to place an engagement ring on Miss Mary Lois Everitt's left hand. Today Mrs. George B. Everitt of Winnetka is announcing the engagement of her only daughter to Lt. Warfield, one of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Warfield III., also of Winnetka.

Miss Everitt attended the Roycemore school, New Trier High school, Mount Vernon seminary, and Northwestern university. She made her debut in 1942 at a tea in her mother's home. Lt. Warfield, a graduate of Cornell university, had been instructing at an army air force base in Georgia before receiving his discharge.

The Everitts hope that the son of the family, Lt. George Everitt, will be home soon from his naval reserve post in Maui, Hawaii. His wife and baby daughter, Lois, have been living with his mother in Winnetka. Lt. Warfield has two brothers in the service, Ensign James Warfield, on duty with the seabees on Guam, and Lt. [j. g.] William S. Warfield IV., who has been transferred to Great Lakes after 20 months in the Pacific. The Warfield twins, Hildegarde and Richard, are studying at Stanford university and Cornell, respectively.

Wedding News

The marriage Nov. 10 of Lt. [j. g.] Hester Reilly to Lt. [j. g.] Richard A. Wald will give Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Rice Reilly's family a double cause for celebration, for Miss Reilly's brother, Lt. Comdr. J. Dunham Reilly, has landed in California following service in the Pacific and will be here within a week to share in the festivities. Miss Reilly was transferred a week ago from Seattle, Wash., where she had been serving with the WAVES, to Great Lakes, her fiance's station. The ceremony, a small, quiet one, will take place at 4 p. m. in the navy chapel there, with a small reception following in the Reilly home in Winnetka. Lt. Comdr. Reilly's wife will be the bride's only attendant. Col. Reilly is on a long leave and so will be here to give his daughter in marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond George Maurer of Evanston announce the marriage Oct. 19 of their daughter, Suzanne, to Ensign Clad Wilburn Wood Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wood of Westchester county, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Maurer and Mr. and Mrs. Wood went south for the wedding, which took place in the Presbyterian church of Rockledge, Fla. A wedding dinner followed in the Officers' club at the naval air station at Banana River, Fla., where Ensign Wood is stationed.

The bride attended Northwestern university and recently was discharged from the WAVES, in which she served as managing editor of the naval air station magazine in Memphis, Tenn. Ensign Wood was graduated from Williams college. He and his bride are at home in Rockledge.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

How to Quit a Job

Every day all over this bright land of ours, white collar girls are getting—and quitting—jobs. Yet no one seems to mention that the problem of how to quit a job is as important as how to get one. Actually, they are opposite ends of the same rope—a rope with which it is all too easy to hang oneself.

It's a smart white collar girl who figures that an employer's good will is a sound investment. For example, a young married woman is terminating her war time employment this week. She had saved her two week vacation till her husband's release from military service. She and her employer had agreed on this. They also had agreed that she should train a new worker for her responsible position when the time came for the service wife to give up working. Upon returning from her vacation, the girl carried out the agreement to the letter.

Naturally, the employer appreciated the consideration shown him. He will remember a responsible employe. Should she need to work again sometime in the unpredictable future—she could turn to him. Isn't it an asset to leave a job with the employer's confidence indorsing the last pay check?

The first registered nurse to sign up as stewardess for United Air Lines [since the company's return to the policy of accepting applications of nurses] was Betty Lou Schwartz, a Spokane eyeful. . . . The Newberry library has acquired the central office papers of the Illinois Central railroad from 1851 to 1906—valuable material for the business research student. . . . A reader, "Daisy Mae," asks whether the phrase "Best regards" should serve in a letter as the complimentary close or merely part of the closing. . . .

Enrollment in the Chicago Red Cross home nursing classes last year was predominantly white collar. Of the 140 accelerated classes from July '44 to June '45, approximately 100 were for business women. Mark Lying-In Birthday with Research Gift

A check for $380,432 for research was presented last night to the Chicago Lying-In hospital of the University of Chicago at a dinner in the Shoreland hotel marking the famous institution's 50th anniversary. The gift was presented by Mrs. Frederic Woodward, anniversary committee chairman.

The size of the check came as a surprise to many of the distinguished guests for thruout the fund raising drive the sum expected to be given had been set at $100,000. The fund will be used to erase, as far as possible, two perils of childbirth—eclampsia, or convulsions, and puerperal fever, or fever associated with childbirth.

Principal speaker at the anniversary dinner was Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins of the university, who related that in 50 years the hospital had assisted in 135,000 births, trained 5,500 nurses, and taught or prepared thousands of medical students and interns. But it was the quality of its work, not the volume, that has been impressive, he said.

"The hospital revolutionized the standards of obstetrical practice and hospital care," Chancellor Hutchins said. "It is difficult to believe that there is anywhere in the world another institution in any field which has made such a direct and important contribution in half a century."

The "dark ages of obstetrics persisted" into our own lifetime, he went on, and such enlightened methods of obstetrics as now are known have been principally the work of the Lying-In hospital, he added.

Dr. Hutchins said that the true purpose of such a hospital is education and research. In no other field, he asserted, is such a purpose more urgently needed. He warned against converting professional schools into technical institutes. The true professional school, he said, should be a center of independent thought. Professions other than medicine, he charged, have sunk to low estate because their schools have degenerated into institutions for vocational training.

Earlier, in clinics at the hospital, 200 physicians and nurses attended anniversary clinics. One of the speakers, Miss Hazel Corbin, director of the Maternity Center association of New York City, declared that it is a function of schools and educators, as well as homes, to teach young people the facts of life. The hospital, at 5841 Maryland av., was founded as a small dispensary in the Maxwell st. district by the late Dr. Joseph B. De Lee.

Long Sleeved Blouses Hug You Smartly

BY REA SEEGER

Long sleeved wool blouses, timed for the first cold weather, are cozily comfortable without being dull, a designing trick that takes plenty of imagination and verve. The colors are rich and clear, ready for effective contrast duty for all kinds of suits. The neutrals of beige, caramel tone, gray, cinnamon, almond green, and off white promise a lot of smartness for tweed mixtures as well as with striped suits and the suits consisting of bright jacket and dark skirt. Black, brown, and navy blue together with dubonnet, wine red, and the scarlet shades provide sharp contrast for any dark suit.

Blouses in these current collections are simple in detail and line. Most of the sleeves are simply gathered into a frilled or band cuff. Necklines are high and demurely round, altho there are many convertible collar lines that provide either the high round neckline or the deep vee throat line. Lots of the smartest blouses have gathered neckline with artful little bows of yarn. The shirtwaist blouses are classics with either stud button cuffs or cuffs that boast large decorative discs of colored or smoked pearl to match the tiny buttons down the center of the front panel.

One of the best and most popular shades is gold in tones from palest gilt to deep, husky old gold. This is one of the best all purpose shades to wear with any suit. Winter white flannels and other woolens of this popular off white shade are at peak selection now. Some are soft and very dress parade, others are tailored with stark simplicity, ideal for the career girls to wear with office suits.

THE QUESTION

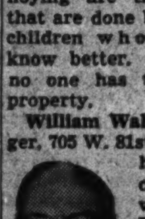
Do you think children should play pranks on and before Halloween?

WHERE ASKED

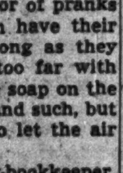
South Shore Finance Co., 7424 Stony Island av.

THE ANSWERS

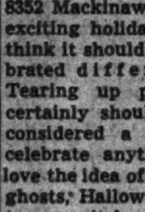
Mrs. Madeleine Eckert, bookkeeper, 8842 Wabash av.—The idea of "tricks or treats" is lots of fun for small children and is not destructive. The tricks or pranks that are annoying are the ones that are done by older children who should know better. I think no one has the right to destroy property.



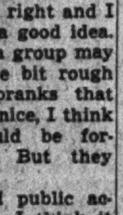
William Wallace, collection manager, 705 W. 81st st.—I'll never forget how much fun I had on Halloween when I was a child. I'd say I'm in favor of pranks—let them have their fun. So long as they don't go too far with it—a little soap on the windows and such, but I don't want any one to let the air out of my tires.



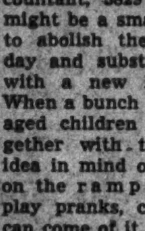
Eleanor Cusick, clerk-bookkeeper, 8352 Mackinaw av.—Halloween is an exciting holiday but I think it should be celebrated differently. Tearing up property certainly shouldn't be considered a way to celebrate anything. I love the idea of spooks, ghosts, Halloween costumes, witches, goblins, and parties.



Jeanne Tobin, switchboard operator, 7628 Drexel av.—That's the only time in the year when playing pranks is considered all right and I think it's a good idea. Even tho a group may get a little bit rough or play pranks that aren't too nice, I think they should be forgiven on Halloween. But they should not go too far.



Nelson Culp, certified public accountant, 5829 Ohio st.—I think it might be a smart idea to abolish the whole day and substitute it with a new holiday. When a bunch of teen-aged children get together with the one idea in mind of going on the rampage to play pranks, chances are no good can come of it.

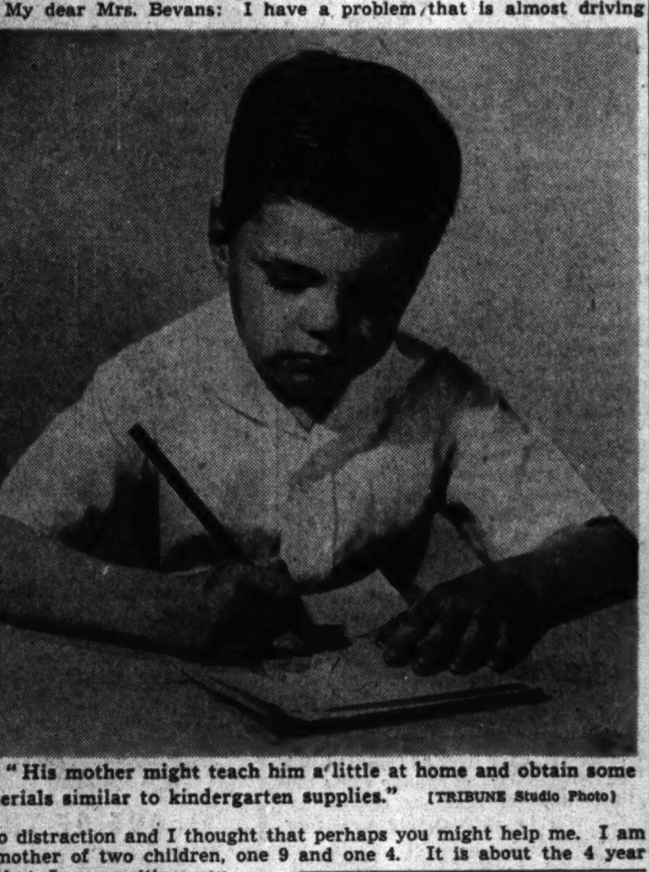


Mrs. Virginia Moore, bookkeeper, cashier, 6752 Perry av.—The smaller children enjoy dressing up in costumes and ringing doorbells. That's all right because they usually have to be home a little after dark. For the older children I believe a party or some kind of supervised amusement would be much more practical.

A 4 Year Old Child May Be Too Young for Kindergarten

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A letter with a problem—and not really a rare problem either—has come to my desk. The mother has been concerned enough to go to her doctor about it, and he has advised her. She now turns to me, and I have written her that I disagree with the doctor. Here is the letter:



"His mother might teach him a little at home and obtain some materials similar to kindergarten supplies." [TRIBUNE Studio Photo]

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: I have a problem that is almost driving me to distraction and I thought that perhaps you might help me. I am the mother of two children, one 9 and one 4. It is about the 4 year old that I am writing you.

"He has always been very close to me and right under my heels, you might say. I've never been able to go away and leave him.

"His father and I decided that we must start getting him away from me a little while each day, so I have started sending him to kindergarten and that is why I am writing you. It is not working out well at all.

"By that I mean he doesn't want to go and admits it is because he doesn't want to be away from me. Every morning he pleads with me not to make him go, and becomes so upset emotionally that he cannot eat his breakfast and if he does, throws it up every time.

"His teacher says he gets along beautifully after I leave each morning, but this carrying on has gone on now for three weeks and I don't know how much longer I can stand it. I even took him to our family doctor and asked his advice and he said that by all means to continue sending him; that I could do him more harm by giving in to him than by forcing him to go."

Three weeks is a long enough trial for both the mother and her little son. I disagree with the doctor, both on physical and psychological grounds, that the little boy will be more harmed if she stops sending him to kindergarten school.

To me it is neither humane nor sensible to put a child so young thru such an ordeal day after day—and sometimes with a young child a condition like this keeps up. If he were eight or nine it would be different.

Four is a tender age. There is nothing abnormal about a little child having a great capacity for love and devotion to his mother.

After all, why should every individual child be ready for school at four? If they're not, then they're hand could not be set.

If this were my little boy I would take him out of kindergarten at once. In another year or two he may take to school like a little duck to water.

A little later his mother might teach him a little at home, and obtain some materials similar to kindergarten supplies. They might "play school" and she be the teacher; and once in a while, just for fun, they might get ready in the morning, as if for school, go out and come back home, pretending it is school.

If even this doesn't appeal, she should simply skip it—avoiding the school association temporarily.

GI Patients Will Earn as They Recover

BY WILLIAM STRAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29—A program to enable war veterans in government hospitals to earn money and build outside interests during convalescence was announced today by the veterans administration. The patients, altho they may be bedfast and unable to move more than their hands, are to be given an opportunity to do piecework for manufacturing plants.

The plan is called industrial therapy and, officials said, was tried successfully during the war by the army air forces in connection with treatment of injured flyers. The soldier patients worked as long as four hours a day and were paid up to 70 cents an hour.

The plan will be tried in 15 hospitals located near industrial plants of the type that can give out piecework to the patients. Names and locations of the institutions will be announced later.

The hospitals will be selected from the general medical and surgery groups as well as from tuberculosis and neuropsychiatric types. This will enable the veterans administration to determine whether patients in any particular type of hospital are more adaptable to the work than the other ex-service men, it was explained.

It is expected that the incentive of earning money while still in bed will speed convalescence in many cases while giving the men a more optimistic outlook, officials said.

Efforts will be made to obtain experienced personnel, including civilians and enlisted men, released from the army to head projects. Under the plan, as quickly as a patient engaged in the work is able to get out of bed he would be appointed a supervisor in the project to aid other patients.

The veterans administration also announced that it has established 25 new advisory centers to aid veterans who are planning to continue their education after leaving military service. There are 175 such centers already in operation.

Most of them are located on the campuses of the leading colleges and universities, where they are available for the ex-service men desiring consultation regarding school problems.

Guild's Gaily Caparisoned "Winter's Tale" True "Gallimaufry of Gambols"

"THE WINTER'S TALE"

Play by William Shakespeare, directed by B. Iden Payne and Romney Brent, with settings and costumes by Stewart Chaney, dances by William Bales, and incidental music by Anthony Bernard. Supervised by Theresa Helburn and Lawrence Langner and presented by the Theater Guild Shakespearean company in the Blackstone theater Monday evening, Oct. 29, 1945.

THE CAST

Leontes	Henry Daniell
Hermione	Jessie Royce Landis
Paulina	Florence Reed
Camillo	Colin Keith-Johnston
Mamillius	Maurice Cavell
Perdita	Geraldine Stroock
Florizel	Frederick Bradlee
The Old Shepherd	Whitford Kane
Autolycus	Romney Brent
Clown	Kurt Richards
Time	Philip Huston
Polixenes	David Powell
Antigonus	Charles Francis

Shakespeare wasn't fooling when he touched off "The Winter's Tale" as a "gallimaufry of revels." The "upstart crow" who filched the play from vituperous Robert Greene found its two ply tale of royal rancor and rustic revelry a bit more than his waning magic could weld into topflight theater, even with the twin wands of dramatic poetry and jesting Autolycus. For tho that magic flared again in "The Tempest," it was here dimmed to shooting sparks, and the play, which might have been a treasure, turned into a magpie collection of baubles.

To stage such a play must be to juggle a double edged sword or the Blackstone last night could not have held so many indefatigable playgoers who never before in their lives had sat down to "The Winter's Tale." And to this newcomer at this particular Shakespearean revel, it was a welcome feast for all the wry truth that its fare at the hands of the Theater Guild's brand new Shakespearean company offers a good many husks along with the heady stuff the stagestruck live on. Nor do I mean to be so churlish as to imply I would rather have seen this production of "The Winter's Tale" than none at all. It has its drawbacks, plenty of them, but it has some shining facets, too.

The shiniest, or if you don't mind my juggling for a better word, the most glowing, are the lavish, lucid, and lovely production in ballet style designed by Stewart Chaney; the authority of Florence Reed, whose Paulina takes hold of a weak scene and gives it the tingling spine of stellar performance, and the skill with which Jessie Royce Landis, exquisitely in the picture as wronged Hermione, plays that gentle creature so cruelly called harlot—the quiet, queenly heroine on whom Shakespeare has bestowed the wealth of the play's best poetry.

As Leontes, Mr. Daniell has taken his cue from his own line, "I am a feather for each wind that plays." His is a weakling king for all his regal stature, a cruel, cold eyed despot too self-centered to see beyond his own twisted mind. Perhaps that is as reasonable a key as any to this man who first chides his "tongue tied queen" for not bidding their visitor linger, then hurls her headlong into the Shakespearean equivalent of a paternity trial, where Apollo is the discredited jury until he hurls down some thunderbolts to stress his point.

Naturally, you don't spin a Shakespeare troupe of whole cloth in one production, and "The Winter's Tale" is only the beginning of what we all hope will become a classic repertory theater. It is good to see Whitford Kane in such a theater, even tho the shepherd he now plays is little more than a stock figure who must be on hand to rescue Perdita from the truly wonderful bear that really walks right out and chases hapless Antigonus. Colin Keith-Johnston is another worth his hire, and Romney Brent has a deft tongue in his head when it comes to clowns. The rustic scenes are on the whole rather dull going, and the Guild has conjured some lively music and tucked in James Starbuck and Lili Mann for goatish romping. The play has been expertly cut to fit in that charming proscenium, and as it really is two plays in one, the restless can always count on something different due any minute.

Notes

Starting Nov. 12, K. T. Stevens will take a month off from "The Voice of the Turtle" to undergo medical treatment. Her role will be played by Louisa Horton, recently signed for the Boston company of John Van Druten's comedy, opening in January. . . . Lily Djanel will sing "Carmen" for the Chicago Opera Friday night, Nov. 16. . . . Zinka Milanov probably will not be able to sing again this season, so Stella Roman returns for the second "La Forza del Destino" and the company will have to engage a substitute Aida. . . . Last Saturday night at the opera Artur Schnabel was calling it "Darcyfal."

"LA FORZA DEL DESTINO"

Opera with music by Giuseppe Verdi, book by Piave based on play "Don Alvaro o la Fuerza del Sino," by the Duke of Rivas. Presented in Italian by the Chicago Opera company in the Civic Opera house Monday evening, Oct. 29, 1945.

THE CAST

Marquis of Calatrava	Louis d' Angelo
Donna Leonora	Stella Roman
Don Carlo	Leonard Warren
Don Alvaro	Kurt Baum
Preziosilla	Rosalind Nadell
The Abbot	Nicola Moscona
Father Melitone	Ralph Telasko
Curra	Inge Manski
The Alcade	Wilfred Engelman
Trabuco	Ludovico Oliviero
A Surgeon	Robert Farral
Conductor	Bruno Walter

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG

As all good operas should have, last night's "La Forza del Destino" had both a hero and a heroine; but tho the heroine, according to rule, was the soprano, the hero of the occasion was not the tenor but the conductor—the eminent Bruno Walter, who worked his usual unobtrusive miracle with a score whose beauties are many but whose pedestrian stretches are more.

Mr. Walter's preoccupation with this curious early work of Verdi is not entirely understandable. Its succession of sanguinary episodes and its ear soothing tho frequently interrupted flow of melody hark back to "Il Trovatore," while the constant symphonic commentary points thru "Aida" to the far off "Otello." And for good measure there are long choral passages of almost oratorio-like character, which suggest that Verdi even in 1862 may have yearned to write a "Requiem."

Mr. Walter, of course, accomplished a masterly synthesis of this varied material, tho he frequently was betrayed by the second best playing of an orchestra whose best is scarcely first class, and was forced to combat a feeling of inordinate length thru the telescoping of the first four scenes into a first act that ran "Parsifal's" a close second with an hour and 25 minutes of playing time. The overture was brilliantly played between the first two scenes, and Mr. Walter was cheered as if he had sung a tenor aria.

Stella Roman was the bona fide heroine of the evening, not only for her musical merits, but for the sporting spirit with which she flew thru a sleepless night from San Francisco to save a performance imperiled by the illness of Zinka Milanov. Routine and talent made Miss Roman the easy mistress of a difficult situation, and if there were any signs of fatigue they were evident not in the climatic moments, which flared forth with gratifying power, but in the subtler passages, which now and again slipped from perfect control. Yet it was on the whole an admirable performance, for which Miss Roman deserves the management's thanks as well as that of the audience.

The composer was none too kind to the baritone, but Leonard Warren made every opportunity shine with vocal splendor. Nicola Moscona contributed some of this same quality as the abbot. For the rest there was Kurt Baum, always a mixed blessing and this time more mixture than blessing; Rosalind Nadell, beyond her depth in the gypsy's scene, and an old operatic friend, Louis d'Angelo, his usual competent self as the early deceased Marquis. And a bow to the chorus for the best work of the season.

"Rumor Had It" By Christopher Hale

A CRASH

Mr. Izenga did not respond to this attempt to explain Bennet's action charitably. He was going to have to admit that Bennet was guilty. That unbalanced emotional nature, fortified with liquid courage, had given away to a momentary insane impulse. Even tho he loved his mother, Bennet often fought with her viciously.

Bennet was carried up to bed. The police doctor arrived and pronounced him exhausted. He said he would give him a sedative and let him sleep. They would see in the morning if Bennet were in a fit state to take the lie detector test.

But when Ridge thanked French for allowing Bennet to remain out of jail overnight, the lieutenant said sternly, "It doesn't mean a thing, Mr. Dawson. If we took Mr. Pomeroy in, we'd simply have to have a guard in the hospital. It's simpler for one man to do two jobs here."

"But you're planning to leave extra guards in the house, of course," Mr. Izenga interposed excitedly.

"The usual guard will be here."

"But is one trooper enough to cover this situation?"

"Certainly." French was impatient to be off.

"But Miss Pomeroy has been in danger two or three times and should be protected."

"He has special instructions to look after her."

"And Bennet is expected to take the lie detector test tomorrow. He should be watched."

"Really, Mr. Izenga, we know our business."

"O, I don't doubt that. I'm sure you have a superman to carry out those two jobs. But Miss Pomeroy is much too valuable to me to experiment with. If that's the best you can do, I shall remain here tonight myself."

"O, I'll stay here if you feel like that, Cornelius," Ridge Dawson offered.

"You needn't bother. I'd never forgive myself if anything happened to her."

"I wouldn't say you'd be much use in a scrap," Ridge did not quite succeed in hiding his amusement.

"Well, I'll leave you to fight it out between you," the lieutenant said crisply. "There's no need of any one staying, but if you want to, it's up to you and Miss Pomeroy."

"Well, there's the police for you," Mr. Izenga snorted as the lieutenant left. "Traditional lockers of stable doors after it's too late."

To Mr. Izenga's relief and joy, Erica appeared in the living room just before dinner.

Mr. Izenga settled back to enjoy her. The dull dinner took on a festive air. But his pleasure was brief.

In a few minutes Pliny ushered in Toby Newcomb. His white jacket was masterfully fitted to his broad shoulders. Mr. Izenga had not fully realized Toby's size and strength before. Now he could gloomily observe it as Toby took Erica in his arms.

Wisps of her gold frock molded about him in the faint breeze from the open windows. Their eyes were rapt and oblivious. If that was not love Mr. Izenga did not know it. Yet she had spent the afternoon planning to disinherit him. Women were crazy, Mr. Izenga thought disgustedly.

"Cheer up," Ridge mumbled from behind his cocktail glass. "He's not such a bad fellow, Cornelius. And you can see we're going to have to take him."

After dinner Pliny managed to get Mr. Izenga aside.

"Somebody wants to talk to you on the back po'ch."

"Who is it?"

"O, it's all right, Mr. Izenga. He jus' doan' want anybody else to come. You go see, please, suh."

Mr. Izenga's curiosity carried him back thru the kitchen. In the shadow of a honeysuckle vine he found Huntley eating cake the cook had given him.

"I didn't want to butt in," Huntley said. "That Newcomb is there. And anyway I just wanted to talk to you. I'm worried about Erica. Some one's got it in for her. She isn't safe in this house."

Mr. Izenga explained that he and Ridge Dawson were spending the night.

"I don't trust Newcomb around the corner," Huntley was going on in his old sincere way. "And I heard a horrible rumor that Erica had made a will leaving him everything. Is that so?"

"Yes, but she is changing it. She's regretting that willful, impulsive action, Huntley. She's leaving it to the family . . . and to him I suppose. And some to you."

"To me!"

Mr. Izenga was a little dismayed and perturbed that he had blurted out that last fact. It had just popped out.

"Yes. She wanted you to know she was still fond of you in spite of everything."

For a moment there was no sound but the crickets out in the grass, and the clink of china in the kitchen.

"She's wonderful," Huntley said at last. Just a whisper. "And if that devil hadn't hypnotized her she'd be mine, right this minute. She still loves me down under everything, Mr. Izenga."

Does she? Mr. Izenga's mind flashed back a picture of her, as of two hours before, in Toby's arms.

"Of course you won't ever get the money, Huntley. She will live many, many years. She's young." Mr. Izenga sounded as if he were warning the Fates to lay off his darling. "She will change her will, no doubt. . . ."

"I don't want it. I wouldn't take it," Huntley choked. "But . . . it's the idea of it. And after all, Mr. Izenga, that will isn't made. The other one is in force. And that fellow is not to be trusted. I hope he doesn't know the will is to be changed."

"He doesn't even know about the first one—leaving it all to him."

"He doesn't!"

"That's what she says."

"Poor kid. Look, Mr. Izenga, can you take a room on the north side of the house?"

"I have the northwest bedroom."

"Good. I can see the windows of it from my room. If there's any trouble in the night, won't you put on all the lights and pull the blinds up to the top? I'll see it and come over."

It wouldn't be necessary, but Mr. Izenga knew how he felt.

They retired early. Erica promised to scream like crazy at the merest whiff of alarm. She locked her door.

Bennet was sleeping exhaustedly. Mr. Izenga wondered if Bennet's door should not be locked. But the trooper in the lower hall patroled the upper one at intervals. No doubt he would be safe.

Ridge Dawson sneaked one of his nephew's last bottles of Haig and Haig up to his bedroom. He wouldn't be much use to any one in an hour.

Mr. Izenga did not intend to sleep. But he put on his pajamas and dark silk robe and lay down on the bed with a quilt over him.

Mr. Izenga woke with a jolt that brought him to a sitting position in bed. He had slept! How mortifying! It was five minutes of three by his watch. There was a resounding crash below, as of overturned furniture.

Solid Scholar Avoids Snob Mob Cliques

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

on the SOLID side

It happens almost every time. As soon as high school opens for the year, some strictly off-the-cob young characters pick several fellows and girls for their special friends, and from then on it's a tight little crowd that no one can crack. They sit together in the auditorium for school assemblies, they eat lunch together at noon, they scramble to pick lockers close to each other, and they even date each other as extracurricular activity. It's a neat and cozy arrangement—if you're on the inside. But for a young Joe on the outside looking in, it's a different story, and a sad one.

Maybe this elite congregation is due to snobbishness; the group picks its members according to the number of sweaters a young gal includes in her wardrobe, how high a fellow can count the folding stuff in his wallet, and whether or not his father can get tickets for all the Notre Dame games.

Or perhaps this snob mob just limits its membership because of laziness and to acquire a sense of security. They've found a few friends and it's less trouble to stick to them, being sure that their jokes are appreciated and their talents recognized, than to make new friends and discover fellows and girls with more on the ball than they have.

There are people running loose with a better sense of humor, a livelier stock of anecdotes, and more ability to translate Latin prose. There may be enough talent outside their clique to stock an all-star show, but they'll never find out because they're afraid to.

And shyness is no excuse either. It isn't hard to make friends in high school. No one will think you're forward or social climbing if you strike up a conversation after classes, and from then on any kind of friendship can develop. Some of the best dates have been met in chemistry lab or during a current events discussion.

So get on the ball and start rolling—you don't have to clique to click!

Mark Century of Episcopal Orders' Return

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

Pages of four centuries were turned back to the pre-Reformation Church of England with all its Catholic heritage at a service yesterday before the altar of St. Luke's Episcopal church, Evanston. There a resplendent solemn high mass of thanksgiving was offered for the century which has elapsed since the restoration of religious communities in the Anglican [Episcopal] communion.

The threefold service, held in the presence of Bishop Conkling as ordinary, opened with solemn procession which extended from Second Presbyterian church, where the clergy vested, thru Hinman av. northward to St. Luke's. Twelve mitered bishops of Anglican and oriental rites occupied places of honor in the procession. Before them moved the priests, cowled fathers, gray, brown, and black robed friars, lay brothers, habited sisters, and seminarians. The procession encircled the aisles of the edifice.

The third part of the service, following pontifical mass, was a solemn Te Deum and pontifical benediction. The centennial preacher, the Rt. Rev. James P. De Wolf, bishop of Long Island, N. Y., not only expressed the gratitude of the church for those who made their professions for lives as religious but envisioned days of change when the disciplines of religious community life will be increasingly useful to the world.

Bishop Robert E. Campbell, O. H. C., one of the first religious order priests to be consecrated bishop in the Episcopal church since the restoration, was celebrant at the altar. Officers of the mass included Dom Paul Severance, O. S. B., and the Rev. Father Stephen, O. S. F. The Rev. James Murchison Duncan of the Church of the Atonement, 5740 N. Kenmore av., was master of ceremonies. The choir of Nashota house, Nashota, Wis., under the direction of Father Lloyd E. Thatcher, sang the Missa Marialis liturgical setting.

Other prelates assisting in the services were Bishop Leonti, Russian Orthodox; Bishop Gerasimos, Greek Orthodox; the Rt. Rev. Archimandrite Timon, Greek Orthodox; Bishop Leon Grochowski, Polish National Catholic church; Bishop Dionisje, Serbian Orthodox; Suffragan Bishop Edwin J. Randall of Chicago; Bishop Harwood Sturtevant, Fond du Lac, Wis.; Bishop Reginald Mallett of northern Indiana, and Bishop William L. Essex of Quincy.

Homemakers are requested to continue saving waste fats and oils. Altho the war's over, the shortage is still acute, and only with the homemaker's help can the demand for adequate supplies of soap, paints, paper, electrical equipment, and other peace time goods so urgently needed, be met.

Every drop helps, so save fats by draining pans, skimming soups and gravies, melting down trimmings from meat, and turn them in to your meat dealer immediately. You'll get four points and four cents for every pound.

The small acorn and large Hubbard squash are two good bargain items for the menu planner who is searching for economical and versatile vegetable buys. The heavy rind of these winter squashes yields best to oven baking, but they're suitable for steaming, too.

To boil or steam winter squash, cut into pieces, remove seeds and stringy portion, and pare. Steam about 30 minutes. Mash well and for each cup of squash add 1 teaspoon butter, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Beat until light and pile into hot vegetable dish.

For baking, wash squash, cut into halves or serving pieces without removing rind; place in shallow pan, dot with butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in a 375 degree oven for 40 to 60 minutes, or until tender.

Stuffed Acorn Squash

[Serves four]

2 large acorn squash
1 teaspon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 tablespoons apple sauce
½ pound pork sausage

Split squash lengthwise and remove seeds. Place cut side down on greased baking pan and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees. Turn right side up and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread cavities with apple sauce and place a browned sausage in each: Return to oven and bake 30 minutes longer or until squash is tender.

Corn and Squash Casserole

[Serves six]

2 cups cooked, mashed squash
1 cup whole kernel corn
1 tablespoon butter
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup minced green pepper
2 eggs, well beaten

Season the cooked squash with salt, pepper, and butter. Melt 1 tablespoon butter, add onion and green pepper, and saute until browned. Stir in corn and squash. Fold in well beaten eggs, turn into a greased casserole, and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, for 45 minutes.

Baked Squash with Marshmallows

[Serves four]

3 cups cooked, mashed squash
3 tablespoons melted butter
1½ teaspoons salt
Dash pepper
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
12 marshmallows

Combine squash, butter, seasonings, and egg yolk. Turn into greased shallow baking dish. Arrange marshmallows on top of squash. Place in pan of hot water and bake in a 375 degree oven for 20 minutes, or until marshmallows are browned and partially melted.

Russian Film Tells Story of Nazi Slavery

"GIRL NO. 217"

Produced by Artkino, directed by Mikhail Romm, featuring Elena Kuzmina, Anastasia Lissianskaya, Vassili Zaichikov, Gregory Mikhailov, Vladimir Vladislavsky, Tania Barisheva, Ludmilla Sukharevskaya, Peter Sakhanov, Vassili Balaskov, and Gregory Grief. Presented at the World Playhouse.

By Mae Tinée

This film is a Russian indictment of the German as an individual as well as the tool of a militaristic political bloc and tells a painful story of Tanya, who became No. 217 when sent to Germany as one of a group of Russian prisoners to be used as slave labor. The prisoners were shipped like cattle in box cars and sold in Berlin for use in homes or factories, and the German government apparently supervised only their punishment, which was brutal indeed.

Tanya is sold to the Krauss family, composed of stupid, greedy mother and father and shrewish daughter, who work her incessantly, feed her as little as possible, and consider her and a fellow prisoner, a former Russian scientist, as insensitive animals. Savagery begets savagery, and Tanya eventually manages to repay her tormentors in kind.

Elena Kuzmina, who plays the leading role, has an interesting face and gives an intense performance, and the German family is cleverly satirized by both the actors and the scenario. The direction is capable, the photography very poor.

The film flares with hatred, and I found it a pretty harrowing spectacle.

East	South	West	North
1 heart	1 spade	Pass	4 spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Three of hearts.

When there is only one suit left in which there is any hope for the defense to take tricks, that suit should be led regardless of the fact that such an effort involves leading away from a king, an ace, or anything else. We many times see players with an established suit staring them in the face from dummy, upon which many discards will be available as soon as declarer gets in, merely tossing the lead because, "Partner, I could not lead away from an ace-queen."

The East of today's hand provided a striking illustration of this policy by making a lead that would otherwise have been very unattractive, because he realized there was only one suit that could possibly provide the defense with the setting tricks.

North's jump to four spades is not so far out of line as might appear at first blush. Since partner had not opened the bidding, a jump to three spades would not be forcing and North was willing to gamble it out for game if partner had some such hand as this:

♠ A Q x x x ♥ x x ♦ K x x ♣ x x x

West led the three of hearts and East's ten forced the ace. The ace and king of clubs were cashed, South discarding a heart, and to the fourth trick a low trump was led from dummy. Had East reflexly played second hand low, school would have been out. But East took time out for a little simple arithmetic. West is marked with an original holding of four hearts both from the lead of the three and the fact that declarer did not try to get rid of another heart on the queen of clubs. So declarer is known to have had ten cards between spades and diamonds. In order to defeat the contract, three tricks must be obtained from the diamond suit and this can be done only if West has the king and another diamond. East therefore rushed in to take the ace of trumps and led the two of diamonds. West won with the king and returned the suit, obtaining the ruff for the setting trick.

You ask how could East tell that his partner had the king of diamonds? He couldn't; in fact, it was more likely that his partner did not have that card, but in that case the hand could not be set. So why worry?

Thru the Looking Glass

Diets and dieting are a great source of interest to us gals and furnish as much lively conversation as any subject when a group of women get together. There's always someone who is on a "simply marvelous" diet that's taking pounds off her frame, and another person will tell what she or one of her friends ate for ten days. On it goes until you've heard of more kinds of diets than can be counted on the fingers.

As conversation it's harmless enough but we hope that if you're considering reducing you won't absorb a single word that's said. Take it all in and be amazed or amused, but don't take any of it to heart. Fortunately, most of us are smart enough today not to pick up and follow any old diet, but there is the temptation just to "try" it for a while. Restrain yourself, lady, and don't do it.

If you feel you're getting a bit heavy and want to take off a few pounds, by all means consult your physician before doing anything. He will very probably give you a thoro examination before making any recommendations and will be able to tell you what to eat and what not to eat without doing any harm to the system. The diet he gives you will be sensible and right for YOU and not for anyone else. You can have all the fun you want talking about it but don't pass it along to your friends.

LOUISE DOOLEY

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 29—Ingrid Bergman is being paged by Gabriel Pascal for George Bernard Shaw's "St. John," to be done in England. Too bad she isn't twins. . . . I wonder why somebody doesn't buy "The Wide House" by Taylor Caldwell for the screen. What a natural for Clark Gable and Paulette Goddard. . . . Esther Williams, who's doing "Fiesta" south of the border, was guest of honor at a charo festival in a bull ring just outside Mexico City. They put on a four hour show for her. The climax came when Mario Moreno fought the bull. Moreno is really the famous Cantinflas. . . . I don't suppose any actor ever received as much advice on how to play "Hamlet" as Cary Grant. Ever since Cary and Alfred Hitchcock announced they'd do a modern version of the play in England on the screen, old men, young men, pretty men, ugly men, who have all longed to play it, have explained the heart, soul, and thoughts of the character to Cary. Now he's more confused than a 5 year old about to do his first recitation.

Let's Yell for It

Since I wrote how nice it would be if we could see James Stewart in Frank Capra's picture "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" while waiting for another one from these two talented fellows, I've had lots of letters asking for it. Now it's up to Columbia—if they can squeeze in a revival between their new pictures. I talked with Capra this morning. He hopes to have some good news about his next in a few weeks, and he also hopes Stewart will be in it. . . . Al Levy has resigned as Frank Sinatra's manager to become a partner in Century Artists, Inc. He has charge of their west coast activities with four radio shows already on the ether. . . . A couple of quick talking marines, on their to their home state of Texas to sell Victory bonds, talked many souvenirs out of us which will be auctioned off down there. Lana Turner gave them a sweater, Dorothy Lamour a sarong, Bob Burns a real live pig. Tom Breneman took the hat off his head, and I tossed in one of mine. Heaven knows what other knick-knacks they'll pick up before taking off.

Wrong Number or Something

Capt. Holly Morse brought his wife, Bonnie Baker, Eva Braun's private telephone all the way from Germany. Sounds like a bit of hot cargo to me. If that phone could only speak and tell the secret plans that were made over it which caused the present misery of the world. . . . Emily Kimbrough's the sensation of the Universal lot. She takes her talking bird to the studio with her. He sits inside her window just out of sight. But the bird can see everybody that passes, and gives a wolf cry to all. People turn and look, thinking it's Emily. She just found out about it from Franchot Tone. When he came to dinner the other night, the bird gave him the same business.

From Hops to Flowers

Lionel Shelley, who's the heir to a brewing fortune, plays a florist in one of the King brothers' pictures. How ambitious can you get? . . . William Gargan, watching Vera Ralston doing a skating sequence for "Murder in the Music Hall," cracked, "Takes me back to the old days. I used to teach kids skating when things got tough in New York." . . . Patty Thomas, who was given an engraved locket by Bob Hope when they went overseas together, uses it now as an identification. She says it gets her in even where angels fear to tread.

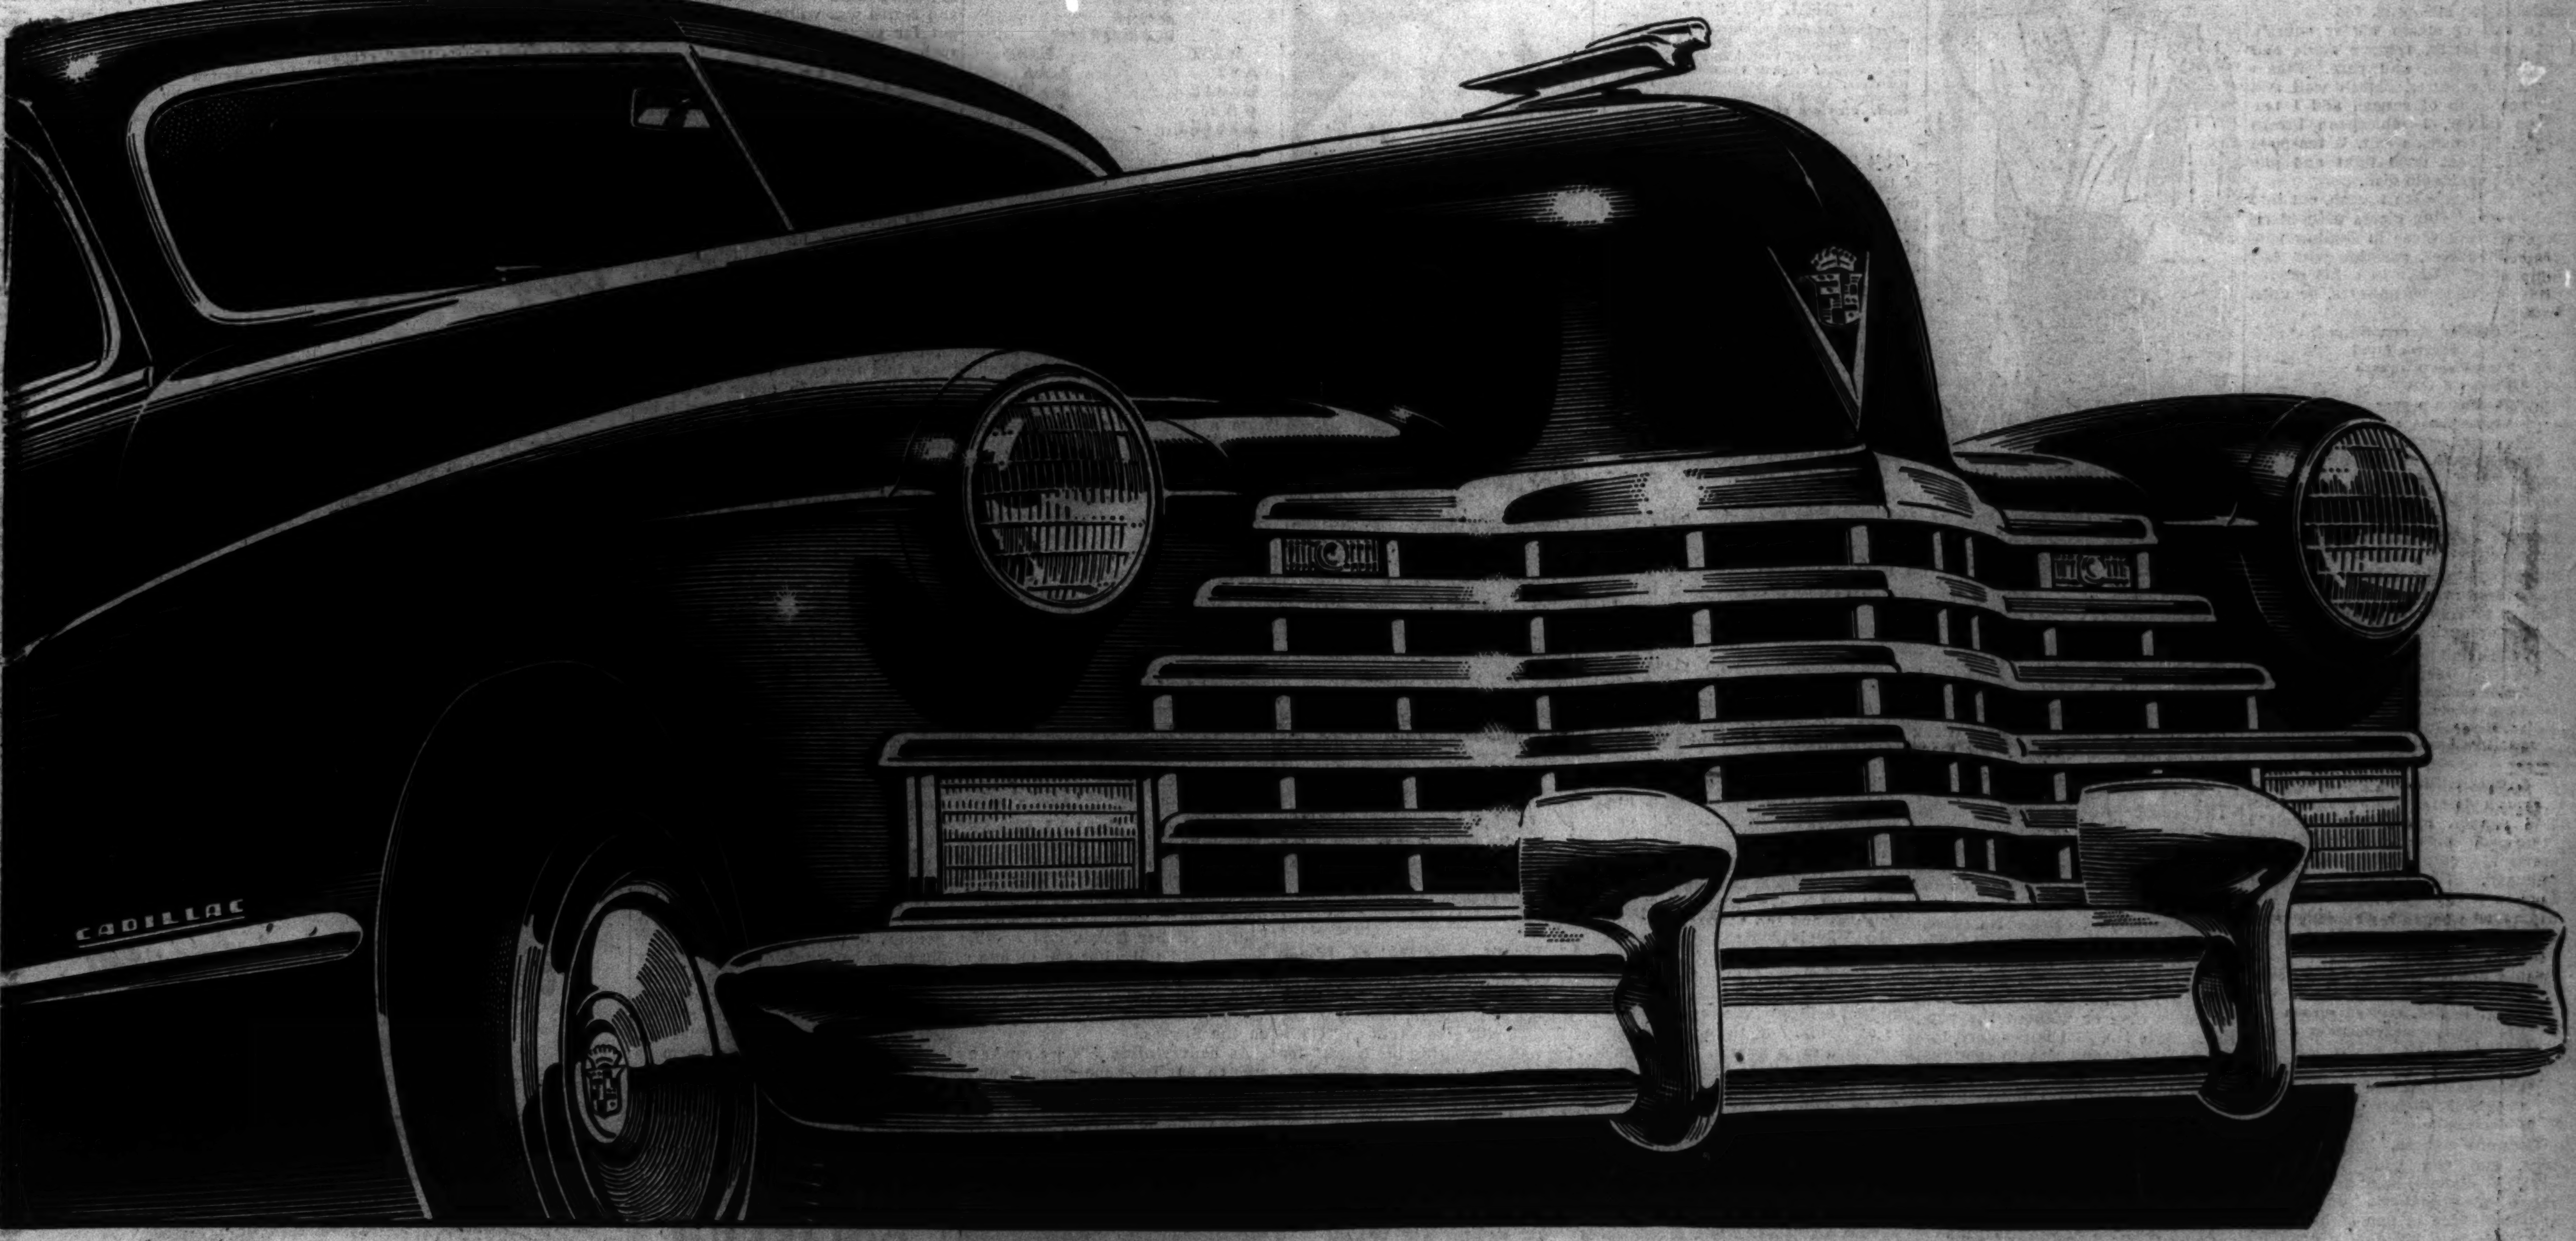
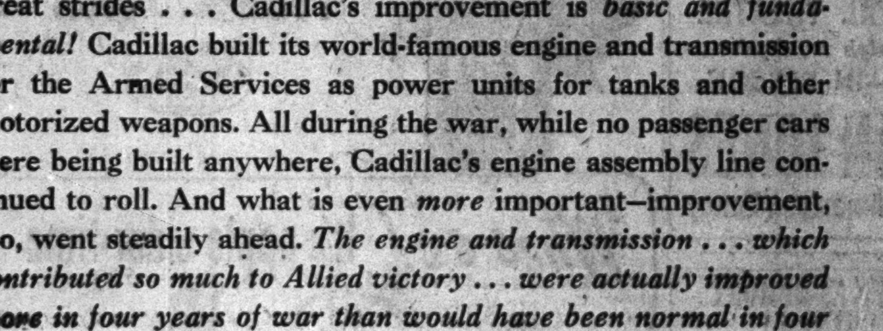
THE NEW 1946 Cadillac





More Beautiful and Luxurious

...AND POWERED BY THE GREAT VICTORY ENGINE

THERE IS BIG NEWS about Cadillac this year. For Cadillac has really been improved for 1946. Not just in styling—although the 1946 Cadillac is far more beautiful in every way. Not just in comfort and luxury—although here, too, Cadillac has made great strides . . . Cadillac's improvement is basic and fundamental! Cadillac built its world-famous engine and transmission for the Armed Services as power units for tanks and other motorized weapons. All during the war, while no passenger cars were being built anywhere, Cadillac's engine assembly line continued to roll. And what is even more important—improvement, too, went steadily ahead. The engine and transmission . . . which contributed so much to Allied victory . . . were actually improved more in four years of war than would have been normal in four years of peace! Cadillac not only had the world's battlefields as a testing ground—but the technical staffs of the army and navy were available as consultants. . . . What an engine this is now! And what a transmission the new Hydra-Matic is! You've never experienced anything even remotely like this "power train" for smoothness, quietness, and quickness of acceleration. . . . Improvement, in fact, is found throughout the car. Comfort is greater, handling is easier, roadability is better. Likewise, there is new interior luxury. Wherever you look, in fact, you will be conscious of a new Standard of the World. . . . But the really vital improvement is mechanical. You'll have to take the wheel to see what has happened. Do this as soon as you can. . . . And get your name on the list for the earliest possible delivery.

SAN FRANCISCO SEEKS TRIBUNE TENPIN CROWN

Mohs and Sikol to Represent City

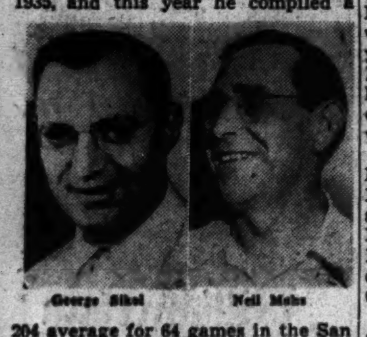
BY JAMES SEGRETI

San Francisco's representatives, who failed in previous All-Star match game bowling championship tournaments, are determined to produce the title this year for the Pacific coast in the fifth annual meet under the sponsorship of The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors Association of America in the Auditorium Service Men's center Dec. 1 to 9.

The San Francisco Chronicle, which conducted elimination trials in the Bay City area, yesterday named two high ranking bowlers to participate in the meet, and they will come to Chicago with outstanding records compiled during many years of competition in the sport. They are Neil Mohs, who has spent 30 years in the game, and George Sikol, who has bowled for 25 years.

Sikol Makes Comeback

Sikol's bowling career was interrupted by illness, but he made an impressive comeback this season. He eagerly awaits the Chicago tournament and another chance against Buddy Bomar, defending champion from Texas. Bomar defeated Sikol in a recent 27 game exhibition match in San Francisco. Sikol was the author of a 300 game rolled in 1935, and this year he compiled a 204 average for 64 games in the San Francisco Bowling Writers' tournament.



George Sikol Neil Mohs

Mohs has been at his best this season. He recently turned in three 279 games while averaging 219 for 17 games. Mohs made his first trip to New York for the American Bowling congress eight years ago and won the all events with 1,857. Mohs, who began his bowling career in Minnesota, has a high series average of 773 and his best game in league competition in San Francisco was 290.

Elimination Meets Under Way

Mohs has had considerable success in tournaments conducted in the far west this season. He won individual championships in San Francisco and Redwood City, placed second in Salt Lake City, and took fourth place in San Diego. Mohs' record includes four 300 games rolled in 1939 and in 1943. He will have a personal rooter in the All-Star tournament. His wife, Dorothy, who bowls in San Francisco's Santa Fe league, will accompany him to Chicago.

Chicago's representatives will be determined within the next week. The elimination meets under way in nine plants will come to an end at 11:55 o'clock tomorrow night. The top eight men in each of the nine centers then will move into a round-robin match play tournament on Nov. 3 and 4.

LANDER, TAYLOR BOX TO DRAW IN MARIGOLD BOUT

Eddie Lander, West Side lightweight, and Freddy Taylor, rugged newcomer from Denver, fought to a draw in an eight round bout in Marigold Gardens last night before a crowd of 2,029, the largest of the year.

Judge John Bray voted for Lander, 42 to 38, and Ed Hintz, the other judge, called the match a draw, but Referee Bernard [Sonny] Weisman scored for Taylor 41 to 39.

Each of the three preliminary matches ended in knockouts. Ted Christie, veteran New York 128 pounder, knocked out John Goode of Cincinnati in the second round; Tommy James, former City Golden Gloves welterweight winner, stopped Robert Pryor in the fourth, and Jerry Pittro, Chicago 155 pounder knocked out James [Smyles] Wilson in the third.

WWGA Picks Officers and Tourney Sites

The Women's Western Golf association made its final tee shot of the season yesterday, announcing the dates and sites of its two big 1946 tournaments and installing newly elected officers during a luncheon in the Racquet club.

The organization's open tournament will be held at the Waukonda Country club, Des Moines, Ia., tentatively set for June 24 to 29, and the annual amateur meet will be conducted at the Country club of Cleveland, O., also tentatively scheduled for Aug. 11 to 17. Resumption of two other W. W. G. A. tournaments —Women's junior and the Western Derby—dropped during the war years, will be definitely decided upon during the winter.

Mrs. Oleson Elected Head

Mrs. Wrisley B. Oleson, Glen Oak, took over as president, succeeding Mrs. Charles Dennehy, Onwentsia, who has held the position for two years. Mrs. George Weinhagen Jr., Blue Mound Country club, Milwaukee, will serve as first vice president, and Mrs. Barrett Scudder, Onwentsia, second vice president.

Other officers include Mrs. Harry H. Costello, Gren Oak, secretary; Mrs. Harold M. Dudley, Ridge, assistant secretary; Mrs. Harry A. Newby, Exmoor, treasurer; Mrs. Philip G. Lenz, Beverly, handicap chairman, and Mrs. Lawrence J. O'Toole, Edgewater, rules chairman.

Mrs. Dennehy will serve on the association's advisory board, along with Mrs. E. D. Adcock, Midlothian; Mrs. F. A. Bunte, Evanston; Mrs. A. J. Heald, Olympia Fields; Mrs. Murray Moxley; St. Charles; Mrs. Paul Walker, Chicago Golf club, and Mrs. C. B. Willard, Exmoor.

Among those attending the luncheon were Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Ia., Northwestern senior, who won the Women's Western amateur at Knollwood Country club last July; Patty Berg, discharged three weeks ago as a marine lieutenant, and WAC Lt. Eleanor Dudley, former district champion. Miss Berg will appear at the Vaughn General hospital today to present an exhibition before returning to her home in Minneapolis.

Vets Get Benefits

Mrs. Dennehy reported that $1,634.70 derived from the 1944 amateur at Knollwood was donated to Vaughan hospital to maintain three driving nets and putting greens to be used by hospitalized war veterans, and $1,546.40 from the open tournament held at Indianapolis was donated to the Indianapolis service men's centers.

Awarding of the amateur tournament to Cleveland will give the Ohio city two of golf's biggest events next season. It recently was announced that the National Men's Open meet will be held at the Canterbury Country club in Cleveland June 13 to 15.

CATES REPLACES N.U.'S CONNERS IN BIG NINE RUSHING

Despite Minnesota's defeat by Ohio State, the powerful Gophers still rule the Western conference title race statistically.

Official Big Nine figures released yesterday show that Coach Bernie Bierman's rugged eleven has gained an average of 371 yards in two conference starts, while fleet footed Tommy Cates, Gopher half back, has moved in front of individual ground gainers with 7.5 yards per play. Cates has rolled up 277 yards in 36 attempts, displacing Dick Conners of Northwestern as the Big Nine's leading ball carrier. Conners' four game average is 7.2, or a total of 367 yards in 50 plays.

Bill Canfield and Ed Cody of Purdue remained the one-two scoring leaders with 36 and 24 points each, even tho they failed to score against the Wildcats. However, another Boilermaker, Bob De Moss, bolstered his bid for the conference's passing crown with 28 completions in 50 attempted passes. His four game percentage is .560.

Rex John, Wisconsin's kicking tackle, leads the Big Nine in punting with a three game average of 40 yards on 16 boots.

Back Home Again

Never helped her with the dishes,
Never helped her much at all,
But she found me always ready
When I heard the dinner call.
Never helped her much by doing
All those things a husband should.
There were times I didn't help her
When I knew darn well I could.
It's the way of man and, sure enough,
No matter where you roam
You will find the husband idle
In the comforts of his home.

When they called me to the army
And I left the middle west,
I missed "the little woman"
More than she had ever guessed.
After KP in the kitchen,
After serving others chow,
After using GI brushes. . .
I'll be glad to help her now!
I'll be glad to spend a moment
Helping her with this or that
For the army makes man think about
Those times he merely sat.

WILDCATS LOSE M'KINLEY FOR BUCKEYE GAME

Star Back Suffers Ankle Injury

BY WILFRID SMITH

Northwestern's glow of achievement in the homecoming victory over Purdue last Saturday was cooled appreciably yesterday when announcement was made that Bob McKinley, starting left half back against the Boilermakers, will not be able to play against Ohio State. Ligaments in McKinley's right ankle were pulled Saturday and Trainer Carl Erickson said he definitely could not play this week against the Buckeyes.

McKinley's loss will throw more burden on Bruce Bairstow and the others Coach Lynn Waldorf has been drilling to share the half back responsibilities with Dick Conners. Bairstow also was injured in the rugged battle with Purdue when he received a blow over the eye which completely closed it by the time he had to replace McKinley in the second half. Bairstow is counted on for the Ohio State game, which is expected to be a sellout as was the Purdue-Ohio State battle.

Seek Exoneration for Athletes

Seventy-four thousand saw Purdue defeat Ohio State, which made possible the upset of the Western conference campaign when the Wildcats decisively trounced Purdue, 26 to 14.

A reason for the renewed support for Ohio State's team was the victory over Minnesota Saturday. Thus, Northwestern will be most welcome in Columbus for Buckeye fans see an opportunity for partial exoneration for their boys' defeat by Purdue in a victory over the Wildcats.

"This cycle of results is difficult to explain," Waldorf said yesterday while he still was receiving congratulations for his team's victory over Purdue. "The boys played good football Saturday and they had tremendous support from Northwestern fans. The campus rally and homecoming crowd furnished incentive for the team which gradually is acquiring experience the hard way."

Less Practice for Wildcats

On basis of Ohio State's comeback at Minnesota, Northwestern's task this week is greater than ever. The Wildcats will have less practice time, for instance, for this is navy leave week. Eleven navy men on the traveling squad were at their homes over the week-end, but most of them will report tomorrow. Twelve civilian students, who have lab classes on Monday also were not out. In addition Charles Hagmann, Paul Schuetz, Jim Lecture, and Don Whan, civilian players, who were battered in the Purdue game, were execused.

Hagmann suffered an injured wrist Saturday, but while the X-ray picture has not been examined, it is not believed to be serious. Hagmann weighs only 178 pounds and he has carried the load at left tackle all season. Schuetz and Stan Gorski, guard and end, respectively, also have sprained wrists.

Miller a Doubtful Starter

There is a question whether Ray Miller, V-12 student and varsity center, will be available for Ohio State. He is subject to transfer and at best this will be his final game. Bill Steele, full back, was transferred before the Purdue game.

Jim Farrar, quarter back, was one of the regulars whom Waldorf asked to practice last night since he was required for ball handling on the T formation plays so that back field replacements could work at offense. Ted Kemp, who appeared at right half against Purdue, plays either half back and he will be in support of Bairstow at Ohio State. Hap Murphey and Bill Hunt also are listed.

ILLINI REGULARS REST

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 29 (AP)—Illinois' football squad took things easy today as it prepared for Saturday's game against Great Lakes, with only a light workout called by Coach Ray Eliot. Most of the players who made up the Illini starting lineup in last week's game against Michigan were exempted from practice. Those who did report had very little contact work as Eliot ran his substitutes thru drills in an effort to discover effective replacements both in the back field and in the line. Coach Eliot said that none of his regulars had been hurt in the Wolverine clash.

A FOOTBALL AUTHORITY SPEAKS.

Crowley Paints Bright Picture for All-America Conference

BY EDWARD PRELL

James H. [Sleepy Jim] Crowley, commissioner of the All-America Football conference, yesterday introduced a group of Chicago fans to a pair of new footballs, all blown up, and ready to be put into play.

The introduction ceremony was at the Quarter Back club's weekly luncheon program in the Morrison hotel. It was a subtle touch aimed at the National Football league. Since the conference's organization was announced on Sept. 3, 1944, the National league has ridiculed its new rival in private and snickered at it in public with the stock wisecrack, "They don't even have a football." That statement has been filed in the National league's fatal mistake department.

They Both Failed

"Elmer Layden," explained Crowley, humorously, "and I were classmates at Notre Dame. In fact, he used to copy from my notebooks—incidentally we both flunked. He has said the All-America doesn't have a football. John Keeshin, owner of our Chicago team, didn't like this at all. So here are the two footballs and we're ready to operate."

Layden is commissioner of the National Football league.

Crowley followed Lt. [j. g.] Paul Brown on the program and he had to be at his best to match the navy man's performance. Brown will be general manager and coach of the Cleveland All-America eleven when he returns to civilian life.

Chicago to Have Fine Team

"Our conference," declared Crowley, "is definitely going to operate in 1946. You'll have a grand team in Chicago. I'm sure Chicago fans will get behind this club and watch the fine brand of football it will play."

Crowley then outlined the conference setup, pointing out that all the owners are successful men in other fields and are determined to conduct their teams on the highest possible caliber. He mentioned that the finest college coaches in the country have been obtained. The combined wealth of the club owners in the conference runs into the millions of dollars.

He reaffirmed his pledge that the All-America will carry out a policy of working with the colleges—to the colleges' advantage. This was in answer to a question, "Do you think it is good policy to antagonize the colleges who furnish the material?"

Pledges Full Coöperation

He explained that the war has produced an abnormal situation between the colleges and professional teams. "Some of the sophomores of four and five years ago are now leaving military service," he said. "They are in their middle twenties. Many have married and have taken on family responsibilities. They have college eligibility left. If they approach us we try to work out the problem to the benefit of the one most concerned—the athlete. We will do everything in our power to work with the colleges."

In answer to another query, "What do you think of the National league's ruling on Special Delivery Jones of the Bears?" the All-America's commissioner replied:

"I don't like it. I think the National league is really taking a crack at the All-America—not Jones. Here is a man with a fine war record who is deprived of a chance to make a living."

[Last Saturday the National league barred Jones from its fields because he has signed a contract to play with the Cleveland All-Americas next season.]

Great Lakes' Glory Fades

Brown mixed humor with a serious discussion of his problem as coach of the Great Lakes football squad, stripped of its former strong personnel. He told of losing two batches of players last summer who were shipped elsewhere and of a serious consideration to abandon football there.

"The war is over—the romance has crumbled," was his colorful explanation of the decline of Great Lakes as a football power. "Just today an officer at the center asked me to use my influence to get him a ticket for the Notre Dame-Navy game Saturday in Cleveland. As an afterthought he asked, 'Are you playing this Saturday?'"

Answering a question, Brown said: "Gene Fekete is the best back I ever coached. He has a great body, great legs. Above all, he has the heart and the head. He's a swell fellow, too, and he goes with me to where we're going." Fekete has signed with Brown's Cleveland team.

Wes Fry, line coach at Northwestern, said the spirit engendered by the first post-war homecoming celebration was the major factor in the Wildcats' upset victory over Purdue Saturday.

WILSON STOPS TERRY IN FIFTH AT CLEVELAND

Cleveland, O., Oct. 29 (AP)—Jackie Wilson, 148, of Cleveland, scored a technical knockout over Frankie Terry, 151, of Brooklyn, in 2:57 of the fifth round of a scheduled 10 rounder tonight before a crowd of 4,426 which paid $10,315. Wilson led all the way and had opened a deep cut over Terry's eye when Referee Jackie Davis stopped the bout. There were no knockdowns.

Billy Conn, the Pittsburgh ex-soldier who meets Joe Louis next summer in his second bid for the world heavyweight title, displayed more paunch than punch as he appeared in his first exhibition in preparation for the Louis scrap. Conn's midsection protruded in a neat roll over his fighting trunks as he pawed his way thru three rounds against Bearcat Jones, a fellow townsman from Pittsburgh.

Conn appeared fast with the big gloves and moved almost like the Billy of pre-war days. His weight was not announced, but Jack Kearns, former manager of Jack Dempsey, said he probably tipped the scales at 192.

NORTH SIDERS WILL CONTROL 250 ATHLETES

Tulsa Is Largest of New Units

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

The Cubs, who do not aim to outdo Branch Rickey, the father of the farm system, but who do aim to do what they can about harvesting ivory, expect by next spring to be operating a baseball empire in which the destinies of as many as 250 players will be involved.

Arrangements already have been completed by which the National league champions will be affiliated, for player purposes, with 11 minor league clubs and inside of a few more weeks two or three other "partners" may be taken on. Last season the Cubs had seven minor league connections.

Tops on the list, of course, is the class AA finishing farm, the Los Angeles Angels, owned lock, stock, and barrel by P. K. Wrigley's parent club.

Leagues Are Coming Back

The taking in of more territory from which some of the Cubs of the future might sprout is made possible by the revival of leagues that gave up during the war or newly organized circuits.

With the Three-Eye league coming back, the Cubs have taken over the Davenport club, and resumption of play by the Texas league restores the Tulsa club to the Cubs' working list. The two other newcomers will be the Janesville Bruins of the revived Wisconsin State league and the Visalia of the California league.

Along with class AA Los Angeles and Tulsa which is a class A-1, the Cubs will continue working with Nashville of the Southern association, the latter expecting to move from A-1 into a double A rating in the near future. Other clubs hanging over from last season are Portsmouth, Va., of the Piedmont league; Hagerstown, Md., of the Interstate; Leaksville, N. C., of the Carolina league; Statesville, N. C., of the North Carolina State league, and Elizabethton, Tenn., of the Appalachian league.

Portsmouth Well Stocked

The Cubs' hookup with the Portsmouth club is thru Los Angeles and this particular connection is interesting because of the extra heavy player supply on hand. A list compiled a few days ago by the commissioner's office for reference at the draft meeting in Chicago Thursday shows that the Portsmouth club's national defense list contains the names of 83 players. This is exclusive of 13 on the active and seven on the voluntary retired list.

A lot of these lads, once they are returned by Uncle Sam will be spread thru the lower branches of the Cubs' 1946 empire. And between its own active and service list the Los Angeles club has control of nearly 90 players. The Nashville club has approximately 70 players on its list.

Olsen, Meers Return

Vern Olsen, who went off the Cubs' active list Nov. 21, 1942, when he enlisted in the navy, is back in Chicago wearing civvies. He returned early last week from the Hawaiian Islands and was discharged at Great Lakes over the week-end. He expects to remain in Chicago until training trip time.

Olsen, who after southpawing for the Great Lakes team, was moved out to the Pacific, continued with his pitching, so expects to have no trouble winning his way back as a member of Charley Grimm's 1946 staff.

Paul Gillespie, Cubs' catcher, whose injured knee had caused him trouble, underwent an operation yesterday in the Illinois Masonic hospital, where he is expected to remain for a week or 10 days. Dr. Walter Fischer performed the operation on what was described as an injured external cartilage. A member of the hospital staff reported Gillespie's condition as "very good," and said that Paul should be up and around within another week or so.

TWO RIDERS HURT IN 3 HORSE SPILL AT SPORTSMAN'S

J. Martin, La Voie Taken to Hospital

Jockeys Jackie Martin and Phil La Voie were injured in a three horse spill which marked the first race of yesterday's card at Sportsman's park. Martin, who had a slight concussion, was discharged last night from St. Anthony's hospital. La Voie suffered a broken collar bone.

The three horses which went down at the first turn of the seven furlong event were Run Sun, ridden by Aulie Carr, who was unhurt; Lillian Roth, Jackie Martin's mount, and Callione, with La Voie up.

Double Returns $211.60

A. T. Pfieffer's Highthorne, ridden by the veteran P. T. Martin, won the race and paid $6.60. The second race went to Cousin Mamie, a 4 year old filly which races for the firm of Hall and Reed. Ridden by Andy Burdy, she scored by a half length to return $63.60.

The combination of Highthorne and Cousin Mamie produced a daily double pay-off of $211.60.

My Pop Wins Feature

The St. Louis purse, feature of the afternoon's card, was won by an outsider, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hawkins' My Pop. Roman Red was second and Valdina Vicar, third. My Pop, under an exceptionally fine ride by George Adkins, went to the front shortly after the start and, despite repeated challenges, held on all the way to win by a head margin.

My Pop paid $39.20, $17.60, and $6.60 across the board.

Ponsetto Loss Poses Problem at Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 29 [Special]—Michigan's football coaching staff today began seeking a rearrangement of back field strength in preparation for Saturday's game with Minnesota after learning that Joe Ponsetto probably is lost for the season.

Injured at Champaign Saturday the sturdy Flint, Mich., captain and quarter back veteran isn't expected to be ready for action again this year.

Signal calling responsibility will thus be shifted to Howard Yerges, two year reserve and one time letter winner at Ohio State before being transferred to Michigan by the navy. Yerges directed the Wolverines to their three fourth period touchdowns against Illinois.

GOPHERS LOSE RINGER

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 29 [Special]—Judd Ringer, Minnesota's veteran end, who was pointed out by Ohio State Coach Carroll Widdoes as one of the outstanding Gophers in last Saturday's game, may not play Saturday when Minnesota faces Michigan. Ringer, injured late in the Buckeye game, limped at practice today and said he didn't think his sprained ankle would heal in time for the contest.

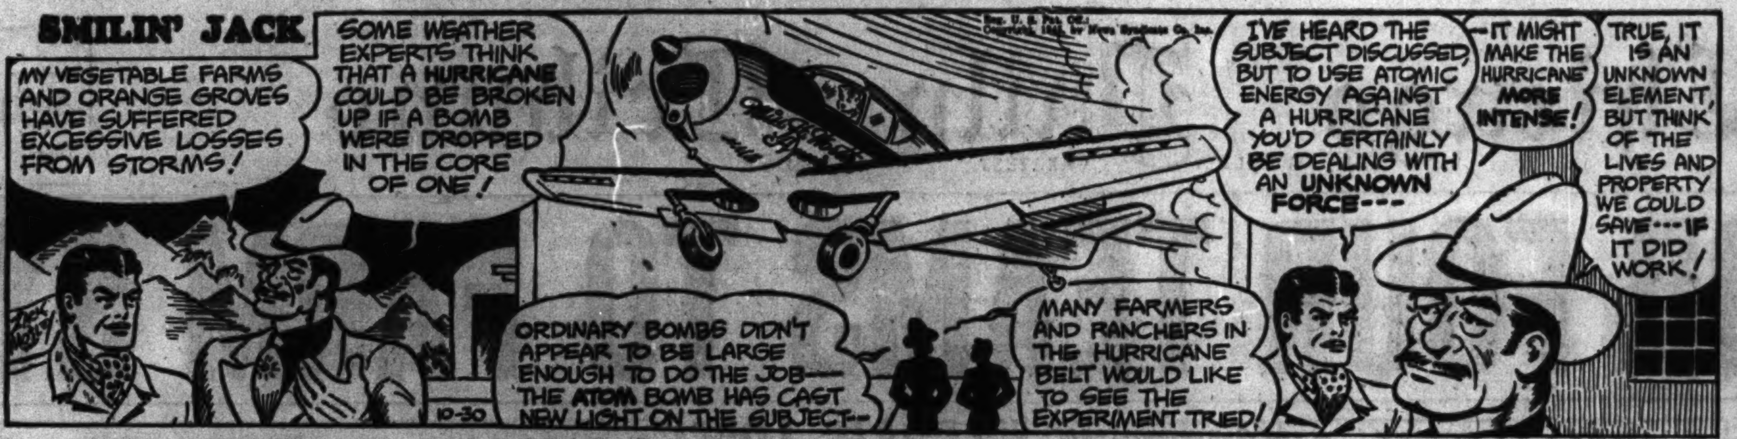
SMILIN' JACK



MY VEGETABLE FARMS AND ORANGE GROVES HAVE SUFFERED EXCESSIVE LOSSES FROM STORMS!
SOME WEATHER EXPERTS THINK THAT A HURRICANE COULD BE BROKEN UP IF A BOMB WERE DROPPED IN THE CORE OF ONE!
ORDINARY BOMBS DIDN'T APPEAR TO BE LARGE ENOUGH TO DO THE JOB— THE ATOM BOMB HAS CAST NEW LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT—
MANY FARMERS AND RANCHERS IN THE HURRICANE BELT WOULD LIKE TO SEE THE EXPERIMENT TRIED!
I'VE HEARD THE SUBJECT DISCUSSED, BUT TO USE ATOMIC ENERGY AGAINST A HURRICANE YOU'D CERTAINLY BE DEALING WITH AN UNKNOWN FORCE---
—IT MIGHT MAKE THE HURRICANE MORE INTENSE!
TRUE, IT IS AN UNKNOWN ELEMENT, BUT THINK OF THE LIVES AND PROPERTY WE COULD SAVE---IF IT DID WORK!

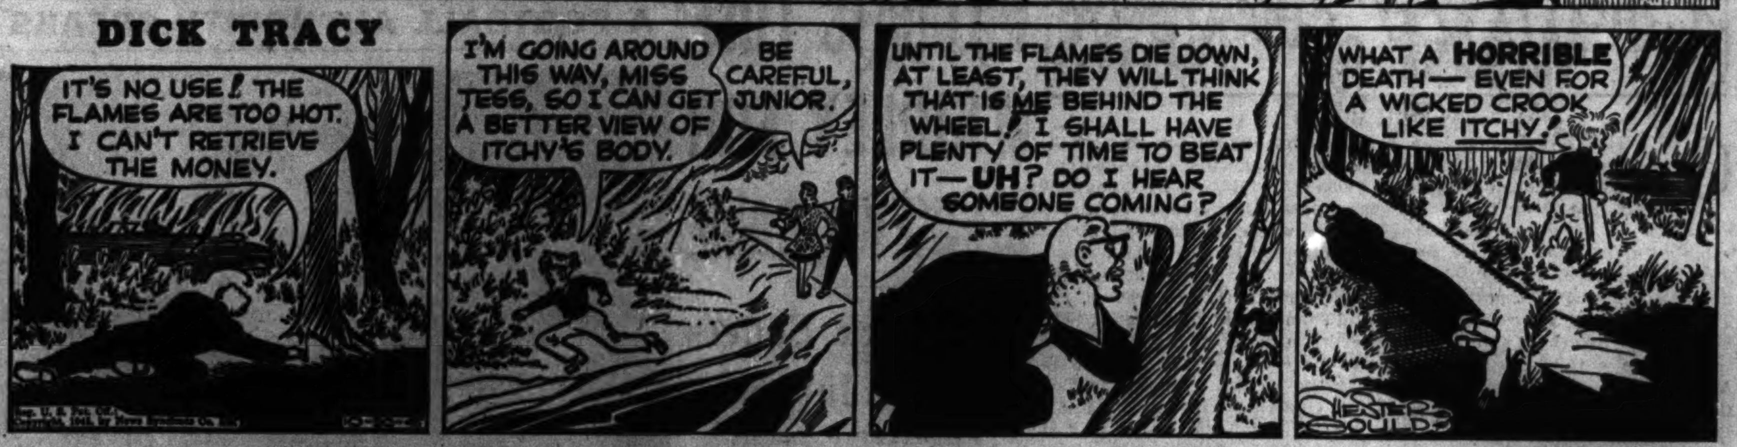
DICK TRACY



IT'S NO USE! THE FLAMES ARE TOO HOT. I CAN'T RETRIEVE THE MONEY.
I'M GOING AROUND THIS WAY, MISS TESS, SO I CAN GET A BETTER VIEW OF ITCHY'S BODY.
BE CAREFUL, JUNIOR.
UNTIL THE FLAMES DIE DOWN, AT LEAST, THEY WILL THINK THAT IS ME BEHIND THE WHEEL! I SHALL HAVE PLENTY OF TIME TO BEAT IT—UH? DO I HEAR SOMEONE COMING?
WHAT A HORRIBLE DEATH— EVEN FOR A WICKED CROOK LIKE ITCHY!

APRIL, HONEY, IT'LL BE OKAY... COL. CORKIN ISN'T ANGRY... HE THINKS YOU'RE SWELL...
OH... I'LL... JUS' BET HE DOES! ...FOR THAT MATTER... WHAT MUST... YOU THINK OF ME?
LOOK, BABY, WE'RE LEAVING THIS ISLAND FOR A NEW BASE, BUT THE WAR'S OVER— I'M GOING TO SEE THAT YOU GO ALONG WITH THE GROUP! THAT'S WHAT I THINK OF YOU!
BUT, TERRY, I HAVE OBLIGATIONS! —I TEACH ENGLISH HERE —AND I AM NOW COMMERCIAL AGENT FOR...
OH, NUTS TO ALL THAT... I'M GOING THIS MINUTE TO SEE COL. CORKIN ABOUT TAKING YOU WITH US!
HERE COMES TERRY FROM APRIL KANE'S PLACE... IT'S GOING TO BE TOUGH TO TELL HIM THE ANSWER IS 'NO'!

Badger Hopes Soar; Bendrick Off Sick List

Madison, Wis., Oct. 29 [Special]—Wisconsin's football hopes at Iowa City Saturday were lifted today when Ben Bendrick, freshman full back who has been a starter in every game this season, was released from hospital after 48 hours due to a cold and sore throat. Dave Nettesheim, understudy for Bendrick, found his gashed cheek needed only a couple of stitches. He will be ready for action, also. Of the cripple list, only Ends Ray Mals and Hal Haberman are on the doubtful list.

30,000 TO WATCH LEO, ST. RITA IN CHARITY BATTLE

BY DAVID CONDON

The second largest prep football crowd of the season, more than 30,000, is expected in Comiskey park Sunday when Leo, a team that still is much in the Catholic league south section championship race, meets St. Rita, a team that can knock Leo from the running and simplify matters for Fenwick and St. George, both undefeated.

It's a Benefit Game

Reason for the large attendance, which probably will be bettered only by the Kelly bowl contest Dec. 1, is that the game is the 20th annual Sisters of Mercy benefit. Proceeds of the contest will go to the Sisters of Mercy, who have completed almost 100 years of charitable work in Chicago.

Leo, which won the 1944 contest, and St. Rita, which triumphed in 1943, have been meeting in the charity game since 1939, when they battled to a tie. The first contest, in 1926, was between the Kansas City Cowboys and the Chicago Cardinals, with Kansas City winning, 7 to 2.

Largest crowd ever to attend the game was in 1928, when De Paul university defeated Niagara, 13 to 0, before 52,000.

Lions in Third Place

The Lions are in third place in the south section, with Fenwick and St. George, winners of four straight games, occupying the first two spots. Fenwick and the Dragons also meet Sunday, and should the Friars triumph, and Leo be victorious over St. Rita, the Lions could move into a first place tie by upsetting the Friars when they meet Nov. 11.

Football and basketball stars at Harrison Tech will present a minstrel show at the school tonight at 8:30 o'clock . . . Among the entertainers will be Capt. Steve Baluk and Nunzio Mugavero of the football squad and Capt. Ralph Napolitano and his brother, Mario, of the basketball team .

NAVY, IRKED BY FUMBLES, DRILLS BALL HANDLERS

Seeks Better Offense, Too, for Notre Dame

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 29 [Special] Gratified with victory over Pennsylvania in the closing minutes of Saturday's game to preserve its unbeaten record, Navy today turned attention to the battle with Notre Dame in Cleveland's Municipal stadium Saturday.

The Irish have the best team encountered so far, and some observers feel only marked improvement in offensive play will give Navy much chance.

Seven fumbles, all recovered by Penn, made Navy look foolish Saturday. Overcoming these faults featured today's workout and will dominate the week's program.

Navy's squad includes 12 players of middle western origin, five of them regulars. These are Bob Kelly of Chicago, Robert Hoernschemeyer of Cincinnati, George Sundheim of La Grange, Ill., Stanfield Turner of Highland Park, Ill., and Kenneth Schivek of Chicago.

IRISH HOLD LIGHT DRILL

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 29 [Special]—Notre Dame's football team had a light workout today in preparation for the game with Navy in Cleveland Saturday. Coach Hugh Devore was absent from the workout, as he left immediately after Saturday's game with Iowa to fly to Orange, N. J., to be with his mother, who is seriously ill. Devore is expected to return tomorrow. Back Field Coach Joe Sheeketski was in charge of today's drills.

After a kicking and passing drill, the Irish varsity watched two teams using Navy plays scrimmage against each other.

Hawks Begin Practice for Home Debut

BY EDWARD BURNS

Manager Johnny Gottselig had almost a full corps of Blackhawks in Chicago Stadium yesterday in one of the two drills to be conducted in preparation for tomorrow night's Chicago season opener with the New York Rangers. Joe Cooper was the lone aches and pains man and his place was taken by Reg Hamilton, just recovered from an ankle injury that kept him out of the Hawk games in Boston and Montreal.

The Hawks on their return home continued elated over their 5 to 4 victory over the Bruins and not too depressed by the 8 to 4 loss to the Canadiens, who rarely are beaten at home by anybody, year in and year out.

Confidence of victory in the home opener tomorrow night is stimulated by the fact the Hawks recently swept a three game exhibition series with the Rangers in Winnipeg. The Rangers since have been conducting arduous practice sessions, but it is doubtful if these have helped them as much as the Hawks gained in two evenings of league competition.

The Hawks will work out this morning in the Stadium, then will yield the ice to the Rangers. It is not expected that today's practice, barring scrimmage injuries, will bring any line-up changes other than that involving Cooper and Hamilton. Doug Stevenson, tho 12 pucks got past him in the first two games, will be in the nets again. Hamilton will be paired with Johnny Mariucci and the other defense pair will be Eddie Wares and George Allen.

Doug Bentley, Max Bentley, and Bill Mosienko will continue as the first line; Red Hamilton, Don Grosso, and Pete Horeck as the No. 2 line, and Alex Kaleta, Clint Smith, and Wingy Johnston as line No. 3.

REPORT ARMY INTERESTED IN ROSE BOWL GAME

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Daily News says it had learned thru a reliable Washington source that West Point officials had sought, and apparently obtained, official sanction of the war department to allow Army's football team to play in the Rose bowl New Year's day "if invited."

Maj. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, superintendent of the academy, said thru spokesmen that he had "no comment to make," but Col. Lawrence [Biff] Jones, Army's graduate manager of athletics, declared that Army's football season would end after the Navy game in Philadelphia Dec. 1.

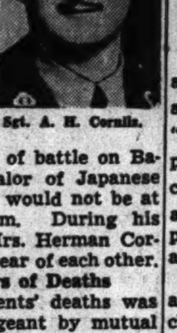
MERCY OF KIN KEEPS GI ALIVE IN JAPS' CAMP

News of Parents' Deaths Held from Him



Sgt. A. H. Cornils.

Four years ago this month, Sgt. Albert H. Cornils, 5140 Benton av., Downers Grove, a gay, black-haired young man of 23, bade his parents good-by. A member of the Maywood 192d tank battalion, he was bound for the war-rumbling Pacific area.

What they didn't know was that when their son returned four years later, hardened by the rigors of battle on Bataan and the squalor of Japanese prison camps, they would not be at home to greet him. During his absence Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cornils died within a year of each other.

Withhold News of Deaths

News of his parents' deaths was kept from the sergeant by mutual agreement of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Potter, 3044 Thorndale av., who wrote him after Mrs. Cornils died in 1942 and her husband died in 1943. The Potters composed the allotted 24 word message for prisoners of war held by the Japanese and signed them "Mother and Daddy."

"It was the only way we could make him think he still had something to live for," Mrs. Potter said.

Yesterday the sergeant called her from Seattle, Wash. He said his buddies of the 192d battalion had told him of the tragedy since his liberation from a camp north of Tokyo on his birthday, Sept. 15.

Cables Not Received

With him were Sgt. Lewis Brittan, Downers Grove, and Sgt. Robert E. Peterson, Maywood, both members of the famed tank battalion captured at Bataan in April, 1942. Cornils said he had not received the cables from the Potters, sent after his liberation, to inform him of his parents' deaths.

He told his aunt he will be home within a week. The family home he left four years ago has been rented.

POSED IN NAVY GARB AS BOSTON CABOT, U. S. SAYS

William Harris, 24, of the Shoreham hotel, 3318 Lake Shore dr., a bacteriologist employed in the stock yards, was charged by the government yesterday with illegally wearing the uniform of a navy officer while posing in north shore yachting circles as Lt. Comdr. Godfrey Cabot II. of the Boston, Mass., Cabots.

Asst. United States Atty. Raymond L. McClory said Harris made friends among members of the Chicago Yacht club during the summer, and was invited aboard their yachts and to their tea parties. He was not suspected, McClory said, until a yachtsman spied a navy dog tag bracelet on his wrist, engraved with his real name.

A criminal information against Harris was filed yesterday before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe, and he was released on $500 bond. McClory said Harris was an ensign in the navy for a few months and received a medical discharge early last summer.

FOUR MAN BOARD TO SIFT SEEKERS OF POLICE JOBS

Police Commissioner Allman said yesterday that a four man board will process applications of candidates for the 200 temporary police jobs approved Thursday by the city council. The 200 will be ex-service men, and must pass physical and other examinations. In addition to a police surgeon, as yet unnamed, the board will consist of John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed force; Police Inspector Edwin Daly, and Capt. Harry Fulmer, director of personnel for the police department. They will interview all candidates and pass upon their qualifications before submitting them to physical examinations. Nearly 200 applications already have been received, Allman said.

EX-GI IN ASSAULT SPARED FINE ON BATTLE RECORD

An army record that included four battle wounds saved Paul Tortorice, 32, of 4447 Walton st., from a fine yesterday when he appeared before Judge William V. Daly in Municipal court on a charge of assault and battery on Maj. Herschel G. Cole, army medical officer whose home is in Tampa, Fla.

Judge Daly told Tortorice, a former cab driver accused of beating Maj. Cole Oct. 14 on the near north side, that because of his war record he would not penalize him further for the offense. He found Tortorice guilty and placed him on probation for 60 days.

Tortorice admitted he struck Maj. Cole with a broom handle, but said he struck in self defense.

Jurors Decide Veteran on Leave Ended Own Life

A verdict of suicide was returned yesterday at a coroner's inquest into the death Sunday of Richard H. Hoose, 26, an army warrant officer on terminal leave from Gardiner General hospital. Hoose, who had served three years in the army and had fought in Normandy and Germany, was being treated for a kidney ailment. His body was found hanging in his room at 11248 Wentworth av. He has a wife and daughter living in Elizabeth, Pa., and his parents reside at 19 E. 113th pl.

GHOSTS, GOBLINS MUSTER FORCES FOR HALLOWEEN

Service Center Opens Festivities Tonight

Goblins and pixies will make their annual debut for Chicago's young and old tomorrow night in the "haunts" of service men's centers, park district fieldhouses, and youth clubs. Weather bureau officials guaranteed a dark night for spooks to prowl, with no moonrise until 3:59 a. m. Thursday.

Approximately 100,000 children and their parents will go thru the chamber of horrors and participate in Halloween games at the 94 Chicago park district centers. V. K. Brown, director of recreation for the park district, said parades will be held at most of the centers early in the evening, with entertainment following at the fieldhouses.

Jack-o'-Lantern Carving

Festivities in the service men's centers start tonight with a pumpkin carving contest at the center at 430 S. Michigan av. Between dances, service men will vie in carving the most grotesque pumpkin faces for prizes of 10 long distance telephone calls.

Tomorrow night, approximately 10,000 service men are expected to attend Halloween parties in the centers at 430 S. Michigan av., 176 W. Washington blvd., and 50 E. 49th st. A Cinderella ball will be held at the Michigan av. center.

Boys' Club Party for 900

Other parties on the Halloween roster include the 16th annual observance for 900 boys at the Deborah Boys' club, 2441 Division st., and the parties to be given Friday night at 14 board of education high school social centers.

The national safety council urged potential spooks to wear light colored costumes and masks that permit wide angle vision and carry flashlight jack-o'-lanterns. Warnings against soapings of windows also were extended.

"Lastly," the council concluded, "don't pop out from behind parked cars or next year you may not be an imitation ghost."

S. SIDNEY STEIN, LOOP ATTORNEY 32 YEARS, DIES

Mr. Stein, member of the law firm of Moses, Kennedy, Stein & Bachrach, 231 S. La Salle st., specialized in corporation law. He received his legal education at Harvard and the University of Michigan.

Mr. Stein helped organize the North Shore congregation in Glencoe. He was active in civic and philanthropic affairs and was a member of the Standard club, the Lake Shore Country club, and the Chicago Bar association.

Survivors include his widow, Josephine; a daughter, Mrs. Betty Wickman of Clearwater, Fla., and two sons, Bennett of Livingston, Mont., and Donald. Services will be held in the home at 3 p. m. today.

1,000 MORE PUT IN STAGGERED HOUR PROGRAM

Officials of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana yesterday informed the mayor's committee for staggered hours that 1,000 workers in the company's offices at 910 S. Michigan av. had been put on a nonrush hour schedule.

L. E. Harmon, secretary, said the office help would work from 8 a. m. to 12 noon and from 12:45 p. m. to 4:45 p. m. from Mondays thru Fridays. He added that lunch hours had also been staggered.

The mayor's committee is continuing its campaign for staggered hours, which was started as a war traffic measure.

Auto Driver Fined $100 for Fleeing Accident

Francis Murphy, 20, of 6829 Indiana av., whose car struck Stanley Thompson, 2, of 7149 Dobson av., at 71st st. and Dobson av. Saturday, was fined $100 by Judge J. M. Braude in Boys' court yesterday on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Murphy said he did not stop because he was frightened by another motorist who attempted to follow him.

[ADVERTISMENT]

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

EX-SAILOR DENIES SPAT WITH NURSE WHO TOOK DRUG

A denial that a lovers' quarrel was the reason Miss Diana Kozinsky, 25, of 300 Mills rd., Joliet, a nurse, apparently took an overdose of a sedative after they parted in Birmingham, Ala., last Thursday was voiced last night by William Gulley, 30, an ex-sailor, in Birmingham.

The nurse was still in a coma last night in Illinois Central hospital more than 60 hours after she was found unconscious in a Pullman berth on the Illinois Central's Seminole Limited. Several bottles of a sleep producing drug were found in her purse, police said. Hospital attendants, who reported she also was suffering from tuberculosis, said her chances for recovery were fair.

Gulley, interviewed after the nurse's parents said she had gone to Birmingham to visit "her sweetheart," said he and the nurse had been good friends since they met in Port Arthur, Tex., two years ago, but were not engaged. During their visit in Birmingham, Gulley said, she appeared depressed. He presumed they were still friends when she left to return to Chicago. Gulley was discharged from the navy Oct. 17.

MILWAUKEE DATA BARRED BY COURT IN SANITARY SUIT

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley declined yesterday to hear any data based on a 5 million dollar judgment against the city of Milwaukee as he began hearing on a 21 year old patent infringement suit against the sanitary district.

The suit, originally brought by Activated Sludge, Inc., is now in the accounting phase of a decision handed down in federal court in February, 1935, which held that sewage purification patents owned by the firm had been infringed by the sanitary district.

The present plaintiffs—17 persons who have taken over patent rights of Activated Sludge, Inc.—sought to base the total of their damages in part on findings of fact in the Milwaukee case in which a per capita basis was used. Judge Lindley ruled that later acceptance of an $818,000 settlement nullified the original findings.

Langdon Pearse, sanitary district engineer, gave technical evidence tending to show much of the district's work with the sewage purification process was experimental. Earlier the court excluded testimony about the part played in the case by Albert W. Dilling, former chief engineer for the sanitary district, who later was associated with Activated Sludge, Inc.

BUILDING CODE OF CITY LIKELY TO BE REDRAWN

Chicago's out of date building code appears to be up for overhauling, Ald. Duffy [19th], chairman of the subcommittee on code revision, said yesterday when he received seven more replies to an inquiry sent to groups concerned with building. Like those previously received, the seven letters indicated need of modernizing the code and most of the writers said they had specific recommendations.

Duffy said he had not yet set the date of a meeting but he thought it would be next week.

One letter received yesterday was from Leverett S. Lyon, executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, who said an analysis of the code had been made for the association and would be published soon. It should be "very helpful" to the subcommittee, he said.

GARY ALDERMAN IS ARRESTED ON DRINKING COUNT

Ald. Joseph Cwiklinski of the 4th ward in Gary, Ind., stood charged yesterday with intoxication and interfering with police because he tried to tell a police squad what to do.

The incident occurred Sunday night when police responded to an automatic alarm in American Legion hall, 300 E. 15th st., in Gary. The burglar system had been set off by the breaking of a window.

The alderman ordered police to crawl thru the window, but it was too small for any one of them to enter. When they refused, police said, he drew an unloaded pistol, for which he has a permit, and became abusive. Police then arrested him. No date for Ald. Cwiklinski's court appearance has been set. He was freed on his own recognizance.

DELAY GRANTED NASTER TO GET NEW ATTORNEY

Trial of Bert K. Naster, president of the Superior Electrical Industries, 1259 S. Campbell av., charged with evading payment of $221,575 in income taxes from 1940 thru 1943, was continued yesterday by Federal Judge Elwyn R. Shaw to Nov. 13 to give Naster time to find a new lawyer. Judge Shaw allowed the withdrawal from the case of Atty. John Owen, former assistant United States attorney, who told the court he had agreed to represent Naster only for investigative purposes.

EXECUTIVE SENT TO PRISON FOR $54,435 THEFT

Kenneth E. Rolfe, 35, of 1411 Bonnie Brae rd., River Forest, who confessed taking $54,435.03 from Mandel Brothers' department store from 1942 to April, 1945, while employed as assistant manager of the contract department, was sentenced by Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court yesterday to three to six years in the penitentiary. He was convicted on two charges of forgery.

Rolfe testified that all he had left was a piece of property of problematical value at the Nippersink lodge near Genoa, Walworth county, Wis., where he had maintained a summer home and stables. When arrested, Rolfe said he spent the embezzled funds in luxurious living and in gambling. He obtained the money by forging vouchers in amounts of $500 to $700.

Rolfe, represented by Atty. Harold Levy, was granted a stay of committal to prison to Nov. 9 to settle his personal affairs. His wife, Jeannette, became hysterical when he was sentenced.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

OUTPUT GAINS IN HUDSON AND PACKARD CARS

Volume Dependent on Materials

BY ANTHONY WIRRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 29—Altho limited in quantity because of reconversion delays and shortages of parts and materials, new Packard and Hudson passenger automobiles today are rolling off assembly lines.

Packard Motor Car company, which started production two weeks ago, has built between 200 and 300 cars, and is turning out about 50 a day, a figure which the company says may be substantially higher by the end of this week. The company is slightly behind its production schedules because it was still manufacturing Rolls-Royce aircraft engines Sept. 20, and experienced difficulty obtaining car parts from strike-bound suppliers. An improvised assembly line is used.

Production is concentrated on one model, the four-door, eight cylinder Clipper. As the company approaches its goal of 200,000 cars a year five or six more models will be put in production. The objective for the remainder of 1945 is 8,000 cars.

First Will Be for Display

The first of these will be distributed so each dealer will have at least one for display purposes. Altho company officials could not set a definite date, they disclosed that the new models would be displayed for the first time at dealer meetings in Chicago, New York, Detroit, Atlanta, Dallas, Los Angeles, and San Francisco early in November. Subsequent distributions will be based on 1940 and 1941 sales and the potential volume of sales for cars in the Packard price field in a particular area.

Changes in the new Packards include a restyled front end with more protective bumpers, improved steering mechanism, new oil control piston ring to prevent oil clogging, longer life crankshaft bearings, and new interiors with generous use of leather.

When the company reaches its projected volume of 200,000 cars a year it will employ an estimated 28,000 workers. The war peak was 42,000. At present 7,000 are employed.

Produces 120 Cars Per Day

Hudson Motor Car company's daily output is 120 cars. A small total has been shipped to dealers, and more are going out shortly. The company said it has "several hundred" cars on its grounds that are awaiting only the receipt of small parts including hub caps, small motor parts, and other items. Others are being held up for lack of chrome and upholstery.

If parts and materials become available and labor difficulties are avoided, the company plans to build 300,000 cars in the next 12 months.

The company hopes to supply its dealers with two or more cars as soon as possible. These will include four-door models of the Commodore six and eight cylinder and the super six and eight. Subsequent allotments will be based on "territory potential" and 1941 sales.

Hudson improvements include refinements in the "Drivemaster" which eliminates the gear shift, restyled front end, redesigned instrument panel, and new interior styling including wide use of leather.

Coal Strike End Boosts Production in Steel Mills

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—A sudden rebound in steel mill activity resulted this week from the return of coal miners and a bigger supply of coal at plants. The American Iron and Steel institute estimated mills will operate at 72.9 per cent of capacity this week and turn out 1,335,330 tons.

MOVE TO BLOCK PROFIT IN END OF BUTTER SUBSIDY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—The government today put emergency controls on butter stocks in a move intended to prevent hoarding and speculative profits arising from a 5 cent increase in retail prices per pound, effective Nov. 8, to compensate producers and distributors for the end of a 5 cent subsidy on Wednesday.

John C. Collet, stabilization administrator, said that withholding of butter by speculators has become so extensive that the movement of butter to retailers is nearly at a standstill.

The plan would "recapture windfalls" and block "unconscionable profits" thru sales at the higher ceilings of butter on which the subsidy already has been paid. It provides that present ceilings will continue to apply to each seller who holds more than 1,000 pounds of butter on Oct. 31 until he files an inventory report and repays the government 5 cents a pound on unsold stocks. Otherwise windfall profits might exceed 5 million dollars, said Collet.

GAS PRODUCER'S BIG DEBENTURE ISSUE AWARDED

A group of underwriters headed by Kidder, Peabody & Co., was the successful bidder yesterday on 25 million dollars of Northern Natural Gas company serial debentures due 1950 thru 1965. The awards were made on two separate bids, one at 99.219 for 9 million of 1⅝ per cent debentures maturing 1950-'55, and the other at 99.404 for 16 million of 2⅝ per cent debentures maturing 1956-'65.

The debentures probably will be reoffered this week, subject to securities and exchange commission clearance. The group plans to offer those with the 1⅝ per cent coupon at prices to yield 1.40 to 1.90 per cent, and those with the 2⅝ per cent coupon at prices to yield 2.05 to 2.55 per cent.

Floyd D. Cerf company and a group will offer soon 498,500 shares of Universal Camera corporation class A stock. Of the total, 200,000 shares will represent new financing and the remainder a portion of the holdings of certain officers and directors of the company.

Rails, Motors, Steels Lead in New Stock Dip

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Stock market prices turned down again today after small recoveries before the two day holiday week-end. Steels, rails, and motors led the retreat after an active and fairly steady opening. Dealings slowed and some mild comebacks occurred in the final hour, but closing losses of fractions of 2 points predominated. Transfers of 1,260,000 shares compared with 1,300,000 Friday.

House defeat of a compromise bill which would have repealed the land-grant railroad rates on government business helped depress some western carriers.

Labor Strife in Prospect.

Reconversion apprehension was further emphasized as a market factor by the prospect of further labor difficulties as more important industries rejected union pay boost demands. Numerous customers also stood aside to await disclosure of the President's wage-price policy, scheduled for tomorrow night. Bolstering factors, however, continued in dividend payments and inflation psychology.

The Associated Press 60 stock average dropped 0.7 to 71.4. Of 995 issues registering, 560 declined and 272 advanced.

BOND TRADING QUIETED

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Start of the Victory loan drive today had a quieting effect on the bond market. Price changes were extremely small and, except for limited interest in some rails, the market had little trend. Transactions totaled $4,950,000, compared with $5,690,000 Friday. Trade in United States government loans and investment rated corporates was more affected by the loan drive than in speculative issues.

CHICAGO LIST DECLINES

Prices declined on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in turnover of 43,000 shares. More active issues included Chicago corporation and Consolidated, Biscuit, each unchanged; Commonwealth Edison, down ⅛; Armour, down ¼, and Asbestos Manufacturing, up ⅛.

KAISER-FRAZER WILL OCCUPY BIG PLANT THURSDAY

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 29 (AP)—Joseph W. Frazer, president of the Kaiser-Frazer corporation and Graham-Paige Motors, today announced the two companies would move into the Willow Run bomber plant on Thursday.

They recently leased 2,650,000 square feet of manufacturing and auxiliary space at the plant from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for production of the Kaiser and Frazer automobiles and farm equipment.

Output of the medium priced Frazer and farm implements is scheduled for about Feb. 1, and the Kaiser car, in the low price field, a month or six weeks later.

PREDICTS LONG SPENDING, TAX 'TUG-OF-WAR'

Bank Tells of Need for Leadership

The conflicting policies reflected in proposed reduction of taxes and more large scale borrowing as thru the current Victory loan drive are typical of the opposing fiscal pressures that are likely to be encountered by the government for years, the Guaranty Trust Company of New York said yesterday in its monthly business survey.

"The need for tax relief is and will continue to be evident, but no less evident will be the fact that the government has undertaken, as it always does in war time, commitments that will raise the scale of the national budget for an indefinite period in the future," the bank said. "To meet these needs in such a way as to promote prosperity, maintain stability, and preserve the essential liberties of the people will require a high grade of economic as well as political leadership."

Questions Wisdom of Cuts

It said that as a matter of fiscal policy the wisdom of general tax reduction at present is debatable. The latest official estimate placed the federal deficit for the current fiscal year at more than 30 billion dollars.

"The legislation under consideration is described as an interim measure, and it is generally assumed that it will be followed by further and more thorogoing tax revision in the near future," it said. "Such subsequent legislation will be of more enduring significance than the present hastily drawn revision."

Urges Tax Simplification

The bank contended that the principal present need is prompt repeal of the war excess profits tax and the capital stock and declared value excess profits tax.

"As and when tax reduction becomes possible, it should be designed first of all to lighten the direct burdens on business enterprise and business transactions," the bank said. "The double taxation of dividends should be eliminated, probably by allowing the recipient a credit equal to the tax paid by the corporation. The tax on capital gains should be reduced, particularly with respect to long term gains. The almost confiscatory rates on individual incomes in the higher brackets should be sharply lowered. In the interests of simplicity, normal taxes and surtaxes both on individuals and corporations should be consolidated into single rate schedules."

House Cool to Heat on Job Bill; Better Labor Relations Urged

Pigeonhole Ready

BY WILLARD EDWARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29—The administration put the heat on the house committee on executive expenditures today in an effort to force action on the "full employment" bill, but a poll of committee members indicated the senate approved measure is headed for a dusty pigeonhole.

Rep. Carter Manasco

At a White House conference President Truman urged his house leaders, Speaker Rayburn of Texas and Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, to use all pressure available to get the bill out of committee and to the floor. They were reported to have told Mr. Truman they would do their best, but that they had no hope of success.

Hoffman Blocks Move

Over in the senate, the whip was cracked by Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.], who said congress could hope for no Christmas recess unless the house acted on the bill. Rep. Cochran [D., Mo.], also sought to aid the administration drive by moving, in executive session of the committee, to end hearings and start immediate consideration of the bill. Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.], countered with a motion to postpone hearings until after next Jan. 1 and, in fear that this motion might be adopted, Cochran withdrew his motion after Hoffman had agreed not to press his proposal.

Chairman Manasco [D., Ala.] was also called to the White House last week, but he reportedly told the President the sentiment in his committee was strongly against the measure. Manasco's own attitude has been revealed in questioning of witnesses in which he compared the legislation to soviet Russia's constitution.

Snyder Fails to Win Support

Mr. Truman sent his trouble shooter, War Mobilization and Reconversion Director Snyder before the committee today in an effort to sway committee members with a dire prophesy of another "catastrophic depression" if the bill were not given congressional approval. Snyder's arguments apparently had no effect.

The main feature of the bill is a provision that the President should submit a new kind of budget each year—estimating the number of unemployed and suggesting spending measures to give them jobs.

'Picket Line Brawl'

The level of management-union relationships must be lifted from the "brawling picket line approach" to the "realm of intelligent statesmanship" if the enterprise supporting them both is not to be permanently harmed, J. Keith Louden, division production manager of the Armstrong Cork company, asserted yesterday. He spoke to 1,000 production executives at a conference of the American Management association in the Palmer House.

"Now that we are converting to peace time operations, management must recognize that for the good of all concerned collective bargaining in the future must be based on fair and equitable principles and policies," said Louden.

Advice for Both Sides

"Management must recognize that for the good of the enterprise this is the time when compromise and concessions to expediency must be dropped and firm stands taken on the basis of principle and equity.

"Labor leaders, too, must recognize this fact and further recognize that any organization must, if it is to assume its full stature, accept responsibility and base their actions on facts rather than emotions."

Labor Demands Denounced

L. Clayton Hill, works manager of Eagle Pencil company denounced labor leaders as a "demanding and expectant group."

Many wage incentive plans "could not conceivably do anything other than confuse and befuddle the production worker and consequently have worked in reverse in so far as cost reduction is concerned," said Joseph N. Scanlon, director of the production engineering department of CIO United Steelworkers of America.

RAILS ASSERT PRIOR RIGHT TO BUY PULLMAN

Public Needs Held Prime Factor

Sale of Pullman company, sleeping car operating subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., to any interest other than the railroads would adversely affect the public, said a motion to intervene filed yesterday in federal District court in Philadelphia by a group of 22 railroads representing users of more than 81 per cent of all sleeping car service. The railroad group last Saturday offered to buy all Pullman company capital stock at a price not yet disclosed.

"It is primarily the duty of the railroads to provide sleeping cars and sleeping car service for the comfort and convenience of the traveling public, and no other person has right, opportunity, or obligation to furnish such cars or service except under contract with railroad companies delegating such primary duty," said the application.

Sets Nov. 5 for Hearing

Sale of the sleeping car business by next March is required under a ruling of the Philadelphia court. The court will not choose the purchaser, but must approve any sale plan adopted. It has set Nov. 5 as date for a hearing on "all offers."

"The public interest requires that the railroads either conduct their own sleeping car service or that it be conducted by an agency chosen,

COOPER-BESSEMER

Cooper-Bessemer corporation, I understand, recently received a large order from Russia. What is its earnings record?—I. C.

The company announced that Russia had ordered 24 compressors for a first natural gas pipe line that would extend 500 miles from the Ural mountains to Moscow. Each of the 10-cylinder compressors would be a 1,000 horsepower unit. In addition to compressors, Cooper-Bessemer's regular line of products includes gas engines, marine and stationary diesel engines, oil field machinery, special heavy machinery, machine tool accessories, and castings. The diesels range up to about 2,000 horsepower and the gas engines to 1,650.

Producing capital goods, the company is subject to wide variations in sales and earnings. Five years of the 1930s showed net losses, the most recent of which was 1938. Sales rose from $3,131,000 in that year to a war time peak of $41,417,000 in 1943. Share earnings on approximately 263,437 common shares were: 1944, $2.46; 1943, $3.14; 1942, $2.32; 1941, $3.15; 1940, $1.48. The 1943 and 1942 earnings reflect renegotiation adjustments. In the first half of 1945 the profit was $1 a share.

Common dividends, resumed in 1941 after a nine year lapse, were 50 cents in that year, $1.50 each year 1942-'44, and 75 cents so far in 1945. Outstanding are 62,270 shares of $3 cumulative prior preference stock. There is no long term debt. Current assets last Dec. 31 totaled $13,328,000 and current liabilities $8,400,000, including a 5 million dollar V loan.

CLASH IN PARLEY TO RETAIN STATE INSURANCE RULE

Commissioners Question Inter-Company Control

Recommendations of the fire insurance industry for new state regulatory legislation clashed with the opinions of some of the state insurance commissioners at a conference between company representatives and the federal legislation committee of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners yesterday in Hotel Sherman.

J. Raymond Berry of New York, general counsel for the National Board of Fire Underwriters, was questioned sharply by James M. McCormack, Tennessee commissioner and president of the national association, regarding a proposal for state laws to permit insurance companies to purchase stocks of other insurance companies and to permit companies related by stock ownership to have interlocking directorates.

Holding Companies Opposed

"Such arrangements would not receive the approval of the Tennessee commissioner, if left to his discretion," said McCormack. "I recall too clearly what happened in the utility industry as a result of holding company controls."

Berry argued that stock ownership may be desirable to permit one organization to write various forms of insurance, such as fire, casualty, and marine.

F. J. Harrington, Massachusetts commissioner and committee chairman, objected that some states now permit a single company to write multiple coverage. Berry made his report as chairman of an industry subcommittee on the Clayton act.

Would Strengthen State Rule

Insurance representatives also recommended state legislation which would clarify the right of insurance companies to pay brokers. It was explained that this practice may be questioned under a federal law which prohibits payment of commissions by sellers of commodities to brokers who also represent buyers.

The purpose of the conference, which will continue thru Thursday, is to obtain the N. A. I. C. committee's approval of proposed standard state legislation to strengthen state control of insurance, pursuant to a new act of congress, and prevent the passing of regulation to federal authority under a Supreme court decision holding insurance contracts within interstate commerce.

New Preferred Issue Is Authorized

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 29 (AP)—The securities and exchange commission today approved the proposed refinancing plan of Wisconsin Power and Light company. Wisconsin, a subsidiary of the North West Utilities corporation, will issue 120,000 shares of 4½ per cent preferred, $100 par, in exchange for the outstanding shares of 6 and 7 per cent preferred plus $5 in cash per share. Unexchanged shares will be redeemed at the redemption price of $110.

Wisconsin will reclassify its outstanding common stock, consisting of 146,185 shares of $50 par, into 730,925 shares of $10 par.

Issue Serial Notes

The plan also calls for North West, a subsidiary of the Middle West corporation, to purchase for cash at the $10 par value, 450,000 shares of newly issued Wisconsin common. Outstanding notes of Wisconsin will be retired by the issue of serial notes to certain banks in the aggregate principal amount of $3,800,000.

In conjunction with the plan, North West will issue a million dollar promissory note to the First National Bank of Chicago, accompanied by a pledge of collateral. Middle West will sell to Wisconsin 1,681 shares of its 6 and 7 per cent preferred at the stated reduction price.

May Exchange Stock

If necessary the Middle West stock will be exchanged for an equal number of Wisconsin's 4½ per cent preferred.

Wisconsin was granted an exemption to the competitive bidding rule on its new issue of 4½ per cent preferred.

BILL FOR WOMEN'S EQUAL PAY BACKED BY SCHWELLENBACH

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—A proposed federal law to require pay for women equal to that men get for equal work was indorsed today by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach.

He told a senate labor subcommittee that women have proved their ability as workers in the war. Beyond the matter of fairness to women workers, the proposed legislation is desirable "from the standpoint of preserving wage standards and consumer purchasing power," said Schwellenbach.

The measure before the committee was sponsored by Senators Pepper [D., Fla.] and Morse [R., Ore.]. It would make it unlawful for any employer of eight or more persons:

1. To pay any female employe at a lower rate than he pays or has paid to any male employe for work of similar quantity and quality.

2. To discharge any female employe and replace her with a male [except under specified conditions, one of which is to protect reëmployment rights of returned veterans].

3. To discriminate against any employe for giving assistance in the enforcement of the act.

Violations would be punishable by fines up to $5,000 or by imprisonment up to one year.

VAST SPENDING HELD NECESSARY TO DEVELOP U. S.

Development of the country to the fullest extent of its resources would require about 20 billion dollars annually in construction, Harry A. Dick, president of the Associated General Contractors of America, asserted yesterday. This building would provide business opportunities and jobs for 4 million men in construction, and create opportunities for 6 to 8 million others off the site, he said.

Dick, in Chicago for the fall meeting of the association's governing and advisory boards today in the Drake hotel, said the industry has the capacity and ability to handle all the construction the country ever will need to improve and rebuild all its physical facilities.

WHEAT FUTURES STRONG; OTHER GRAINS LOWER

Wheat futures prices were strong but other grains closed lower yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Buying of cash wheat at Kansas City attributed to wet processors seeking starch materials thru lack of corn gave wheat its strength. December sold at $1.78 a bushel at one time, within ⅝ cent of the seasonal peak. Closing trades were ⅜ to ⅝ cent higher.

December and May rye sold at new seasonal highs before reacting in the late trading and the rye close was ½ to 1½ lower. Oats lost ⅜ to ⅝ and corn ¼ to ½. Barley finished unchanged to ¼ lower.

No figures were reported of the amount of cash wheat being used by wet processors, but brokers said possibly several million bushels will disappear in this manner.

CATTLE SUPPLY BIGGER; PRICES STEADY TO WEAK

Farmers marketed 45,500 cattle, hogs, sheep, and lambs in Chicago yesterday, compared with 32,367 a week ago and 61,042 a year ago.

Cattle receipts were 23,000, the biggest day's volume since Feb. 12 and the largest for an October session in nine years. The market was steady to 25 cents a hundred pounds lower, with steers and heifers below $17.50 showing most loss. More than 100 carloads of steers brought the $18 ceiling.

Hog receipts rose to 10,000 with the arrival of more 1945 spring pigs, the biggest Monday total since the middle of July. Ceiling prices were paid for nearly all hogs sold, with $14.85 the top and $14.80 the average.

Sheep receipts, at 12,500, were second largest since May 28. Demand was strong, and prices held steady.

CARRIERS PLEAD PUBLIC INTEREST IN PULLMAN SALE

by them, and not by one which imposes itself upon them by purchasing the only available sleeping cars," the petition said.

The proposal would enable the railroads to acquire ownership of sleeping cars regularly assigned to their lines, including modern lightweight sleeping and parlor cars on which they hold purchase options, and would permit each railroad to conduct its own sleeping car service or to contract for the service.

Major Roads Join Motion

The petitioning railroads are: New York Central, Southern Pacific, Burlington, Santa Fe, Southern Railway system, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Milwaukee, North Western, Pennsylvania, Illinois Central, Great Northern, Louisville and Nashville, Atlantic Coast Line, Baltimore and Ohio, Norfolk and Western, Wabash, Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, Rock Island, Western Railway of Alabama, New Haven, and Seaboard.

First of three previous offers to purchase Pullman company was made Oct. 5 by Otis & Co., Cleveland investment banking house. The Otis group included Robert R. Young, railroad magnate and chairman of Alleghany corporation. Alleghany's principal income is derived from its holdings in Chesapeake and Ohio railroad.

Two subsequent offers were made by Glore, Forgan & Co., Chicago investment house, and Standard Steel Spring company, automotive parts maker of Coraopolis, Pa. The court yesterday set Thursday for deciding whether intervention motions of Standard Steel Spring and the railroad group would be allowed. Previously the court allowed the Otis & Co. and Glore, Forgan groups to intervene.

Two States Object

A petition of the states of Colorado and California opposing sale of Pullman company to the railroads, filed last Friday, also will be considered by the court Thursday.

The railroad group's petition further said the Pullman company sleeping cars are designed exclusively for sleeping car service and have no earning capacity except thru their use in service conducted on the lines of railroads. No prospective purchaser has a contract with any railroad for such use, it said, and if a purchaser paid an excessive price it would have no means of recovery except from the railroads.

FIRST WESTINGHOUSE RADIO SETS ROLL OFF LINES, GO TO DEALERS

Sunbury, Pa., Oct. 29 (AP)—The first Westinghouse Electric corporation post-war home radios came off production lines in the radio division plant today and shipments were begun to retailers in the United States, Alaska, and Hawaii.

The nine new models range from a six tube portable measuring 6 by 6 by 9 inches to a 14 tube radio-phonograph combination equipped to receive standard, shortwave and frequency modulation broadcasts. Prices are expected to run $25 to $350.

Television receivers were expected to be "ready for the market early next year." Both television and frequency modulation receivers will be employed in flight tests of stratovision—the new air borne system of television and FM transmission announced recently by Westinghouse and the Glenn L. Martin company—scheduled to begin this fall.

GIANT ELECTRIC LOCOMOTIVE TO BE BUILT BY G. E.

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—The most powerful electric locomotive in the United States, weighing 1 million pounds, will be built by General Electric company at its Erie, Pa., plant, the company said today.

An order for four of the so-called "super-giant" locomotives, the first to be delivered in 1946, had been placed by the Virginian Railway company. They will be used mainly for hauling coal over the Allegheny mountains.

JAFFE SEEKING TO DRIVE EQUITY INTO RED RANKS

Actor Union Figure Has Communist Record

BY FRANK HUGHES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, Oct. 29—Leading the fight to drive the Actors' Equity association, AFL union of stage performers, into the ranks of communist labor unions, are at least four "whips" in its executive council, one of whom is Sam Jaffe, an actor.

Jaffe, along with the others—Philip Loeb, Paul Robeson, and Miss Aline MacMahon—have well documented pro-communist records in the reports of the special house committee investigating un-American activities.

Frank Fay, Broadway star and a prominent Roman Catholic, recently brought upon himself a vote of censure by Equity's council when he asked for an investigation of the appearance of five Equity members on a Red front platform where the Catholic church was criticized.

Charge "Prejudicial" Conduct

All of the five—Margo, Sono Osato, Luba Malina, John Darling, and David Brooks—filed charges against Fay of "prejudicial" conduct toward them. Jaffe is a witness to a sixth charge against Fay, which has not been brought to trial.

The sixth charge was filed by Loeb, who accused Fay of calling him a foul name in an Equity meeting. Fay denied the charge and said it has been trumped up as part of the pro-communist smear against him. He said Bert Lytell, president of Equity, who was sitting next to him, failed to note any profanity in his remarks.

Jaffe's record in files of the un-American activities committee goes back to the '30s.

Named in Daily Worker

The Daily Worker, communist newspaper, published a story Jan. 11, 1938, headed "Notables back Japan boycott conference," listing Jaffe among "prominent stage personalities" in its support. This conference was sponsored by the American League for Peace and Democracy.

"The American league for peace and democracy was one of the most effective communist front organizations ever operated in this country," the house committee report said. "Many times it was exposed as such by the special committee on un-American activities of the house of representatives. In 1939 it was found that more than 500 officials of the executive branch of the federal government were members of the American league."

Along with Miss MacMahon Jaffe was among 400 signers of an open letter in the September, 1939, issue of Soviet Russia Today, with which publication the committee said Robeson also was affiliated.

The letter accused "reactionaries" in America of having "encouraged the fantastic falsehood that the U. S. S. R. and the totalitarian states are basically alike." It painted the soviet as a "consistent bulwark against war and aggression."

A "Transitional" Form

"The soviet union considers political dictatorship a transitional form and has shown a steadily expanding democracy in every sphere," the letter said. "It's epoch making new constitution guarantees soviet citizens universal suffrage, civil liberties, the right to employment, to leisure, to free education, to free medical care, to material security in sickness and old age, to equality of the sexes in all fields of activity, and to equality of all races and nationalities."

Jaffe was one of the signers of a declaration by the Reichstag fire trial anniversary committee, published Dec. 22, 1943, in an advertisment in the New York Times.

The un-American activities committee says of this organization:

"On Dec. 22, 1943, a capacity audience of Communists and sympathizers packed Carnegie hall to honor the achievements of George Dimitroff, head of the Communist International prior to its widely publicized dissolution.

Signer of Open Letter

"The meeting was arranged by the Reichstag fire trial anniversary committee . . . Earl Browder, general secretary of the Communist party, sounded the keynote of this meeting . . . Paul Robeson, who has publicly declared himself for communism, was the chairman."

With Sono Osato and others, Jaffe signed an open letter to Gov. Dewey of New York, published in the New York Times, Oct. 9, 1944, asking a pardon for Morris U. Schappes, communist professor of New York's City college, who had been convicted of perjury and sentenced to prison.

The un-American activities committee said:

"The Schappes defense committee is a front organization with a strictly communist objective, namely, the defense of a self-admitted Communist who was convicted of perjury in the courts of New York.

"Schappes admitted in sworn testimony before the Rappcoudert committee that he joined the Communist party in the summer of 1934. . . . There was not the slightest doubt that Schappes had been a Communist party leader for more than seven years. He himself publicly admitted it.

Evidence Held Indisputable

"There is, therefore, indisputable evidence for classifying those who joined the Schappes defense committee as Communists or communist sympathizers."

Jaffe also is listed as a sponsor of the federal arts council of the workers' alliance, described by the committee as one of the "well known communist fronts," and contributed $5 to Social Work Today, which the committee says is a "communist line publication" for social workers.

OLD FAMILIAR NAMES BACK ON RADIO PROGRAMS

BY LARRY WOLTERS

Many familiar names are returning to radio these days. Eddie and Fannie Cavanaugh, radio's oldest team, came back to W-G-N yesterday. They're on at 1:15 p. m. weekdays. This is their 24th season of broadcasting.

Sgt. Ezra Stone, out of the army after four years service, will take over the Henry Aldrich role, which he originated a decade ago, on Thursday over CBS. He also will resume his acting and directing activities on Broadway.

Maj. Lanny Ross, one time singing star of the old "Show Boat" series, will be a guest on the Andre Kostelanetz show at 8 p. m. Thursday over CBS. Lanny will introduce several folk songs he picked up in the Philippines. Lt. Col. Norman Ross of Evanston, World War I. flyer and until lately attached to Gen. Doolittle's staff, will be back on WMAQ with his morning show next Monday.

Bob Elson, recently out of the navy, has a new interview show on WBBM. Bob will broadcast the final period of all the Blackhawk hockey games this season in the Chicago Stadium over WIND. The first is the contest with the New York Rangers at 10:05 p. m. tomorrow. Elson also has been engaged to broadcast the White Sox home games over WJJD next season.

Tommy Bartlett, until recently an army flyer, is busy with two Monday thru Friday interview shows on W-G-N and WMAQ. Lt. Fort Pearson and Lt. Bob Brown are expected out of the navy and back at their posts as local announcers. Hugh Rowlands, who was popular as a juvenile actor, is back in civilian clothes and ready to confront the mike. Leslie Spears, who served overseas as a sergeant, is back as an actor on W-G-N shows.

Bill Thompson is expected to get his release from the navy soon and will return to the Fibber McGee and Molly show as Wallace Wimple.
